GERMANS HALT TO FORCE BIG BATTLE; RUSSIAN ARMY CLEARS ROAD TO BERLIN

THRILLS OF BATTLE TOLD BY POWELL

Correspondent in Thick of Fighting Near Weerde, Belgium.

TRAP ALBERT'S MEN

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

BY E. ALEXANDER POWELL.

ANTWERP, Sept. 14.—This was originally intended to be the story of the taking of Weerde. Owing, however, to circumstances over which neither the Belgians nor I had control, Weerde remains untaken.

Yesterday morning four Belgian divisions pressed forward along a front extending from Aerschot nearly to Alost, a distance something over thirty miles. The Belgian center rested on Sempst, two miles south of Malines, its objective being the town of Weerde on the Antwerp-Brussels railway and a point of considerable strategic importance.

GERMANS IN WEERDE.

It was known the Germans occupied Weerde in force, so throughout the day the Belgian artillery, masked by heavy woods, pounded away incessantly.

By noon the Germans guns ceased to reply, which was assumed by the jubilant Belgians to be a sign that the enemy's artillery was silenced.

Thompson, the Kansas photographer, and I arrived at the headquarters of the First division at Sempst early in the afternoon, leaving our car at the gate of a convent, over which a Red Cross flag was flying, which promised, therefore, to be fairly immune from shell fire.

Thompson and I, accompanied by Roos, my military driver, by keeping close to the trenches which the Belgian infantry had evacuated in their advance, succeeded in reaching a farm house which stood quite by itself in the middle of a field.

ON BELGIAN FIRING LINE.

One hundred yards in front of the farmhouse stretched a highway which runs from Brussels to Antwerp. Lying in a deep ditch bordering our side of the highway was a brigade of infantry which formed the Belgian firing line. Ascending to the garret of the house we broke a hole through the tiled roof and found ourselves looking down upon a battle precisely as one looks down on a football game from an upper row of seats in the Harvard stadium.

In the immediate foreground were two regiments of carbineers and two regiments of chasseurs. The men were crouching in the ditch or lying prone on the ground. Five hundred yards along the other side of the highway we could see through trees the red pottery roofs and whitewashed walls of Weerde while a short distance beyond in a heavily wooded park a large stone chateau. The only sign that the town was occupied was a pale blue gray vapor which hung over it and the constant crackle of musketry issuing from it.

OFFICERS DIRECT FIRING.

Occasionally through my glasses I could catch a glimpse of machine guns in the upper windows of a château. The American public must bear in mind that in this war soldiers fire from trenches for days without once getting a glimpse of the enemy.

They know that somewhere opposite them, in that bit of woods perhaps, or behind that group of buildings, or on the other side of that railway embankment, the enemy is trying to kill them, just as earnestly as they are trying to kill him. But rarely do they see him, save in street fighting or during a bayonet charge. Officers indicate to their men what they are to aim at, tell them at what distance to set their sights, and order them to blaze away. That was the case yesterday at Weerde.

Occasionally after the explosion of a particularly well placed Belgian shell Thompson and I, with our powerful glasses, could catch fleeting glimpses of scurrying figures in gray, but that

MAINE GOVERNOR TO BE DEMOCRAT?

Curtis Has 57,313 Votes; Gov. Haines, Republican, 54,953; Gardiner, Progressive 18,822.

MOOSE LOSS 63 PER CENT

Congressmen Hinds, G. O. P. Man, and McGillicuddy, Democrat, Reported to Be Re-elected.

Portland, Me., Sept. 14.—Returns from the cities of Bangor and Portland just before midnight tonight changed an indicated Republican plurality for governor to an apparently Democratic victory, although the result will not be certain until fifty missing towns have been heard from.

Vote Counted So Far.

The standing with 450 towns and all the twenty cities was as follows:

Haines, Republican	54,955
Curtis, Democrat	57,513
Gardiner, Progressive	18,822

The corresponding vote for president in 1912 was:

Taft, Republican	24,860
Wilson, Democrat	48,467
Roosevelt, Progressive	45,327

These returns show a Republican gain of 125 per cent and a Democratic gain of 18 per cent. If the same percentage is maintained Curtis' election is indicated by about 600 plurality. Up to 11 o'clock the Progressive loss from the Roosevelt vote was 63 per cent.

Congressmen in Doubt.

Three of the congressional districts were admittedly in some doubt, although the indications were that there would be no change in Maine's representation in congress.

Congressman Asher C. Hinds, Republican, was reëlected in the First district according to complete newspaper returns, by a plurality of 699. The vote was 17,017 for Congressman Hinds, 16,318 for J. S. Scates, Democrat, and 2,311 for Walter C. Emerson, Progressive.

Congressman Daniel J. McGillicuddy, Democrat, was reëlected by 5,500 plurality over Harold M. Sewall, Republican, of Bath, according to unofficial returns from all but one small town in the Second district. The vote was 10,884 for Sewall, 16,819 for McGillicuddy, and 6,281 for Alton C. Wheeler, Progressive.

Peters Leads in the Third.

Partial returns from the Third district showed that Congressman John A. Peters [Republican] had a lead over William R. Pattangall [Democrat], but it was considered not impossible that Peters' plurality of 1,441 in 100 of the 185 towns of the district might be overcome.

Returns from the Fourth district indicated the reëlection of Congressman Frank E. Guernsey [Republican].

Watch for Powell's Great War Stories in "The Tribune."

E. ALEXANDER POWELL, whose 4,000 word cable from the seat of war in last Sunday's paper brought a flood of congratulations to THE TRIBUNE and who has another stirring story this morning, is in a fortunate position. He is the only correspondent in the heart of war who has succeeded in keeping up with the battle action and in getting his dispatches regularly through to America.

Not long after he finished his education at Syracuse university (he is a native Syracusan, and 35 years old) and Oberlin college, he was in active newspaper work for two years. Then he became the first editor of the Craftsman, after which he went to London in 1904.

He became at home in nearly all the countries of the world. He was American deputy consul general at Beirut, Syria, and then consular agent at Alexandria, Egypt, in 1907-'08. He served as an American war correspondent during the Persian and Turkish revolutions, was present at the capture of Constantinople, and was the only unofficial foreigner admitted to the investiture of Sultan Mohammed V.

He has written extensively of Arabia and Central and South Africa, and is a fellow of the Royal Geographic society and a member of the National Geographic society.

Mr. Powell was abroad at the beginning of the present war and immediately proceeded to Belgium, where he got into the thick of things. He has been with both the Belgian and German armies and is now the only correspondent at the direct front with the fighting armies. His great dispatches will appear frequently in THE TRIBUNE.

CZAR LEADS GERMAN FOE INTO A TRAP

Retreat in East Prussia Ruse to Help His Galician Army.

AUSTRIANS OUT OF WAY

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PETROGRAD, Sept. 14.—Continued Russian successes against Austria-Hungary and a retreat of the czar's forces in east Prussia were announced by the war office tonight.

The retreat of the Russian forces before the Germans is said to be a well laid trap to ensnare the Germans in that territory.

According to high officials the retreat before the kaiser's forces has placed the enemy in a position where they will be unable to march to the aid of Breslau or Posen or interpose opposition to the Russian advance through Silesia, the most direct road to Berlin.

Austrian Losses Heavy.

The war ministry announces that the Austrian opposition in Galicia has received a death blow and that immediately after the capture of Cracow the Russians will begin their advance on Vienna.

A dispatch from Copenhagen says that Berlin messages received there admit that the chief Austrian army has suffered an absolute defeat but claim it is retiring in good order.

"Gen. von Auffenberg's army," the correspondent continues, "is said to be in a dangerous position, being cut off from the main army. The Austrians have had terrible losses."

More Austrians Surrender.

A Reuter telegram from Paris via London says there are persistent rumors current there that the larger part of the Austrian armies now in the field have surrendered, in addition to the 200,000 already held by the Russians. This rumor cannot be confirmed.

The situation in Austria is growing desperate, according to a Vienna dispatch to London, relayed here. The railroads have an insufficient number of cars to carry the wounded. The Red Cross is begging for funds, stating that it is at the end of its resources.

Operations at the Front.

The following official communication on the operations at the front was issued tonight:

"On the Austrian front the Russian troops are crossing the San river. On taking position near Rawaruska the Russian troops captured thirty cannon and 8,000 prisoners, and also enormous stores of war material and provisions.

"The results of the pursuit of the enemy in that territory are still unknown.

"In the marshes of Belgoraion the Russians found more Austrian batteries sunk in the mud, abandoned during retreat.

Austrian Prisoners Taken.

"The general army, while repulsing the last desperate Austrian attack, captured, the moment our troops took the offensive, a great number of prisoners and guns, the total number of which has not as yet been determined.

"Gen. Brussiloff declares his troops gave proof of great energy, determination, and bravery. The commanders of the corps, he says, led their units with imperturbable coolness, snatching victory from the enemy on more than one occasion at critical moments.

Commends Bulgarians' Work.

"Gen. Brussiloff particularly commends the activity of the Bulgarian general, Radko Dmitrieff, in the fighting.

"On the right bank of the Dniester river the Austrians have been thrown back on Dorogobuzh, fifty-five miles east of Smolensk.

"Czernowitz, capital and chief town of the crownland of Bukowina, and all the neighboring regions have been occupied by the Russian armies without resistance."

AUSTRIA AGAIN BEATEN.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—All the news coming in today seems to confirm the Russian reports that the Russians have inflicted another crushing defeat on the Austrians, who on the right were supported by some German divisions.

By the capture of Tomaszow the Russians drove a wedge between the Austrian

HOW THE ROYAL FIELD ARTILLERY FIGHT

GERMAN RETREAT AS SEEN FROM SKY

French Aviator Describes Flight of Kaiser's Men Across Marne as a Rout.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The following dispatch comes tonight from the Standard's correspondent in Paris:

"The best view of the retreating German armies was obtained by a French military airman, who, ascending from a point near Vitry, flew northward across the Marne and then eastward by way of Reims down to the region of Verdun and back again in a zigzag course to a spot near Soissons.

"He saw the German hosts not merely in retreat, but in flight, and in some places in disorderly flight.

"'It was a wonderful sight,' the airman said, 'to look down upon those hundreds and thousands of moving military columns, the long gray lines of the kaiser's picked troops, some marching in a northerly, others in a northeasterly direction, and all moving with a tremendous rapidity.'

Scatter as They Retire.

"The retreat, the aviator declared, was not confined to the highways, but many German soldiers were running across fields, jumping over fences, crawling through hedges, and making their way through woods without any semblance of order or discipline.

"These men doubtless belong to regiments which were badly cut up in the fierce fighting which preceded the general retreat. Deprived of the majority of their officers, they made a mere rabble of fugitives. Many were without rifles, having abandoned their weapons in their haste to escape their French and British pursuers."

Germans Abandon Guns.

The Times correspondent near Melun describes the German retreat in a hurricane, with rain descending in torrents, the wayside brooks swollen to little torrents.

"The gun wheels sink deep in the mud, and the soldiers, unable to extricate them, abandon the guns," he continues.

"A wounded soldier who has just returned from the front told me that they fled as animals flee which are cornered and know it.

"Imagine the roadway littered with guns, knapsacks, cartridge belts, Maxims, and heavy cannon. There are miles of roads like this.

"And the dead. Those piles of horses and those stacks of men I have seen again and again. I have seen men shot so close to one another that they remained standing after death.

"At night time the sight is terrible; horrible beyond description. They cannot bury whole armies.

Allies Attack Weak Points.

"In the daytime over the fields of dead carrion birds are gathered, led by the gray throated crow of evil omen and with a host of lesser marauders at his back. Robbers, too, have descended upon these fields.

"Trainload after trainload of British and French troops have swept towards the weak points of the retreating host.

"The allies have chosen this advantage of the battleground; there is a network of railways, like the network of a spider's web."

MASSACRE 200 CHRISTIANS IN SACKING ALBANIA CITY?

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BRINDISI, Italy, Sept. 14.—More than 200 men, women, and children were massacred by Mussulman insurgents when they captured the Albanian town of Zaerani, according to a dispatch from Avlona. The victims were all Christians. The town is said to have been burned.

SECRET OUT; RUSS MEN IN BELGIUM

'Kitchener's Surprise,' 70,000 Cossacks, Rushed to Aid of French.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 14.—All doubt that Russian troops in great force have passed through Great Britain to the battlefields of Belgium was removed tonight when the Cardiff Evening News published a definite, distinct statement from a Welsh engineer who traveled from Archangel to Leith with 2,500 Cossacks.

The extent of Lord Kitchener's "masterstroke" now is comprehended and England is ringing with enthusiasm. Seventy thousand Russian soldiers, described as veterans of magnificent physique and bearing, have been transported from the Russian harbor of Archangel to Leith and other Scottish ports, and from there entrained to the channel.

Many Now in Belgium.

It is not known what proportion of the 70,000, which force constitutes practically two full army corps, has been landed at Ostend or at other reception camps, but unquestionably a very great proportion is now in Belgium and is being mobilized for immediate service.

Attempts to conceal the movement of the czar's soldiers through Scotland and England have relaxed because the movement has been practically consummated and the military necessity for secrecy is at an end. This movement has been vigorously carried on for ten days at least.

The Cardiff newspaper's interview with the Welsh engineer, W. H. Champion, is to the point.

Traveled with 2,500 Cossacks.

"I traveled on a steamship from Archangel to Leith with 2,500 Cossacks," said Mr. Champion. "This force of Cossacks made up the last contingent of 70,000 Russians that have been brought to Scotland by British transports and steamers.

"The Russians had no inkling of their destination. They were magnificent men, as fine soldiers as you would want to look at. The majority of them were over 6 feet tall.

"When they were landed at Leith they were placed on trains for York, Peterborough, and the south. I traveled with the Russians as far as Peterborough, where I left the train."

KAISER'S CENTRAL ARMY WAITS ENEMY ON AISNE

Invaders Re-form Lines in Strongly Fortified Position.

GAINS BY BELGIANS

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Sept. 14.—The main army of the Germans has halted its retreat in a strongly intrenched position on the River Aisne and is prepared to give battle to the advancing allies.

This information is given in the latest bulletin issued by the ministry of war tonight. It is possible that the battle already has begun.

The German center may have been joined by the army under Crown Prince Frederich Wilhelm which, earlier in the day, was reported to be trapped near Verdun. It now appears that he has retreated to a point near Aisne.

ALLIES GAIN MANY POINTS.

Elsewhere along the long battle line the allies seem to have gained greatly. Gen. Pau, who is attempting to make a flanking movement to the north, has circled the German right and threatens the line of communications through Belgium.

In fierce fighting in the Vosges mountains the French are driving the Germans back on the Alsace-Lorraine border.

The Belgians, after a hard battle, have retaken Aerschot and threaten Louvain in Belgium, and it is reported the Germans have issued proclamations saying Brussels is to be evacuated.

STATEMENT BY WAR OFFICE.

The news of the stand of the German center is conveyed in the following statement, made public tonight:

"On our left wing we have everywhere caught up with the rear guards and even the main body of the enemy.

"Our troops have reëntered Amiens, abandoned by the German forces.

"The enemy appears to be making a stand on a prepared front along the river Aisne.

BATTLE NORTH OF REIMS?

"On the center, similarly, it would eem as if the enemy intends to resist on the heights to the northwest and to the north of Reims. In the region between Argonne and the Meuse he continues to retire.

"On our right wing we have succeeded in relieving the fort of Troyon, which has been stubbornly attacked time and time again during the last few days. (Troyon is twelve miles south southeast of Verdun.)

"In Lorraine our pursuing detachments are keeping, as everywhere else, in touch with the Germans.

"The morale and sanitary condition of our armies continue excellent."

PRINCE WITH MAIN ARMY.

The action of the crown prince of Germany in moving his headquarters from St. Menehould, on the river Aire, twenty-three miles southwest of Verdun, to Montfaucon, fifteen miles northwest of Verdun, was made the subject of varied speculations today.

Some of the military experts asserted that the action was the only course open to the prince to prevent his army from being caught in a trap. These experts said the allies, having driven the Germans from their positions north of Reims, threatened to cut off the line of retreat for the crown prince's army to the west of the Argonne region.

Had the allies succeeded in this the crown prince would have been surrounded and the line of the German army would have been broken in two. Then the only way for the crown prince's army to retreat into Germany would have been through the district to the south of Verdun, a desperate expedient in view of the imposing array of forts at this point.

It appears now, however, that the crown prince has led his army to the northeast through the forest of Argonne and is now near the main force of the invaders along the Aisne.

Great optimism is shown by the French officials in regard to the movement of the armies. Minister of War Millerand at noon declared he did not expect the German army would be able to establish a real line of resistance in France.

He added that he expected the rout of the Germans would lead to a disaster in which a great part of their forces would be cut off in the forests of Argonne and to the south of Verdun.

These claims of the war minister were based on reports he had received from Gen. Joffre, detailing the events for the last few days.

EXTENT OF GERMAN LINES.

Broadly speaking, the German lines to the northeast of Paris have been driven back by the allies about half way to the Belgian frontier. They extend today from a point north of Amiens to the Argonne regions and are from sixty to eighty miles distant from Paris and about an equal distance from the boundary line of Belgium.

From the Argonne the line runs northeast to Verdun, which fortress is thirty miles from the Limburg line. From Verdun the German line would appear to run southeast to a point north of Nancy, whence it continues in an easterly direction to the frontier of Lorraine. Here the German and French troops are virtually on the border.

2,000,000 ON THE MARNE.

Further details which are being received here show that the battle of the Marne, which resulted in the stopping of the German enveloping movement and the driving of the invading army back across the river, was the greatest in the history of the world.

More than 2,000,000 men were engaged in the struggle along the long front, and, according to figures compiled by the French war office, the Germans were outnumbered by 400,000 men.

Of this great number, 1,780,000 were artillerymen, cavalrymen, and infantry. The remainder were attached to the German View of the Situation

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—[By wireless to Sayville, L. I.]—The headquarters of the German army in Berlin today gave out the following official report:

"The German crown prince has captured the enemy's fortified position southwest of Verdun and is now bombarding with heavy artillery the outer forts lying to the south.

"A battle is in progress between Paris and the river Marne over a front stretching from Nanteuil in the west where the English forces are, to Vitry. The crown prince's army is separated from the main battle by the forest of Argonne.

"The armies of the crown prince of Bavaria and Gen. von Heeringen are in formal battle near the upper Moselle.

"James W. Gerard, the American ambassador to Germany, has given out an interview to the press denying persistent reports that the United States was preparing to join the allies; that Mr. Whitlock, the American minister at Brussels had attached the mayor of Brussels to his staff; that the American flag had been raised at Ghent; that the Tuckerton incident was unfriendly discrimination against Germany, and that he is advising Americans to hurry away because the United States is going to war."

Another official report issued today says:

"The garrison at Antwerp has been repulsed.

"The crown prince's army is now attacking the forts between Verdun and Toul on both sides.

"Prince Joachim arrived today in Berlin and has been lodged in Bellevue palace.

"Last night's official details of the battle to the east of Paris cannot yet be made public. A new battle is in progress which up to the present has been favorable to the Germans. Reports from Paris and London of a German defeat are declared untrue.

"The London Times confesses the attempts at recruiting in Ireland have failed."

engineering, aviation, and other corps in special service.

A batch of German prisoners composed of a general with his entire staff and six other officers and 300 men arrived today at Noisy-le-Sec, five miles northeast of Paris, whence they were sent to the south.

Since yesterday morning twenty-one trains laden with captured war material have reached Paris. Among the war captures they brought were eleven cannon, seven automobile trucks loaded with ammunition, two larger auto trucks filled with helmets, rifles, swords, cartridges, belts, mitrailleuses; commissariat wagons, three aeroplanes, one of which had its wings pierced, and many projectiles.

The superintendent in charge of the work of bringing in these prizes said that within a week he had received sixty cannon, thirty mitrailleuses, and forty trucks filled with smaller articles, and an important quantity of ammunition.

HARD FIGHTING IN BELGIUM.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Belgian army has retaken Aerschot and now is engaged in a desperate battle with the Germans for the possession of Louvain. The losses on both sides are reported to be heavy. Two German regiments were completely wiped out.

A Central dispatch from Amsterdam says that during the fighting soldiers belonging to the Belgian army telegraph section succeeded in joining their wire to a line running direct to the German headquarters at Brussels and obtained the following correspondence the Germans telegraphed from Louvain:

"We are surprised. Send us assistance quickly."

The object of the allied forces is to cut the line of communication between Germany and the army which invaded France through Belgium.

RUSSIANS NOT IN BELGIUM.

The official press bureau issued tonight a denial of the reports that Russian troops have been landed in Belgium.

"There is no truth whatever," says the bureau, "in the rumors that Russian soldiers have landed or passed through Great Britain on their way to France or Belgium. The statements that Russian troops are on Belgian or French soil should be discredited."

Reports from unofficial sources today said there now are 300,000 or 400,000 Russians in Belgium. They were reported to have been taken from Archangel in forty-two British transports.

READY TO QUIT BRUSSELS?

A dispatch from Antwerp says the Germans are evacuating Brussels. The military governor, Gen. von der Goltz, has issued a proclamation informing the population of the evacuation, thanking them for their peaceful attitude during the occupation, and warning them against molesting the retreating Germans.

The Germans also are falling back along the Namur and Liege line. They are hastily constructing heavy fortifications at Liege. The Belgian offensive has resulted in the recall of three German army corps to hold the line of communications. The Belgians are advancing in force all along the line.

SAY GERMANS ARE LOSING.

Dispatches received from the scene of hostilities in France assert the Germans are still being beaten back.

From Nancy and Vosges they have withdrawn from French territory, while on the extreme right Gen. von Kluck and Gen. von Buelow continue to retreat to the northeast before the French and British, even giving up their defensive position on the River Aisne between Compiegne and Soissons.

Further west, the German detachments that held Amiens have moved northeastward to try to rejoin the German army of the right at St. Quentin. It is possible that all the Germans in northwest France have done likewise; otherwise they would be in danger of being cut off in the center.

Another defensive position, behind Reims, has been given up, and in the Argonne region a general retreat is taking place toward the forest of Belnoue and Triancourt.

ALLIES PRESS PURSUIT.

The allies are pushing their advantage and doing their utmost to turn the retreat into a disaster by a stern pursuit on perhaps the broadest scale yet known in war. On the right they are in good position to continue the offensive if the men and horses are not too tired for further effort. They are based on a strong line running from the Marne to the fortresses through the hilly country south of Argonne.

While the allied left, composed largely of fresh troops, with a heavy force of cavalry under Gen. Pau, is feeling around so as to drive Gen. von Kluck and Gen. von Buelow toward Ardennes and Luxemberg, Gen. Pau's army by a few more marches by La Fere and Laon might cut communications between the retreating Germans and Belgium.

The British, who yesterday took nearly all the crossings on the River Aisne and captured many prisoners, are now north of that river and are pushing the attack.

WHOLE LINE IN PERIL.

The center, somewhere between Chalons and Reims, is making an effort to recapture the latter city, which would be one of the most popular victories that could be announced to Frenchmen.

Should these movements be crowned with success and Laon and Reims again fall into the hands of the allies, the Germans would have only one line of communication with Germany—through Rethel—and even that might be cut.

Gen. von Kluck, however, is looking for reinforcements from Belgium, if they have not already reached him, and with these he might make another stand against his relentless pursuers.

GERMAN LINE
ALLIES' ADVANCE

Another great battle is opening along the lines indicated in the map above, according to the latest news received up to an early hour this morning. The last section of the advanced German line to fall back to the new position was that occupied by the army of the Crown Prince of Germany in the center. This army has now drawn back along a line from Reims to just northwest of Verdun.

The arrows forming a triangle with the German line show the relative positions of the kaiser's armies. Beginning on the extreme right of the German line, from Perronne in the west, the first army is that commanded by Gen. von Kluck. Next to him is the army of Gen. von Buelow. In the center is that of the Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm, supported on the left from Verdun to the east into Lorraine by the army of the Prince of Wuerttemberg. On the extreme east, with its left resting on Strassburg, is the army of Gen. von Heeringen.

With the line so formed and with troops being rushed from Belgium and from the east, the kaiser is reported to have decided to give the allies battle.

On the extreme left, or western wing of the allies, Gen. Pau is pushing a vigorous turning movement in the neighborhood of Peronne and La Fere, in an attempt to cut the German line of communications through Belgium.

POWELL IN THICK OF THE FIGHTING IN BELGIUM

was all. Men below us in the trenches could see nothing except hedges, gardens, and red roofed houses of the country town.

They knew the enemy was there, however, from the incessant rattle of musketry and machine guns and from screams and exclamations from those of their fellows who happened to get in the way of bullets.

In the late afternoon word was passed down the line that the German guns were put out of action, and that the enemy was evacuating the town in disorder and that at 5:30 sharp the whole Belgian line would advance.

BELGIANS SWEEP FORWARD.

Under cover of artillery fire, so heavy that it sounded like thunder in the mountains, the Belgian infantry climbed out of the trenches, and, throwing aside knapsacks, formed up behind the road preparatory to making a grand assault. A moment later a dozen dog batteries came trotting up and took a position on the left of the infantry.

At 5:30 o'clock to the minute the whistles of the officers sounded shrilly, and in a mile long line the chasseurs in blue and the carbineers in bottle green swept forward cheering. They crossed the roadway. They scrambled across ditches. They pushed through hedges until they were within 100 yards of a line of buildings in the outskirts of the town.

THEN HELL BROKE LOOSE.

Then hell itself broke loose. The whole German front, which for an hour had replied only feebly to the Belgian fire, spat a continuous stream of lead and flame. The rolling crash of musketry and the ripping snarl of machine guns was stabbed by the vicious pom, pom, pom, pom, pom, pom of the quick firers.

From every window of the three storied chateau opposite us lean muzzles of mitrailleuses poured out their hail of death.

I have seen fighting on four continents, but never have I witnessed so deadly a fire as that which wiped out the head of the Belgian columns as a sponge wipes out figures on a slate. The Germans had prepared the trap and the Belgians had stumbled into it.

Three minutes later the big batteries came tearing on a dead run. That should have been the signal that it was high time for us to go, but in spite of the fact that a storm was brewing we were waiting to see the ninth inning.

BELGIANS FLEE FOR LIVES.

Then things began to happen with bewildering rapidity. Back through the hedges, across the ditches, over roadways came the Belgian infantry, crouching, stooping, and running for their lives.

Bullets began smashing tiles above us.

"This is no place for two innocent little American boys," Thompson remarked, shouldering his camera. "And, besides, if we don't hurry we won't get back to town in time for dinner."

By the time we reached the ground we found the Belgian infantry was over a mile in our rear, and that to reach our car we had to cross nearly a mile of open field.

Bullets were whisking across it and kicking up little spurts of brown earth where they struck. The man who won the Marathon at the Olympic games would have been a bad fourth to Thompson, Roos, and myself.

GERMANS OPEN FIRE.

We had not gotten a quarter way across the field when the German artillery which the Belgians had confidently asserted was silenced opened on the retiring infantry with shrapnel.

You have no idea how extremely annoying shrapnel is when it explodes in your immediate vicinity. You feel as if you would like nothing in the world so much as to be suddenly transformed into a woodchuck and have a convenient hole.

When we were half way across the field two Belgian soldiers popped up from a trench with leveled rifles and shouted:

"Halt! Hands up!"

It was a fine place to be held up and cross-questioned, with German shells making as much racket as fireworks on a Fourth of July evening.

The invitation extended by the soldiers being very urgent, however, as they positively would not take no for an answer, we advanced with hands above our heads, wondering whether we would get a Belgian bullet in front or a German shell in the back.

HURRIED TO SAFETY.

As we came near enough to them to recognize us one of the soldiers exclaimed: "O, it is the Americans!" as if that explained any madness, and suggested politely that we had better make for the shelter of a row of cottages in the rear. We agreed enthusiastically with him and started to run again.

The shrapnel now was bursting a dozen to the minute, and as all three of us were thirsty I decided it was an excellent idea to see if we could get into the wine cellar of the nearest farmhouse.

As we approached, two sentries came running up.

"Keep away from that house!" they shouted. "The man who lives there is crazy drunk. He is upstairs with a rifle, shooting at every one he sees."

"I call that damned inhospitable of him," remarked Thompson as a shell burst with a crash and an adjacent barn went up in a cloud of brown smoke.

MAKE DASH FOR CAR.

We had no choice but to make a dash for the car. As we came in sight of the machine a shell burst within thirty feet of it, demolishing the entire front of the house in front of which it was standing.

A Red Cross flag over a convent evidently was not proving the safeguard we had supposed. I hope nothing happened to those nuns. They were very sweet, kindly, and were caring for a number of little children. I suppose I actually did not take more than three seconds to crank the car, but it seemed like three hours. Still, it is a good car and none of us had any desire to walk forty miles to Antwerp.

Darkness had now fallen. A torrential rain had set in; the mud was ankle deep, and the road back to Malines was in possession of the Germans, so we were compelled to make a detour through the deserted countryside in the inky blackness.

RUN WITHOUT LIGHTS.

In order not to attract the German fire we had to run without lights on a road slippery as glass. It was long after midnight when, cold, hungry and soaked to the skin, we called the password to the sentry at the entrance to the inner fortifications and came limping into Antwerp.

Notwithstanding the fact the Belgians have retired a considerable distance all along the line, the general staff inform me that the Belgian offensive movement has accomplished its object and that the ninth German army, which was well on its way to France, has been recalled to reinforce the troops holding the line of communications.

HARD SLAP FOR BELGIANS.

The Belgians certainly bumped their heads very hard indeed yesterday, for the Germans had in action upward of 50,000 men. The casualties have not yet been announced. As I have since learned, we happened to be in the very hottest part of the line.

The wounded were brought into this city in the early hours of the morning. The chasseurs and carbineers met with important losses. It was a lively day for every one concerned, and there were a few minutes when I thought I would never see the Statue of Liberty again.

THANKS FROM FRENCH CHIEF, PRAISE FOR ALLIES BRINGS

Belgian King and President Poincare Exchange Congratulatory Messages on Successes.

BORDEAUX, Sept. 14.—President Poincare and King Albert have exchanged congratulatory telegrams. In a message the Belgian monarch said:

"The great victory attained by the allies owing to the courage and military genius of their chiefs fills us with joy. In sending you the warmest cogratulations I am interpreting the feeling of the whole Belgian nation. We maintain unshaken confidence in final success in the struggle.

"The abominable cruelties from which our people are suffering, far from terrorizing them as was hoped, have only put fresh energy and ardor in our troops.

"ALBERT."

To this President Poincare replied:

"I heartily thank you for your message of congratulations for the commanders and men of the French army. Our troops are proud to fight beside the valiant Belgian and British armies for civilization and liberty.

"When the hour of retributive justice strikes none will forget what your majesty and the admirable Belgian people have done for the triumph of the common cause."

RUSSIANS DRAW KAISER'S ARMY INTO BIG TRAP

Retreat in East Prussia to Clear the Road to Berlin Through Breslau.

army which had invaded Poland as far as Opole, Krasnostav, and Zamosc, and the army which they defeated at Lemberg, and which, although it lost heavily in killed, wounded, prisoners, and guns, managed to reform to some extent and undertake the offensive.

The Germans who reinforced the Austrians, according to latest advices, shared in the defeat. They are trying to reach the fortress at Przemysl, and the rear guard is endeavoring to keep off the Russian cavalry which is pursuing them.

Heavy Losses for Josef.

Austria had in Poland and Galicia an army estimated at 1,000,000 men with 2,500 guns. At Lemberg, Austria lost many thousands of men in killed, wounded, and prisoners.

It is now stated, although not officially, that the total number of prisoners amounts to 180,000, and that 450 field guns were taken, besides the guns in the captured forts and an immense amount of war material.

It is also reported tonight from Rome that the Germans have suffered a defeat at Mlawa, on the East Prussia frontier. This would be rather surprising, as the Russians only today admitted that they had withdrawn in East Prussia.

MORE GERMANS FOR MEMEL.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—A Havas agency dispatch from Petrograd says that the Germans are sending important reinforcements to the fortress of Memel, the northernmost town of the German empire on the Baltic, seventy-two miles northeast of Koenigsberg, which threatens Tilsit.

The Russian imperial council is examining the laws for the administration of conquered Prussian and Austrian territory.

Another dispatch from Petrograd to the same news agency says the Russian invasion of Bukowina, the Austro-Hungarian crown land in western Hungary, is proceeding unopposed. Placards have been found everywhere in the country announcing Austrian victory.

"The Germans are strongly fortifying Kalisz, Russian Poland," the correspondent adds, "and the city has been surrounded by barbed wire entanglements and mines. Kalisz has been renamed Grossgarten.

Only Minor Battles.

A semi-official communication says the slowness of the Russian operations in eastern Prussia are not disquieting. The affairs have only been minor ones, which were alternately successful and unsuccessful. They have no importance in such a gigantic struggle.

"An energetic attack has been begun in the district of Tchestokhove, where the Russians took a strong German position by storm on Saturday."

REPORTS ON LEMBERG.

Manchester, Mass., Sept. 14.—Wireless advices received today by Dr. Konstantine Theodor Dumba, Austro-Hungarian ambassador to the United States, from Count von Berchtold, minister of foreign affairs at Vienna, read as follows:

"The battle of Lemberg has been successful. Our forces which were placed along and south of the Grodek road pushed back the enemy after five days' fighting.

Take 10,000 Russians.

"Ten thousand Russians and numerous guns were captured, but it was impossible to make full use of the success because our northern wing near Rawaruska was endangered by overwhelming Russian forces, not to speak of new Russian forces marching against Gen. Dankl's army and into the interval between this army and the Lemberg war theater.

"On account of the superior strength of the enemies, it was found necessary to collect our armies, now fighting with little rest heroically for three days, into favorable positions, preparing them for new actions."

BUSINESS BETTER IN BRITAIN

News of Allies' Successes Sends Consols Up—Bank of England Buys Gold.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Bank of England bought $325,000 in gold eagles today. Better war news has greatly heartened business, and as a result consols went up ½, to 68¾.

The exchange committee has taken steps to discover the technical position of the market and has requested members to notify the committee of the extent of open commitments.

It is believed the liabilities are about $400,000,000. Of this amount the banks are carrying $200,000,000 and the house loans are about $100,000,000. The other $100,000,000 is in private obligations.

GERMANS CUT BRITISH CABLE

Line of Communication at Fanning Island Out of Commission.

WORK OF CRUISERS?

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 14.—Definite news has reached Vancouver that the Germans have captured the Fanning Island cable station.

Whether the men who landed on the island on Monday, Sept. 7, were from the cruiser Nurnberg or Leipzig cannot be definitely ascertained.

Communication was broken off so suddenly with the Bamfield (Vancouver island) end of the cable that the Fanning Island operator was able only to send a message that armed men in uniform had landed and had entered the superintendent's office. Here the message stopped abruptly and the cable has been silent ever since.

FIRE ALONE COULD OUST THIS GERMAN GARRISON.

Chauffeur Tells How French Infantry's Guns Failed to Dislodge 2,000 from Refinery.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—A chauffeur who conducted two officers to the front witnessed the siege of a beet sugar refinery while 2,000 Germans had taken refuge during the battle of the Marne.

It was impossible, he says, for the infantry to dislodge them, and their fire was very damaging.

Finally a battery of the famous "75" took position, and at the third salvo from these guns the building and its dependencies was seen to be on fire. The howl coming from the refinery was audible even in the din of the cannonading. The Germans jumped from the windows and were shot as they fell by the infantry. Many surrendered and a few escaped, perhaps 200 or 300. The rest perished in the refinery and its outbuildings.

GERMANY MUST QUIT FRENCH SOIL BEFORE ALLIES WILL CONSIDER PEACE PLANS.

PARLEY ON PEACE ONLY IF GERMANS QUIT FRENCH SOIL

Allies Make Known to United States Their Attitude; Minimum Terms Later.

KAISER NOT READY YET

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—France will refuse even to consider a proposal of peace by the kaiser so long as a German soldier remains within the boundaries of the republic.

If the kaiser withdraws his army across the German frontier France will be willing to confer with its allies upon the submission of the minimum terms upon which hostilities will be ceased.

This is the information which has been communicated to the Wilson administration by the French government through Ambassador Herrick at Paris. No reply has been received from Emperor William to Secretary Bryan's inquiry concerning his willingness to discuss a suspension of hostilities at this time.

French Message for Kaiser.

It is believed here that it is the intention of France to have this message transmitted to the kaiser through the medium of the United States, which is serving as the only channel of communication between the two parties to the great struggle. It is understood, however, that no request of this character accompanied the message forwarded by Ambassador Herrick.

Secretary Bryan declined to discuss the matter in any way beyond saying that no immediate opening for peace negotiations has been presented.

French officials here are elated by the turn of the tide of battle in favor of the allies. They expect that the Germans will make one last desperate effort to recover the lost ground in France, but they believe that the strength of the German resistance has been broken and that the kaiser's forces soon will be flying across the border.

In accordance with the recent agreement entered into by the allies the parties to the triple entente will make peace, not individually, but collectively. Great Britain already has indicated that a cessation of hostilities will not be considered until the kaiser agrees to compensate Belgium for the violation of neutrality. France and Russia are in accord with that demand.

Germany Not Ready for Peace.

German officials here say they have not been advised of the attitude of France toward the consideration of peace either by the state department or otherwise. They believe that the message transmitted by Ambassador Herrick represents an effort to sound the German government on the proposal.

It is preposterous to pay serious attention to a move of this character at the present time, say the Germans.

The view at the German embassy, which was without official advices of the progress of the war again today, is that the great struggle is only in its initial stage, with neither side having gained a decisive victory. Until such a victory is won it is idle to talk of peace, they insist.

Meets Belgians Wednesday.

The official Belgian commission which desires to lay before the United States government charges regarding the conduct of German forces in Belgium will be received by President Wilson at the White House at 2:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon

SERBS CONTINUE PURSUIT OF FLEEING AUSTRIAN ARMY.

Foe Abandons Provisions, Equipment, and Arms and Ammunition—Semlin Rejoices.

NISH, Servia, Sept. 14.—The following official statement was issued today:

"On our northern front, after taking Semlin, our troops still continue successfully to pursue the offensive. The hurried nature of the flight of the enemy at Semlin can be estimated by the quantity of provisions, equipment, arms, and ammunition, and other war material found in the town.

"Our troops were received with indescribable enthusiasm in Semlin. A Te Deum was sung for the victory of the Servian army. The railroad as far as the station in Belgrade has been repaired and is ready for use in the transportation of troops.

"A continuous artillery duel is taking place on the northern front."

Few Teutonic Residents of Herbertshohe, in the Bismarck Archipelago, Putting Up Heroic Resistance

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The following official German communication was received here tonight by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company:

"The few German residents in Herbertshohe in the Bismarck archipelago in the Pacific ocean are making a heroic resistance against the invading forces, which are in command of the chief of the Australian navy.

"It is apparent from the reports appearing in the English newspapers concerning engagements in German colonies in Africa and from the lists of the officers who have fallen in action that the Nigerian troops took part in the fighting in the Kamerun (German West Africa).

TOURISTS 'BROKE' ASK AID, THEN GO TO A $50 HOTEL

London American Relief Committee 'Stung' for 'High Class Charity.'

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Two young American women who arrived from Berlin on Saturday night were given the address of an inexpensive hotel by the American relief committee.

Instead of going there they put up at a luxurious hotel, and today, according to the committee, appeared at the relief headquarters and presented a hotel bill for $50, requesting that it be paid on their behalf. They also asked to be provided with first class passage on a steamer to New York, as they swore that they were penniless.

The committee felt compelled to pay the hotel bill, but allowed them only $1.75 each daily for living expenses until Saturday, when they will proceed to New York as second class passengers. This privilege was granted because the young women declared that they were in frail health.

Come Home and Kick.

This and similar cases have caused Hobert C. Hoover, chairman of the American committee, to issue the following statement:

"The American press may be interested to know that they may expect a large number of interviews denouncing this committee upon the arrival of steamers at New York.

"The committee has made it an inflexible rule that people appealing to them for relief and claiming to be entirely without resources should be sent to the United States in the third class, unless circumstances such as age or illness or the having of children with them justified the extra expenditure for additional accommodations. A large number of Americans are now arriving from the continent convinced that, though they may be without means themselves, they have only to apply to the committee to receive first class passage to New York.

Will "Blow Up" Committee.

"When informed of the committee's inflexible rule, which is applied to all Americans impartially, no matter what may be their presumed social standing, they usually tell the committee that they will see to it immediately they arrive in New York that the committee gets blown up in the New York papers.

"Any American who wishes better accommodations than the third class provides may cable through the committee to his American friends for money, and if they advance it can travel on any scale he pleases, but when they refuse to cable, or declare they are without means of their own, under the committee's inflexible rule, subject only to such exceptions as I have stated, they will be given only third class fares.

"No less than thirteen different persons today threatened us with denunciation and exposure immediately upon their arrival in New York. One of them, a woman, was especially violent because we refused to stand for her bills at the Savoy hotel, a member of the committee having asked her to move to a moderate priced hotel."

"War Good Thing if Peace Follows;" Is This Ambassador Sharp's Faux Pas?

Interview in Paris Saying Such Would Be the Result Is What Startled Many and Started Gossip.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Sept. 14.—Quotations from the interview given by Ambassador Designate William G. Sharp to James Gordon Bennett, which, when immediately published in the Paris edition of the New York Herald, caused the censors to warn newspaper men against comment, are given herewith.

Although there appears to be nothing in the form of words or the meaning that should have caused anxiety on the part of the censors or to have stirred certain American residents here to anger, yet its appearance caused some talk and there was a disposition to "forget" that the interview had been delivered.

Mr. Sharp began by explaining that he was making himself familiar with the political situation and conditions of the moment, and so preparing himself to take over, at the proper time, the duties of American ambassador to France.

Gives Views on Peace.

In conclusion, he said, apropos of peace, that he himself was a member of several peace organizations, and continued:

"America believes the present war will complete the revulsion felt by the world toward warfare and that the world's public opinion will favor peace. Never will there have been a riper moment for some scheme of general disarmament."

He would like, he added, to see the United States partake in an epoch making treaty sealing international accord. Mr. Sharp was of the opinion that atrocious as the European conflagration is, "good will come out of it for all nations, whoever is victorious, provided Europe reaps lasting peace."

It is suggested here that possibly the last sentiment—"good will come out of it, whoever is victorious"—might have been displeasing to censors and others.

Says Herrick Mustn't Leave.

"War has upset many diplomatic and other precedents," he said also in the interview. "It is obvious that Mr. Herrick at this critical time could not desert his post. His knowledge and experience have been invaluable in dealing with the exceptional and trying situation created by the war."

Mr. Sharp said he had just conferred with Mr. Herrick, whom he complimented in the highest terms. He said he had found Mr. Herrick as popular in France as in America.

"An ambassador's first duty," Mr. Sharp continued, "is to maintain the friendliest relations between his own country and the country to which he is accredited. It is almost unnecessary to say that there will be no change in that policy with my assumption of the duties of ambassador.

Praises Nation and People.

"The friendship of the United States for France was never firmer than it is today. Personally I am a fervent admirer of France and of French art and culture. Probably no country in the world is more admired for the high degree of its civilization than is France. But it is my duty as a future representative of the United States to be absolutely neutral as regards everything concerning the present conflict.

"It cannot be too strongly stated that the United States will not swerve from its attitude of strict neutrality. The more impartial we remain the stronger will be our position, and the better to will be, indeed, for all of the belligerents when the time comes to discuss the conclusions of peace.

"I shall not be indiscreet if I voice the thought held by many persons that the rôle of the United States will be found to be most important at that moment."

Sees American Mediation.

The eventual mediation of America, Mr. Sharp continued, could scarcely be foreshadowed with greater clearness than by the recent offer made by President Wilson to all of the powers. That offer was timely, and although it could not be accepted it had the effect of setting men's minds to thinking.

"What nation," Mr. Sharp asked, "could be more fitted than the United States to lead the peace negotiations? Within our nation are amalgamataed all of the races now at war. Our sincerity is undoubted, and our natural position of neutrality and impartiality is such that America's voice would surely be heard at the opportune moment."

REPORT WAS CENSORED.

A cablegram was received last Friday from a prominent American in Paris complaining that Mr. Sharp's influence had been completely destroyed by an interview which had been censored by the government.

The digest of the interview above that passed through the hands of the censors contains practically nothing more than the usual amenities, but the cable story filed by the correspondent was heavily censored. It may be that the censors have eliminated parts of the interview they considered objectionable.

Apparently the state department has not heeded the reports that Mr. Sharp was indiscreet.

GERMAN CRUISER HELA SUNK.

British Submarine Boat Destroys Kaiser's Warship—Most of the Crew Saved.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, Sept. 14.—An official report from Berlin states that a British submarine yesterday sank the German cruiser Hela.

A majority of the crew was rescued, according to the report. The Hela ranks as a small protected cruiser, having a displacement of 2,040 tons and a complement of 178. Its equipment is four fifteen and one-half pounders, six six pounders, three on each side; two machine guns, one submerged torpedo tube in the bow, and two torpedo tubes above water, placed on either side, near the stern.

PELL MELL RUSH FROM PARIS TOLD BY MISS WILSON

She Finally Gets Train Packed With Belgian Refugees.

BY CAROLYN WILSON.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TRIBUNE.]

CLERMONT-FERRAND, Sept. 6.—I am in the busiest, noisiest, most hospitable town on earth, I think. It is running over with refugees, soldiers, wounded, and families from the west. And it expects to keep them all through the war.

It is in the very heart of France, in the Cevennes mountains, high up, cool and fresh. I hope you are better posted in geography than I am, but I had never heard of the place before and only stopped here in pure desperation.

Ordinarily it is a seven hour trip from Paris. It took me twenty-one.

I had stood in line the first of the week for four hours to get a place on the train—not a ticket, mind you, just a place. So that the evening of my departure, although the train left at 1 o'clock I was at the station promptly at 7 and even then at the end of a long line. We stood there for perhaps four hours until the gates were opened and then made a rush for the train.

To our surprise almost every compartment was already partly filled with children and women. There was not a place to be had in the first class and the third, too, was full. I crowded my way into a second class compartment, in which there were already eleven children ranging in age from 3 months to 14 years, three women and myself.

Train Was Jammed.

The French compartments, you know, run from one side of the train to the other and under ordinary circumstances accommodate ten people. The seats are so divided that five sit on one side and five facing. Imagine fifteen people! And it became worse, for a mother with two children cried so persistently to come in, saying that all the other carriages were full, that we let her in and stowed her away on the floor with five of the children.

Just before the train pulled out I went out and made a tour of the station, and at a conservative estimate there were 3,000 people sleeping there, piled up in corners, covering the stairs to the buffet, stretched out by sexes and by families. There was every color and every race—every race but Germans, anyway—and they were there to wait until there was a chance to get away.

Nearly All Belgians.

Before I left Paris I went over to the Circus with some clothes which I had gathered from various American friends leaving town. Housed in this great place were over 5,000 Belgians, women and little babies and old men. And they had hardly a stitch to their name.

And these were the poor, homeless souls who were in my compartment with me. Their clothes were a mixture of bravado and poverty. One wore a cloak that had evidently been to many operas when it was young, and another rather consciously supported a feather boa to hide the fact that she had no waist. Some of the skirts were of the vintage of '89, and many of the waists had been raked from the old family chests. But the poor creatures asked only to be covered; they were not demanding styles.

It would be impossible for me to describe to you the horror of that trip, the closeness, the smell, the uncleanness of that compartment. On one side were two women and five children, on mine there were two women and four children, and on the floor seated on my suitcase and bag, which were the only two stable pieces of baggage in the place, and lying over the floor were four children and a woman.

Fleas Co-Travelers?

The fleas were the boldest things I have ever seen. I had not been in the compartment a half hour when I brushed two off my hand at once. The dusty cushions harbored them equally with dust. But if fleas had been all!

The train crawled along, and at every station people hurled themselves eight or ten strong into the carriages trying to find a place, only to be repulsed. Veritable battles ensued at each station.

Naturally there was no sleep, and daylight found us only a little way outside of Paris. Our average speed was nine miles an hour—that is, counting in the waits at the stations.

I had supposed, of course, that it would be possible to get out at various stations along the line and get things to eat and had not bothered to incumber myself with food. But everywhere we got we found that train loads of soldiers—the final reserves, which had been ordered out the day before—had just been through and eaten everything. So I went from 7 in the evening until 8 the next evening without anything to eat save a peach, which a woman in the station at Giens gave me, and a drink of red wine which one of the women in the compartment offered me. The people in the compartment had some sour bread and some vile smelling cheese and some wine and a great deal of milk for the children, most of which managed to get on the floor and attracted every fly on the route, I believe.

Finds Hotels Full.

Finally we arrived at Clermont Ferrand just after 8 in the evening. My ticket read to Nimes, twenty hours distant. But I hadn't the courage to go on. A porter hurried me over to the Hotel Terminus, dropped my bags, and fled with my tip. For the Terminus was full, as was every other hotel in the place. I went from place to place with my bags begging them for a room. But everything was full. The government had sent 4,000 refugees from the north, and especially from the west, Nancy and that country, to them for Clermont Ferrand is in the midst of strong unassailable mountains and there are many manufactories where the refugees may busy themselves.

So, as you may imagine, there were no extra hotel rooms to spare. I deposited my bags with a friendly café keeper and sat down to dinner, too disturbed to eat it, for I didn't relish the thought of sitting on a curb stone all night, and one was not allowed to go in the station.

After dinner, slightly encouraged, I started again looking to see if I could find any rooms in a private house. I tried about ten, and was on my way back to the restaurant despairing, when a woman heard me asking a fellow passenger on the train about a place to go. Catching the hint of tears in my voice, she said: "You are English, aren't you? Won't you come home and stay with me?"

I fell on her neck and wept. It is a big house on the side of the mountain and looks over a range of a dozen more.

And there is a charming hostess and her three daughters, all of whom speak English. And she has shown me the pictures of her seven sons, all of whom are in the war.

One last confession. They ask me always, "Are you English?" And I have not the heart to say no to them, for they love the English so, and it is a real pleasure for them to serve them. And then they say, with a friendly pressure of the hand, "And for what English paper are you a correspondent?" And because they are simple folk and never question, and because they so desire that I be thoroughly English, I always answer, to their complete satisfaction, "The Bingville Bugle." It may be treachery to THE TRIBUNE, but it gets me favors and smiles and kindness, and that is what I need just now.

PEACE IN WORLD OBJECT IN VIEW OF BELASCO PLAY

Spectacle Being Prepared as Final Argument to Put End to Wars.

CARNEGIE THE BACKER

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—David Belasco, with the assistance of C. R. Macauley, the novelist, is preparing for stage representation a symbolical spectacle called "The Prince of Peace," which, it is hoped, will visualize a final argument in behalf of universal peace.

Although the initial preparations were really begun several months before the outbreak of the present conflict, the events of the last month or so have given the enterprise special significance.

Statement by Belasco.

According to a statement issued today from the offices of Mr. Belasco, the production is a project evolved by Andrew Carnegie and Mr. Belasco to bring about peace between the warring powers. Mr. Belasco said:

"In 'The Prince of Peace' the history of the world will be epitomized and unfolded in a series of stage pictures that will be realistic in their revelations of bloodshed, of tyranny, of selfishness, and of the tragic misery and devastation following in the train of wars.

Cartanhilus on Stage.

"The drama shows Christ as the first apostle of peace and is woven together and made appealingly human by the use of the character in legendary lore of Cartanhilus, the Roman keeper for Pilate, who struck Jesus as he came out of the hall of judgment.

"Therefore this grim character is made the Dante that wanders with majestic sadness through the world, the philosophic observer of all that transpires in the centuries down which he travels."

OFFICIAL REPORT SHOWS MOVEMENTS OF BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE.

BRITISH OFFICE DESCRIBES WORK OF ITS TROOPS

Statement Shows How Germans Were Stopped on Advance and Made to Retire.

TELLS OF MANY FIGHTS

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Important details of the operations of the British army in France are contained in a report which the war office issued this afternoon.

When the German army began its eastward movement to cut the French center, according to Gen. French, it was ignoring the British as a factor in the fight. The allies began a general advance on Sept. 7 against the German rear guard of their right wing, which had been left along the River Ourcq. The British army was reinforced. The Germans began a retirement on their right on the 7th. It was the first time they had turned back since the battle of Mons.

According to letters found on prisoners, they had expected to enter Paris in a few days. The order to retreat was a bitter disappointment. The British crossed the River Marne on the 9th with the French, and on the 10th captured 1,500 men, four great guns, six machine guns, and fifty transport wagons.

The Germans of the right army seemed demoralized. They were without food and surrendered readily. The continued advance, Gen. French says, has delighted the troops.

Text of Statement Issued.

Following is the statement as issued by the official press bureau:

"The following report is compiled from information sent from the headquarters of Field Marshal Sir John French, commander in chief of the British expeditionary forces on the continent, under date of Sept. 11. This account carries the operations from the 4th to the 10th of September, both days inclusive.

"It will be remembered that the general position of our troops on Sunday, Sept. 6, was stated to be south of the River Marne, with the French forces in line on our right and left. Practically there had been no change since Saturday, Sept. 3, which marked the end of our army's long retirement from the Belgian frontier through northern France.

Change in German Tactics.

"On Friday, Sept. 4, it became apparent that there was an alteration in the advance of almost the whole of the first German army. That army, since the battle near Mons on Aug. 23, had been playing its part in a colossal strategic endeavor to create a Sedan for the allies by outflanking and enveloping the left of their whole line so as to encircle and drive both the British and French to the south.

"There was now a change in its objective, and it was observed that the German forces opposite the British were beginning to move in a southeasterly direction, instead of continuing southwest on to the capital, leaving a strong rear guard along the line of the River Ourcq, which flows south of and joins the Marne at Lizy-sur-Ourcq, to keep off the French sixth army, which by then had been formed and was to the northwest of Paris.

"They were evidently executing what amounted to a flank march diagonally across our front.

"Prepared to ignore the British as being driven out of the fight, they were initiating an effort to attack the left flank of the main French army, which stretched in a long curved line from our right towards the east, and so to carry out against it alone an envelopment which so far had failed against the combined forces of the allies.

"On Saturday, the 5th, this movement on the part of the Germans was continued and large advance parties crossed the Marne southward at Trilport, Sammeron, La Ferte-Sous-Jouarre, and Chateau Thierry. There was considerable fighting with the French fifth army on the French left, which fell back from its position south of the Marne towards the Seine.

"On Sunday large hostile forces crossed the Marne and pushed on through Coulommiers and past the British right further to the east. They were attacked at night by the French fifth army, which captured three villages at the point of bayonets.

Advance of Allies Begun.

"On Monday, Sept. 7, there was a general advance on the part of the allies. In this quarter of the field our forces, which had now been reinforced, pushed on in a northeasterly direction in cooperation with the advance of the French fifth army to the north and of the French sixth army to the eastward against the German rear guard along the river Ourcq.

"Possibly weakened by the detachment of troops to the eastern theater of operations and realizing that the action of the French sixth army against the line of Ourcq and the advance of the British placed their own flanking movement in considerable danger of being taken in the rear and on its flank, the Germans on this day commenced to retire towards the northeast.

"This was the first sign that these troops had turned back since their attack on Mons a fortnight before, and from reports received the order to retreat when so close to Paris was a bitter disappointment. From letters found on dead soldiers there is no doubt there was a general impression amongst the enemy's troops that they were about to enter Paris.

Hand to Hand Fighting.

"On Tuesday, Sept. 8, the German movement northeastward was continued. Their rear guards on the south of the Marne were being pressed back to that river by our troops and by the French on our right, the latter capturing three villages after a hand to hand fight and the infliction of severe loss on the enemy.

"The fighting along the Ourcq continued on this day and was of the most sanguinary character, for the Germans had massed a great force of artillery along this line. Few of their infantry were seen by the French.

"The French Fifth army also made a fierce attack on the Germans in Montmirail, regaining that place.

"On Wednesday, Sept. 9, the battle between the French sixth army and what was now the German flank guard along the Ourcq continued.

British Take Up Pursuit.

"The British corps, overcoming some resistance on the River Petit Morin, crossed the Marne in pursuit of the Germans, who now were hastily retreating northward. One of our corps was delayed by an obstinate defense made by a strong rear guard with machine guns at La Ferte-Sous-Jouarre, where the bridge had been destroyed.

"On Thursday, Sept. 10, the French sixth army continued its pressure on the west, while the fifth army, by forced marches, reached the line of Chateau Thierry and Dormans on the Marne. Our troops also continued the pursuit on the north of the latter river, and after a considerable amount of fighting captured some 1,500 prisoners, four guns, six machine guns, and fifty transport wagons.

"Many of the enemy were killed or wounded and the numerous thick woods which dot the country north of the Marne are filled with German stragglers. Most of them appeared to have been without food for at least two days.

Germans Eager to Surrender.

"Indeed, in this area of the operations the Germans seemed to be demoralized and inclined to surrender in small parties, and the general situation appears to be most favorable to the allies.

"Much brutal and senseless damage has been done in the villages occupied by the enemy. Property has been wantonly destroyed. Pictures in châteaus have been ripped up and houses generally have been pillaged.

"It is stated on unimpeachable authority also that the inhabitants have been illtreated.

"Interesting incidents have occurred during the fighting. On Sept. 10 part of our Second army corps advanced into the north and found itself marching parallel with another infantry force at some little distance away. At first it was thought this was another British unit. After some time, however, it was discovered that it was a body of Germans retreating.

Germans Caught in Trap.

"Measures promptly were taken to head off the enemy, who were surrounded and trapped in a sunken road, where over 400 men surrendered.

"On Sept. 10 a small party under a noncommissioned officer was cut off and surrounded. After a desperate resistance it was decided to go on fighting to the end. Finally the noncommissioned officer and one man only were left, both of them being wounded.

"The Germans came up and shouted to them: 'Lay down your arms!' The German commander, however, signed to them to keep their arms and then asked permission to shake hands with the wounded noncommissioned officer, who was carried off on his stretcher with his rifle by his side.

"The arrival of reinforcements and the continued advance have delighted our troops, who are full of zeal and anxious to press on.

"One of the features of the campaign on our side has been the success obtained by the Royal Flying corps.

Praise to British Aviators.

"It is impossible either to award too much praise to our aviators for the way they have carried out their duties or to overestimate the value of the intelligence collected, more especially during the recent advance.

"That the services of our flying corps, which has really been on trial, are fully appreciated by our allies is shown by the following message from the commander-in-chief of the French armies received Sept. 9 by Field Marshal Lord Kitchener:

"'Please express most particularly to Marshal French my thanks for the services given on every day by the English flying corps. The precision, exactitude, and regularity of the news brought in by its members are evidence of their perfect organization, and also of the perfect training of the pilots and the observers.'

"To give a rough idea of the amount of work carried out it is sufficient to mention that during a period of twenty days up to the 10th of September a daily average of more than nine reconnaissance flights of over 100 miles each has been maintained.

Many Purposes in View.

"The constant object of our aviators has been to effect an accurate location of the enemy's forces, and, incidentally, since the operations cover so large an area, of our own units.

"Nevertheless, the tactics adopted for dealing with hostile air craft are to attack them instantly with one or more British machines. This has been so far successful that in five cases German pilots or observers have been shot while in the air and their machines brought to ground. As a consequence the British flying corps has succeeded in establishing an individual ascendancy which is as serviceable to us as it is damaging to the enemy.

"Bomb dropping has not been indulged in to any great extent. On one occasion a petrol bomb was exploded in a German bivouac at night, while from a diary found on a dead German cavalry soldier it has been discovered that a high explosive bomb thrown at a cavalry column from one of our aeroplanes struck an ammunition wagon, resulting in an explosion which killed fifteen of the enemy."

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—The American Red Cross today appealed to all religious denominations throughout the country to contribute to the European relief fund, in houses of worship on Peace Sunday, Oct. 4, the day set apart by President Wilson for special prayers. GERMAN ATROCITIES NOT CONFIRMED, SAYS ASQUITH.

Asserts Inquiry Is On and American Envoys Will Be Asked to Publish Full Facts.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Premier Asquith told the house of commons today that no official information had reached the ministry of war concerning the repeated stories that German soldiers had abused the Red Cross flag, killed and maimed the wounded, and killed women and children as had been alleged so often in stories of the battlefields.

He added that this subject was under consideration and that an inquiry was being made.

He assented to the suggestion made that, with the view of securing greater credence of any reports on the subject which the British government might issue, the American embassy and consulate would be communicated with with the object to getting them to publish the full facts.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Sir Edward Grey has caused the following categorical denial of the German charge that dumdum bullets were used by British and French troops to be published in Holland.

"His majesty's government declares publicly and officially that the statement made by the German general staff to the effect that dumdum bullets were found on French and English prisoners is entirely untrue.

"Neither the British nor French army has in its possession or has issued any but the approved patterns of rifle and revolver ammunition, which do not infringe in any respect on the provision of The Hague convention.

METHODISTS IN GERMANY MAY CLOSE THEIR CHURCHES

Some Will Have to Be Sold to Meet Obligations — Members Crushed by Heavy War Burdens.

New York, Sept. 14.—Methodist congregations in Germany are facing the necessity of closing the doors of their churches and, in a great many instances, selling their property for whatever it will bring, owing to their inability to meet financial obligations.

This information came in a letter received today at the home office of the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church from Bishop John L. Nuelson, who is in charge of the church work in Europe.

The members of the German congregations, Bishop Nuelson wrote, are crushed by the heavy burdens imposed upon them by the war, and great suffering is anticipated among the families of some of those who have fallen in battle.

Today, in the world's greatest clothing store, one finds a better stock, a bigger stock, and a finer stock. Today, one sees that "nothing succeeds like success," and that this great institution has again moved upward and forward in its status.

To make its service finer, its co-operation keener, and its merchandise more worthy has been our unceasing determination. To bring that determination to a successful completion has been no easy task.

To improve where there has apparently been "no room for improvement" has required, besides determination, a steadfast sincerity of purpose.

That we have succeeded in our unceasing ambition is of more than passing interest to you. That there exists in this community the largest clothing store in the world is naturally a matter for pride.

But more specifically it is of deep interest to you—for you are a man who appreciates that, scoff as one may, clothes DO count.

As the curtain rises on our initial displays you will see that EVERY fine maker of good clothes in ALL America "has put his best foot forward" in our displays.

You will see that we do not believe that any ONE maker in America excels in ALL things or that any ONE designer is best for ALL styles.

You will see that we appreciate your business and that we are earnestly striving to express that appreciation in deed rather than words.

You are invited—sincerely—to pay us a visit today. Not necessarily to BUY (for that is an optional matter) but to let us prove our superiority.

TOURIST ONCE HELD AS SPY TELLS EUROPEAN WAR THRILLS.

CHICAGOAN BACK FROM CAMPS OF WARRING ARMIES

Meyer Moss Gives Pictures of Embattled French, Germans, Belgians, British.

HEARD ROAR OF CANNON

Meyer H. Moss and his wife returned home yesterday from Europe. As the train rolled into Chicago they drew the first breath of relief they had felt in the last six weeks.

There were many people at the depot and many at the Lakota hotel, where they are stopping, who wanted to know all about the trip—so Mr. Moss came down to THE TRIBUNE office and related the story for their benefit.

It starts on Aug. 1, with Moss and his wife on a train bound from Strassburg, Germany, to Basel, Switzerland. The Germans are mobilizing.

Thrown Off Train.

"We were thrown off the train at Mulhausen," Mr. Moss said, "and the Germans then tore up all the railroad tracks back of us, and to the east and west.

"I was arrested as a spy. I showed my passport with my picture on it, and after a time was released, and allowed to proceed. We took another train to St. Ludwig, which is just inside the German border, and walked three miles to Basel.

"The night we slept at Muelhausen we could hear the guns. The German cannon, twelve miles away, shook the hotel in which we were. And after an hour's cannonade, the gatling guns commenced. My wife was frightened, but I told her it was only practice.

Swiss Care for Wounded.

"The next day the wounded French and Germans poured into the city—and they crept into Basel, too. And the Swiss people took care of them, quartered them in the churches and the art galleries.

"At Boulogne I saw 2,000 wounded British. So we crossed the channel to Folkestone and went to London.

"The English soldier doesn't know why he is fighting, nor the French, nor the German, nor any other soldier. I asked them all, and of all the soldiers I saw I pitied most the French.

"Every other soldier of France is dressed different. They are starved. On our way to Paris when the soldiers were turning our train the other way my wife sat down on the steps at the train station in Macon to eat a sandwich of brown bread and sausage. A French sergeant took on so pitiably she gave him the sandwich.

Illinoisan in Army.

"Perhaps the most interesting thing in the trip was the story told me by Alois Van Nieuwenhausen, whose name translated means 'Newhouse.'

"Newhouse is a Belgian who has been in this country three years. He lives at North Grace street, Kewanee, Ill. He gone to Belgium to buy blooded horses for D. K. Roth of Gibson City, Ill. Well, the war broke out while he was there and they took his horses away from him and sent him to the front. He saw much fighting at Liege and on Aug. 18 was in an encounter with the Germans between Diest and Haelen. The Germans, outnumbering the small Belgian army, drove the defenders back to Louvain.

"Newhouse fell down and went to sleep just outside Louvain, in a barn. When he woke up he discovered he was bleeding from his left thigh. He had been shot. He was then sent to a hospital at Lier and on Aug. 27 was discharged and sent home. He gave me one of his spurs and a button from his uniform as souvenirs.

Americans He Met Abroad.

"Some of the Americans who were with us at different times are: Rabbi Emil Hirsch and wife; A. Stein of A. Stein & Co. and his wife and daughter; Mrs. E. Stonehill, Joseph Beifeld of the Hotel Sherman, Max Falk of Falk, Wormser & Co., Dr. John C. Binkley, Dr. I. Lange, Ferdinand Grote of Evansville, Ind.; Dr. W. H. Welch of Johns Hopkins university, and W. B. Flickinger of Erie, Pa."

Sees Bombs Fall on Paris.

Harry B. Lachmann, a Chicago artist who is now in Paris, tells a vivid story of the bombardment of Paris by German aeroplanes in a letter received by his sister, Miss Grace Lachmann, 1200 West Thirty-fifth street.

"Can this be called war," he asks, "when helpless women and children are exposed to the enemy's fire?"

The letter in part follows:

"I have just seen at close range the German aero tactics over Paris. While at the home of an American this afternoon we suddenly heard a terrific explosion. Running to the front window, we saw a German aeroplane flying almost directly over our heads. By this time hundreds of rifle shots could be heard; then another explosion made by a bomb dropped from an aeroplane, this time quite close to us.

"Suddenly, a French aero with a gun mounted on it appeared. A puff of smoke came from it and then we heard the report. The German machine started to rise and flew out of sight. We found two women injured by the bombs and took them to a hospital."

Says Drink Causes Atrocities.

A new theory of the alleged German atrocities in Belgium is set forth by Seward T. Collins, formerly a Chicago cartoonist, in a letter to his father, S. T. Collins, cashier of the Oakwoods bank. Mr. Collins is in London.

"The Germans," he says, "have ransacked the wine cellars of the houses, and as they are not used to anything but beer and Rhine wines, they drain the Burgundies and brandies and go mad with it.

"I have heard from first hand of the most awful barbarisms on their part. Today I met a trained nurse who has just returned, who told me they were murdering the Red Cross nurses with the armies. I met an Englishman who had his young wife dragged from him and outraged by drunken officers, from the effects of which she died."

CURTIS A. GUNN, GAMESTER, DIES

Old School Gambler, Who Won and Lost Fortunes, Leaves Little.

STOCKS HIS UNDOING.

Curtis A Gunn, one of the last of the old school gamblers, died yesterday at his home, 4119 Drexel boulevard. He had suffered from Bright's disease for a long time.

"Curt," as he was familiarly known to the old timers, began taking chances at the tracks soon after his arrival in Chicago in 1866, and won and lost hundreds of thousands of dollars. He quit staking his money on horses about five years ago and turned to Wall street. While his friends generally estimated his estate at $500,000, his widow, Kittie Newcombe Gunn, said he had lost heavily in speculating lately, and she didn't believe he left much in worldly possessions.

Never Spurned Comrade.

Gunn was commonly referred to as one of the "cleanest" sporting men in the world, and never turned away a former comrade who went down and out. He was an expert whist player, and in his youth one of the leading amateur billiard players, but was more widely known for his freak bets.

He was known to stake $25,000 on the turn of a card, carried a thousand or more currency in his pockets at all times, and would risk all of it on most anything. On several occasions he went to London to play in bridge whist matches, and his friends assert the stakes at times amounted to $100,000.

Ran Early Faro Games.

Gunn and "Cy" Janes years ago were associated in faro games in Chicago, New York, and Saratoga. They were competitors of "Pat" Sheedy and "Mike" McDonald.

Gunn was quiet in disposition, as well as dress, and one of the last men in the world to be suspected of being a professional gambler. He had few intimates. He was 71 years old. He is survived only by his widow.

MRS. WILSON'S LAST WISH FULFILLED BY CONGRESS.

Bill to Wipe Out Alley Slums in Washington Sent to President for His Signature.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson's dying wish that congress abolish the alley slums in the national capital was fulfilled today when the house passed the senate bill which prohibits the use of dwelling houses in Washington alleys after four years from the date of the legislation. The bill now goes to the president for his signature.

A few hours before Mrs. Wilson died she told the president that she could "go away" happier if she knew the alley slums would be wiped out. Word was sent to the capital, and the house district committee promptly reported a bill carrying a large appropriation to clear the slums.

The house did not pass the measure as reported because of constitutional objections.

The senate, however, passed another bill carrying out an old act providing for the reform desired.

AUTHOR AMBROSE BIERCE VANISHES, LOST IN MEXICO.

State and War Departments Order Search for Journalist Who Disappears Near Scene of Battle.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Search is being made by the state and war departments for Ambrose Bierce, the author and journalist, who has been missing in Mexico for more than eight months.

Mr. Bierce, who is 72, has made his home in Washington in recent years. Last fall he went to Mexico to gather material for literary work. His friends here last heard from him from Chihuahua in December, 1913, at about the time a battle between the Federals and Constitutionalists was impending in that vicinity.

On Sept. 10 Herbert A. Meyer, private secretary to Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, forwarded to the state department an inquiry concerning the whereabouts of Mr. Bierce. The state department telegraphed John R. Silliman, an American consular officer in Mexico, to institute a search.

Secretary of War Garrison also cabled instructions to Gen. Funston and other American army officers in Mexico to assist in the search. Nothing has been heard so far of the progress of the inquiry.

CITY MARKET MEN ASK SCHOOL BOARD FOR SITES.

If Action Tomorrow Is Favorable Two Municipal Trading Places Will Open on Monday.

Authority to use the abandoned Goldsmith and Washington school sites for municipal markets was requested of the board of education yesterday by the city markets commission. In case the board acts favorably on the request at its meeting tomorrow the two markets will be opened simultaneously on Monday morning, according to Chairman James H. Lawley.

The markets commission yesterday issued an appeal for the coöperation of the producers.

"The Chicago municipal markets commission," the appeal says, "will within a very short time establish two city farmers and producers' markets in the city of Chicago. All truck gardeners, farmers, and producers desiring to sell farm produce and food products of any sort to the consumer at the proposed public markets are requested to send in their names and addresses to Frederick Rex, secretary, 1005 city hall, and suitable space will be allotted to such farmers and producers in these public markets. No license fee will be required, and space in the public markets will be furnished free to truck gardeners, farmers, and producers."

Wilson Jumps Onto Observation Platform When Cars Are Leaving Station at Springfield.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 14.—President Wilson was forced to jump aboard a moving train to keep from being left at Greenfield tonight on his return trip from Cornish, N. H., to Washington. He left his car to walk on the station platform, and the train started before he climbed aboard. He caught hold of the hand rail and jumped onto the observation platform, aided by Secret Service Operative Sloan.

Foreign Mails Move Slowly.

Perry Stevenson, first assistant in the local office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, received four letters from his father yesterday. The latter is a pastor in Washington, D. C. All of the letters had been posted in Joppa, Palestine. They were dated July 14, July 30, Aug. 10, and Aug. 24, nevertheless they all arrived in Chicago the same day.

Education Officials Fix 17 Instead of 16 Credits to Graduate.

INCREASE IN STUDIES.

The standard of the public high schools of Chicago was sent up a notch yesterday when Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, and the high school principals decided to demand seventeen high school credits for graduation. In the past only sixteen credits have been required.

Students who are now seniors will be allowed to graduate on sixteen credits. Those in the present junior class will be required to have sixteen and one-half credits. After that all classes will be required to have seventeen credits.

More Studies to Be Included.

Mrs. Young said that several studies considered important will now be included in high school courses. Other important studies, such as mathematics and science, will be given five times a week instead of four times.

A course in Swedish will be established at the Englewood High school at the request of forty-two students. Carl O. Sundstrom, who formerly taught Swedish at the Lake View High school, will teach the class. A conference between Mrs. Young and F. A. Pezet, minister to the United States from Peru, has been arranged by John T. Lenfestey

1,700 More Pupils in Schools.

Accommodations for more than 1,700 children have been made since the opening of schools a week ago. Thirty-eight additional rooms have been opened. The schools of Evanston, Winnetka, and Glencoe and some of the departments of Northwestern university opened yesterday.

A number of instructors were caught in Europe at the opening of the war, but most of them had returned. H. H. Kingsley, superintendent of school district No. 75 of Evanston, was absent. He is reported to have sailed from Naples last Thursday. Three other teachers from the district and four from district No. 76, who had been in Europe during the summer, were in their places yesterday. Mrs. Carrie Goodchild, principal of the Greeley school of Winnetka, returned from Europe in time for the opening of schools.

CHARITIES ASKS $90,000 FOR FALL; $10,000 AT ONCE

Winter Will Call on Chicagoans for $200,000 More to Relieve Poor.

NEW GIFTS ARE NEEDED

A tentative budget of the United Charities prepared by Eugene T. Lies, general superintendent, was given out today, showing that at least $90,000 will be needed to care for the poor coming to the organization between this date and Jan. 1.

A fair part of this sum will be made up by subscriptions falling due in October, November, and December, and from regular contributions which it is expected will be repeated this year. It is stated, however, that beyond this many new contributions are needed, as well as increased gifts from regular givers.

It will take nearly $200,000 to continue to help the poor through the coming winter up to and including March. The fiscal year of the United Charities ends Sept. 30, and a desperate effort is being made by Charles W. Folds, chairman of the finance committee, to see the present year through without going further into debt.

$10,000 for September.

A special effort is being made by the finance committee to raise for immediate use $10,000. This sum, it is said, would see the society through the present month.

The United Charities yesterday directed an appeal to the Women's clubs of Chicago to support the plan of a voluntary war tax on luxuries as an aid to charity, advanced in THE TRIBUNE. The plea was directed to the secretary of nearly every woman's club, urging the organization to take active part in forming committees in every part of the city to promote the scheme.

In the meantime commendatory letters and some contributions are being received by the United Charities, evidently inspired by the example set by Mrs. Henry M. Hubbard of Lake Forest.

Many Advance Gifts.

Several large subscribers whose gifts usually are due late in the year advanced their gifts yesterday several months to help out in the present emergency, according to Mr. Lies.

The proposal to donate grand opera subscriptions to the United Charities received decided impetus today when a north shore society woman, who refused to permit her name being used, sent a check to David R. Forgan, treasurer of the United Charities, for $45, the amount of her subscription. She expressed the wish that others would do likewise.

KOHLSAAT HALTS UTILITIES TRACK ELEVATION ORDER.

Directs Receiver Insull to Ignore State Order Pending Outcome of Suit to Be Filed.

An order issued by Federal Judge Kohlsaat and entered in the United States District court yesterday authorizes Samuel Insull, receiver for the Chicago and Oak Park Elevated railroad, to disregard an order of the state public utilities commission to elevate the road's tracks. The order holds there should be a judicial inquiry into the validity of the ruling. This means the elevated will not act until after the proposed suit of the utilities commission, which is expected to be filed this week.

PETRAS VENIRE GOES QUICK.

Judge Excuses 102 of 112 Who Say They Have Formed Opinion.

Geneva, Ill., Sept. 14.—Choosing a jury for the second trial of Anthony Petras, charged with having clubbed Theresa Hollander to death in a lonely cemetery last winter, promises an almost impossible task. When the retrial began today 102 of the venire of 112 said they had formed an opinion as to Petras' guilt and were excused by Judge Carnes in a body. Counsel for Petras offered to accept a change of venue to Cook county if the state would release his client on bail, but the offer was refused by the prosecution. A new venire was ordered for 100 more men from the farming districts, to be in court tomorrow morning.

CALLS ENGLAND IN UNJUST WAR

Hardie, Socialist Member of British Parliament, Terms Conflict Unwarranted.

SEES RUSSIA GAINER.

That Great Britain had no justification for declaring war on Germany is the charge made by Keir Hardie, the socialist member of parliament and leader of the Independent Labor party of England. He makes this charge in a signed article in the Labor Leader, a weekly socialist journal, the latest issue of which has reached Chicago.

Keir Hardie's arraignment of the British government reads in part:

"Speaking for the moment for myself I repeat, what will be universally acknowledged twelve months hence, that we are in this war without justification, reason, or excuse.

"Let anybody take a map of Europe and look at the position of Germany: On the one side Russia with her millions of trained soldiers and unlimited population to draw upon; on the other side France, smarting under her defeat and the loss of her two provinces, Alsace and Lorraine, in 1870.

"For a number of years past these two militarisms have had a close and cordial alliance. What was it that brought the czardom of Russia into alliance with the free republic of France? One object, and one alone, to crush Germany between them. German armaments, and the German navy, were primarily intended to protect herself and her interests against these two open enemies.

"I don't write these lines in order to say that we should now withdraw from the conflict. That is clearly an impossibility at present.

"When the war is over it will be Russia that will carry the laurels, and, probably, a good installment of German militarism will have become part of our own national institutions."

KILL ITALIAN AFTER THREAT

Two Men Stab Vetto Magogoni to Death in Street.

ASSAILANTS GET AWAY.

Slaying Follows Refusal of Sister to Heed Blackmail Letters.

Vetto Magogoni of 2305 West Ohio street, whose sister had received three letters containing threats to slay the whole family unless a certain sum of money was left in Lincoln park, was stabbed fatally last night by two unidentified Italians at West Ohio street and North Oakley avenue.

Marietta Montaldano, 5 years old, a niece of the victim, was walking with her uncle when he was stabbed in the back and in the abdomen by the men. One of the latter slapped the child in the face, knocking her down, a moment after Magogoni was stabbed. The Italians fled south in Oakley avenue and escaped. They were seen running away by C. J. Sullivan, 4755 Sheridan road, and J. Neveln, 4422 Sheridan road, who were passing.

Dies at County Hospital.

The police of the West Chicago avenue station took Magogoni in a dying condition to the county hospital, where he died half an hour later.

The police are working on two theories. The first is that the murder was a warning to Mrs. Sadie Montaldano, owner of a grocery store at West Oak street and Milton avenue, who had received the blackmail letters. The second is that Magogoni was stabbed to death by the husband and a friend of an Italian woman who formerly had been the fiancée of Magogoni.

Suspected by Husband.

Magogoni, the police were told, had been suspected by the husband of his former fiancée of being too friendly with her since her marriage, and both men had made threats to kill the other.

The murderers were described as being about 25 years old and wore dark suits and soft hats.

Mrs. Magogoni, the widow, is a fortune teller.

"THAT WILD AND STRANGE THING."

Dipping into the future and making large plans, as is his wont, H. G. Wells is serving notice on society that means must be found of shackling or controlling "that wild and strange thing, the press."

Evidently Mr. Wells, in spite of his constant appeals to broad and high liberal principles, is not in the least disturbed by the foolish and even dangerous antics of the censors; he seems to want even more rigorous censorship, and he would not limit it to war times. He contemplates a sort of government monopoly of the press or at least a strict regulation and supervision of the press.

The remarkable thing is that Mr. Wells forgets that control of the press has been attempted and long maintained in the name not of liberalism but of tyranny. Everybody hopes that Russia will relax its control of the press after the war under the influence of her liberal allies, yet here comes Mr. Wells and favors control of "the strange wild thing" in the name of civilization and liberalism! What topsy-turvydom! Have the Russian reactionaries captured Mr. Wells?

The press has its troubles with sensation-mongers and fakers, but the remedy of governmental control or official monopoly would be strange and wild indeed.

EUGENICS (MIS) APPLIED IN POLITICS.

Our voluble vice president will have his little joke. The nomination of Roger Sullivan for senator by the people he humorously calls "eugenic," on the theory that if the direct primary is a good thing, its results must be the best possible.

The Illinois Democrats, as it happened, made no mistake in this instance, but that the direct primary is not "eugenic," and that it does not always guarantee the best possible results, is shown by the nomination of McDermott for the house in the Fourth Illinois district. No doubt Mr. McDermott would embrace the eugenic theory with ardor to escape a congressional investigation, but investigations are also "eugenic." The people may make mistakes, and there is such a thing as apathy in the wrong quarter or at the wrong time. We have high authority for the statement that the people cannot be fooled all the time, but none for any claim of popular infallibility. An election does not vindicate where charges of corruption or dishonesty or violation of law are pending; an election does not make the people the final judges of the qualifications of members of congress. Only political controversies are closed by direct primaries and elections, not legal or moral.

MAETERLINCK ON THE SCOURGE OF WAR.

Forgetting that one cannot indict a nation, Maeterlinck, the poet and philosopher, has undertaken to "weigh guilt" and has tried and condemned the whole German people. He blames the essential spirit of Germany for the present war and advocates the destruction or taming of that spirit.

The Maeterlinck version of the war story would be tragic and hopeless if it were true, but fortunately it is not true. As a judge and analyzer of evidence our Belgian poet is a failure. There is not a scrap of evidence that the German people wanted the war, whatever may be thought of the actions of the military element and the autocratic government. The people, including their intellectual, religious, and moral leaders, believe that their government was driven to fight by Russian aggression and British jealousy and fear. Had there been time for reflection and better machinery for the mobilization of public opinion, the real and true spirit of the nation would have asserted itself. It is noteworthy that Maeterlinck says nothing about governmental and diplomatic machinery—he doubtless underestimates its importance. That is why he has indicted the wrong parties.

No, it will not be necessary to destroy or tame the spirit of the whole German people; that spirit is no menace to liberty and to civilization. The war should lead to the liberation of that spirit and the curbing of autocracy and irresponsible power.

THE GIRLS' SHARE.

Among the first Americans to be hit by the European war, according to dispatches from New York, are the girl workers in the so-called better trades. With international commerce at a standstill, hundreds and possibly thousands of clerks, stenographers, cashiers, who were employed by importing and exporting firms, find themselves out of work. Many of the large mills throughout the New England states were compelled to reduce their office forces, thus bringing woe and desolation into the lives of many self-supporting women.

To alleviate the distress of these women, wrenched out of their positions by the unseen hand of the war god, the girl workers of New York who are members of the Vacation Savings funds and are fortunate enough to have jobs have imposed upon themselves a tax of $1 a week. With the funds raised by this tax a shop will be set up for the manufacture of bandages and other articles needful in hospitals and which can be sent to the seat of war to be used for the relief of wounded soldiers. Those girls having no family or friends and no resources will be employed at this work and paid a wage that will at least keep them from starving.

It is not likely that the brave offer of the New York working girls to deduct $1 a week from their meager earnings—for it is only girls who earn small wages that belong to the Vacation Savings fund—will go far toward meeting this critical situation. It is, however, an excellent means of calling attention to the working girls' plight in this war tragedy. It ought to have the effect of stimulating interest in the lot of the unemployed woman no less than of the man.

SIGNIFICANT TALK OF PEACE.

While this or that particular peace or mediation move may prove premature, the turning of the world's thought to peace is by no means premature. On the contrary, it is a most encouraging fact that the world actually is turning to thoughts and discussion of mediation and peace.

To be sure, we have such vehement disclaimers and uncompromising utterances as those of Churchill, the young head of the British admiralty, and we have demands and plans for an English army of a million fighting men. But such things are natural and even necessary in a sense. The time has not come for either of the belligerent combinations to entertain thoughts of capitulation or surrender. The very talk in official quarters of war to the bitter end may indirectly aid the cause of peace. What matters is the unmistakable circumstance that in many circles and from many points of view one now hears that, in the words of the leading Russian anti-German publicist, Menshikoff, the war is half over, or even more than half over. Bankers, brokers, merchants, newspaper correspondents, impartial commentators feel somehow that the war will be much shorter than was anticipated a few weeks ago, and that peace is or soon will be "in the air."

The feeling is not strange. Neither side is beaten, and neither side has been humiliated or dishonored. The allies were not routed or beaten when the Germans were almost within sight of the gates of Paris; they had to retreat, but they had not sustained a single disastrous reverse. Exactly the same thing is true of the retreating Germans; they are not beaten and they have not suffered any demoralizing reverse; they simply have not succeeded in carrying out their original plans; they have not accomplished a military miracle. When no Germans are left on French or Belgian soil, if not even sooner, the time for suspending hostilities and initiating peace negotiations will have come. It is idle to regard this war as one of extermination; it is the product of blunders and panics, and the return of common sense and sobriety should suggest to all the necessity and wisdom of making peace on moderate terms. To this consummation every person of right feeling should contribute by deprecating chauvinism and the passion and truculence born of chauvinism. Civilization needs Germanic as well as English, French, and Slav culture. The nations at war will have to live as good neighbors and friends, and the sooner they turn to peace the less difficult it will be for any one of them to live down the wicked and insensate war.

PLAY AND THE FARM.

The farm is not without its recreational problems. While in the congested cities a great part of the play question resolves itself into a want of space, yet space alone does not make for amusement. The child on a farm, having ample room all about him, but not knowing how to get fun out of it, is not much ahead of the city child, or the "gang," who could have lots of fun if they had the room to have it in.

The federal bureau of education is realizing this as well as any other of the social and health deficiencies of rural life, especially in the states that still are sparsely settled. It has established a home education division and has prepared a series of bulletins aiming to educate parents how to make their own lives more comfortable and their children's lives more interesting. These bulletins contain, along with treatises about health, early mental development, home reading and study, information about games, about recreation and exercise, about sewing classes, and how to get girls interested in cooking.

This blending of knowledge and amusement in the government bulletins should make them of immense value to the country. If widely distributed they ought to check the tendency among farm boys to flock to the cities, where they exchange the fairly secure and comfortable living of a man on the land for the uncertain existence and unsteady income of a city wage earner.

THE BATTLEFIELDS OF PEACE.

Two men were picked up dead the other day. One was found in the grass on a prairie; the other in a damp basement in a densely populated section of the city. The ambulance doctor, who looked over the two corpses, analyzed the causes of death as starvation and exposure. The police supplied the sociologic description of the men. Bums they called them.

When men are dying by the thousands each day in the fields and prairies of war-smitten Europe it may seem trivial to call attention to these two deaths in Chicago. Yet it is no trivial matter. The death of these two men with no roof over their heads, without a friend to close their eyes, shows that peace has its battlefields no less than war. While it is true, perhaps, that the confirmed bum often will not take work even when it is offered him, it is also true that in the first stages the tramp or hobo is not infrequently a victim of conditions. No child is a hobo when he is in mother's arms or when he goes to school. It is when he goes out into the world with poor equipment and with no guiding hand to steer him through the troubled waters of steep competition that he sinks. Science is proving that vagrancy, even where it is "pathologic," also is acquired. Vocational training and guidance would have steered many a hobo into entirely different channels if administered at the proper time.

While the American people have much to be thankful for, especially when we compare our state with that of war-devastated Europe, we still cannot afford to ignore our victims of industrial maladjustment, our battlefields of peace.

"MY GOVERNMENT" AND "MY MAN."

[From the Des Moines Capital.]

I am resolved to go to Berlin myself if it costs me my last moujik.—Czar Nicholas of Russia.

A moujik is a Russian peasant. The czar means to say that he will risk his last man to sustain his (the czar's) power.

"My man" and "my government" do not sound well to American ears.

President Wilson has at no time said, "I will conquer Mexico if it takes my last man."

The King of England, who does not have much power, continues to talk about "my kingdom" and "my soldiers."

In a few years the entire world will take the American view of this crowned head business.

One of the lessons that America should learn is that this is a government by the people and also a government of law and obedience to law. While we do not like kings and czars, we all know well enough that no government can get along without wholesome laws and impartial enforcement of the same.

But the world is progressing. We must work and wait.

REPLYING to a valued reader, C. D. B.: There are a great many persons who do not believe that war is an unmixed evil. They would defer war, any war, to the ultimate moment; but when war comes they do not believe in sitting around and sentimentalizing about it, although their distress at the loss of life may be as deep as the next man's. They are, too, a little weary of the "Sh-h-h! Sh-h-h!" of the peace advocates, and believe that this nation should go about its own business and let the nations of Europe attend to theirs. A good deal of the present stagnation in business is due to the "Sh-h-h! sh-h-h!" policy. This never was a "Sh-h-h! sh-h-h!" nation, and let us hope it never will be.

A PROMINENT business man, to whom we would go for advice in any business matter, tells us that this country is in for the hardest times it has ever known. An equally prominent citizen, to whom we would go as quickly for counsel, predicts an "unexampled era of prosperity." And there, as Columbus said to the egg, you are.

TREATING TAINTED MILK.

THIS is the season for tainted milk. The pastures are dry and the cows nibble at weeds that they do not touch when the grass is good. In consequence the cows eat bitter weed, wild onion, and garlic, and about four hours later the odor and taste of the aromatic foods appear in the milk.

While there is no evidence that these flavors poison children, they render the milk less palatable and sometimes they disturb digestion by disturbing appetite.

I know a physician who holds that the infant diarrhœas of August result from certain weeds eaten by cows during that month of poor pasturage. His remedy for the baby illness problem of the great city is a requirement that all milk cows be stabled during the months when cows are apt to eat weeds. This, however, is speculation, and the doctor alluded to does not claim to be able to prove his point.

The department of agriculture has been experimenting to find a way to remove the flavor from such tainted milk. The experts found that the following method worked satisfactorily: The milk is heated to 145 degrees, and while it is held at that temperature, a current of air is passed through it. A ten minute treatment makes the milk fairly palatable; a thirty minute treatment removes all the flavor.

The apparatus devised by Ayres and Johnson consists of the following parts:

A tank (A) is surrounded by a water jacket. From the bottom of this tank a pipe leads to a tank (B) set on top of tank A. The milk is pumped through this pipe from A to B by a small pump. The tank B has a bottom perforated with holes one-thirty-second of an inch in diameter, placed at a distance of one half an inch from one another. The milk flows in a fine spray through these holes into tank A. An air pipe leads into tank A, delivering air under pressure near the bottom of the tank. The air must be washed clean.

The milk is placed in tank A, and by heating the water in the jacket the temperature is brought to 145. If the milk is to be made into butter the temperature should be carried to 160. The milk having been heated, the pump is started and the steam travels from tank A through the pipe to tank B and then through the perforations back into A. Meanwhile the air is running into the milk in tank A at the rate of one-fifth of a cubic foot of air per gallon of milk per minute.

The evaporation is 3 per cent, which can be made up with boiled water. The cream line suffers slightly.

The process continued for thirty minutes will result in a fairly satisfactory pasteurization.

NO DRAIN ON SYSTEM.

Rogo writes: "I am 71. All my vital organs are in a healthy condition as far as I know. From observation I can safely say that I have more vigor and endurance than most men of my years. But according to normal weight tables I am thirty pounds underweight. I have nasal catarrh and have to blow my nose forty or fifty times a day during my waking hours. This discharge is transparent and somewhat stringy. There is no inflammation or soreness. I have often thought that this is a drain upon my system which is the cause of my underweight. What, in your opinion, is the cause and the remedy?"

REPLY.

The secretion from your nose is in no sense a drain on your system.

Be glad you are under weight. People under weight have a low death rate from every disease, except consumption, and you are old for that. It is the fat old fellows who are in danger.

NOT WORM TROUBLE.

A correspondent writes us that children who grit their teeth at night "should be treated for stomach worms. It is a sure cure." A physician sends a similar letter.

REPLY.

Worms do not stay long in the stomach under ordinary circumstances. The correspondent refers to ordinary intestinal worms.

There is no reason why a child who grits its teeth should not be given worm medicine. Mothers begin this way and when it fails, as it does 99 times out of 100, they look elsewhere for help. That gritting the teeth means worms is one of the old superstitions which have come down from the dark ages.

EFFECTS OF TEA.

P. S. E. writes: "Will you kindly tell me if frequent urination without other bad symptoms is in itself an indication of any kidney or bladder trouble. Does a large amount of tea taken by a person who has a weak stomach and cannot drink coffee have any bad effects? Does tea affect the kidneys?"

REPLY.

1. Of kidney troubles, no; perhaps of bladder trouble; maybe from nervousness.
2. Yes.
3. Yes, if taken in excess for a long time.

MAY NEED ONLY WATER.

T. Z. writes: "In case of a very acid urine, is it best to abstain from eating acid foods? Is it a good plan to drink plenty of buttermilk when one is in a condition like that?"

REPLY.

1. Some foods do not cause increase in the acidity of the urine. Probably you only need to drink more water.
2. Yes, because it contains a high percentage of water. There are acid conditions of the system which require careful investigation, analysis, and treatment.

The above answer is for one in whom the excretion is overacid because of concentration.

SO wholly absorbed are the various nations of Europe and their rulers by the terrible war now in progress, in which all are more or less directly involved, that little or no attention is being paid to the death of an empress, the Empress Taitou of Abyssinia, who was a remarkable woman in her way, and who, like her husband Emperor Menelik, who was her cousin, could boast of descent in a direct line from the Biblical Queen of Sheba and Solomon, the wisest king of the Jews.

In common with all the princes and princesses of Abyssinia's ancient dynasty she was exiled by Emperor Theodore in the early '60s and took refuge with her parents at the court of Gondar, where she made the acquaintance of and fell in love with her cousin, Prince Menelik, an exile like herself.

They were about to be married, when Theodore suddenly invited them to his court, assuring them not only of the security of their lives and property, but also of his favor.

Complying with his invitation, they returned, but with evil results as far as their mutual attachment was concerned.

They had no sooner presented themselves before Theodore than he also fell in love with Princess Taitou and insisted upon making her his wife, giving Menelik one of his own daughters in marriage.

Empress Taitou, as she had now become, was, although but little more than a child, subjected to such ill treatment by her savage husband that his death at the storming of Magdala some months later came to her in the light of a deliverance from untold misery and she quickly consoled herself by conferring her hand and heart upon a general of the name of Ualde Gabrial.

On his also being killed in battle a year later she became the wife of Gen. Ghiorghis, commander in chief of the army of the King of Tigre.

Dissatisfied with the union, she soon obtained a divorce from him and then married the governor of Egiou, but had not lived with him for more than three months before Emperor John caused him to be thrown into prison and executed.

Rendered desperate by her matrimonial misadventures, she sought refuge in the convent of Debra-Meni and became a nun. It did not take long, however, to convince her that she was not made for convent life and accordingly she obtained a dispensation from her vows from the primate or abounah of Abyssinia, and married a man of Greek origin of the name of Zeccaragagios, who ill used her in the most shameful manner, being accustomed to flog her.

Making use of the old fashioned plea that she was anxious to "pay a visit to her mother" she managed to get away from him and to take refuge in the neighboring province, carrying with her a considerable portion of his wealth.

It was while living with her brother in the Ephrata province in 1882 that she was brought for the second time into contact with her first lover and fiancé Menelik, who had meanwhile become King of Shoa.

The meeting had the effect of reviving all the infatuation between the two, and in spite of his being already married Menelik persuaded ex-Empress Taitou to take up her abode with him.

Of course Menelik's wife, Queen Tofana, objected. But she was quickly divorced and her death followed the dissolution of her marriage with an altogether suspicious rapidity. Taitou was thus left without any rival in the affections of her lord and was married to him with imposing ceremonies in 1885.

From that time forth she exercised a marvelous influence over her husband, who was wont to consult her about everything and invariably followed her advice. It was due to her clever and sagacious counsels that he formed that alliance with Emperor John which had the result of assuring to him the succession to the imperial throne, and the astonishing shrewdness with which Menelik as emperor, managed for many years to oppose the efforts made by Italy in the shape of diplomatic maneuvers and armed attacks to obtain possession of his country was justly ascribed by his people and by his foes to the remarkable cleverness of his dusky consort, Empress Taitou, "queen of queens" and "the sun and light of Ethiopia."

While visitors from this side of the Atlantic to Abyssinia have been few and far between there are many people here who have caught a glimpse of her when they were making a tour of the Holy Land.

She was in the habit of making frequent stays of a prolonged character at Jerusalem, where, indeed a large establishment was maintained for her use.

As she grew older she developed an enormous amount of embonpoint. Yet in spite of her almost phenomenal obesity she bore herself with a tremendous amount of dignity and even majesty. Indeed, she was most imposing.

When her husband, Menelik, some years ago was ovetaken by that stroke of paralysis which reduced him to the condition of a mere living log, depriving him both of his reason and of all his physical powers, she happened to be absent at Jerusalem, and the leading princes and dignitaries of the Abyssinian court took advantage there to establish a regency, of which the then 14 year old heir apparent, Lidj-Jeassu, was the nominal head, but which was virtually controlled by the minister of war and by Gen. Tassama, governor of the metropolitan province.

On the empress' return to Abyssinia she found this regency firmly established in the saddle and thereupon endeavored to subordinate it to her will through her favorite niece, Princess Romana Onok, whom she had married to the heir apparent.

Matters finally reached such a pass that the regents seized the empress, confined her in her palace under a trusted guard, and compelled the young crown prince to divorce his wife, he being just 14 years of age at the time.

As long as the empress remained alive there was always the danger that she might recover her liberty and the control of affairs, which would have led to another civil war in Abyssinia and to general chaos. Her death removes a disturbing element and a danger to the existing government and throne.

To this day no one knows for certain whether Empress Taitou was the widow or the wife of Emperor Menelik. As often as the latter's death has been announced official assurances have been given that he is still alive, and the fact remains that the heir apparent, who is the offspring of his daughter [his grandson therefore] has never yet been proclaimed emperor. This leads to the belief that Menelik is still alive, though to all intents and purposes a living corpse with brain and body wholly paralyzed.

The heir apparent is now a strapping, big, good looking fellow of 18, standing considerably over six feet high, with a pleasing and comely face.

LIGHTS FOR IRVING PARK.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The lighting of Irving Park is very bad, very few lights having been installed recently. Be good enough to refer same to the proper authorities for action.

C. A. PETERSON.

I wish to advise that the sanitary district will replaced all of the arc lamps in this territory with a high candle power incandescent lamp and that a considerable number of additional high power electric lamps will be installed in this part of the city.

Pending the extension of the electric lighting system in this part of the city this department has caused the placing of a considerable number of gas and gasoline lamps in this territory for use until electric lights can be installed.

The program for the relighting of the city indicates that the work in this part of the city will be taken up during the year 1915.

RAY PALMER,
Commissioner of Gas and Electricity.

RED GAUZE ORDINANCE.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—What has become of the ordinance forbidding the use of red gauze as a covering for peach baskets? They are displayed at all of the downtown markets and in several instances have to my knowledge contained unripe and decayed fruit.

J. H. W.

I beg to say that this ordinance was contained in the Chicago code of 1897, but does not appear in the codes of 1905 and 1911. I am not able to say positively why this ordinance was not included in the 1905 revision of the code, but I am told that it was declared illegal by the courts. I have, however, been unable to find the decision of the Supreme court bearing on the legality of this ordinance.

GOTTFRIED KOEHLER,
Assistant Commissioner of Health.

MUST COMPLY WITH ORDINANCE

Chicago, Sept. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The owner of a two flat building at 6235 North Hermitage avenue was notified recently to provide for an exit and a rear porch on the second floor of the building, and I would like to know whether the order is to be enforced. W. F. N.

An inspection of these premises was made Aug. 28 and there were no alterations going on at that time. The tenants of the flat in question were moving out on that date and a police order was issued by the building department to the police department Aug. 28 not to allow this flat to be occupied until a second stairway and entrance is provided for same.

HENRY ERICSSON,
Commissioner of Buildings.

WEEDS HAVE BEEN CUT.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—There are three lots at St. Louis avenue and Van Buren street where the weeds overhang the sidewalk. Please help us to remedy the conditions. P. S.

The weeds that overhung the sidewalk along the street complained of have been cut. We do not cut weeds on vacant lots.

WALTER G. LEININGER,
Superintendent of Streets.

NO EXAMINATION THIS YEAR.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Can you tell me what a person has to do to become a truant officer? Is a grammar school education sufficient, and is 20 years of age too young?

ROSE WETTE,
9187 South Chicago avenue.

No examination will be held for this position this year, as the commission has a long eligible list to draw from in case of vacancies. A grammar school education would be sufficient for a truant officer, provided the applicant is able to stand the test on the duties of the position. There is no bar as to age, except that in the case of women applicants must be at least 18 years of age and in the case of men at least 21 years of age. However, there is a grade on experience, and persons of 20 years of age would not, of course, be entitled to a high mark for experience qualifying them as truant officers.

Applicants should be thoroughly acquainted with the work of the compulsory education department of the board of education, and it would be advisable to study the works of Timothy D. Hurley on the Juvenile court, in addition to having a practical knowledge of such institutions as the Parental school at Bowmanville, the John Worthy school, and others. Detailed information on these subjects may be obtained from Lester L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, Tribune building.

R. A. WIDDOWSON, Secretary.

NOT VACATED FOR ELEVATION PURPOSES.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Please advise me if Hamilton avenue, from Sixty-third south to Sixty-seventh street, has been vacated by the city for track elevation purposes of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroad.

MRS. MARGARET V. KOTAL,
2116 West Sixty-eighth street.

I beg to state that Hamilton avenue has not been vacated for track elevation purposes under the ordinance providing for the elevation of the roadbed and tracks of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway from Thirty-ninth street and Western avenue to Sixty-ninth street and Western avenue.

FRANCIS J. OWENS,
Commissioner of Track Elevation.

LAMPS FOR FOWLER STREET NEXT YEAR.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—What can be done toward the installment of an electric light or lamp post near the first alley on Fowler street, west of Leavitt street? It is very dangerous to pass the above alley at night, and your assistance will be greatly appreciated.

JACOB HIRSCH,
2139 Fowler street.

I wish to advise that all circuits in this vicinity are loaded to their maximum capacity and that no lamps can be added until a general rearrangement of the whole equipment in this territory has been made. This work will be done early in the year 1915 and the lamp which you request will then be installed.

Commissioner of Gas and Electricity.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

"A SCRAP OF PAPER."

Chicago, Sept. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The United States and Germany are parties to The Hague general neutrality convention of 1907, from which I quote "Article 1—Neutral territory is inviolable. Article 2—Belligerents are forbidden to send troops or convoys, either of munitions of war or provisions, through the territory of a neutral state. Article 5—A neutral state shall not allow on its territory any of the acts forbidden in article 2. Article 10—The act by a neutral state of resisting any violation of its territory, even by force of arms, cannot be regarded as an act of hostility."

By the treaty of London, dated April 13, 1839, to which Germany is a party, Belgium is a neutral state.

The first overt act of Germany in the present war was the violation of that treaty. Article 5 made it the duty of Belgium, in the performance of its obligations to the other powers, to resist Germany, and under article 10 the German invasion was not war but murderous marauding, culminating in the savage atrocity of Louvain.

In view of the foregoing facts, how can the United States, with self-respect, maintain diplomatic relations with Germany, or, in fact, remain neutral?

JOHN O'CONNOR, 5800 Aberdeen street.

CALLS FOR THE FACTS.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Mr. James Wallace of St. Paul, Minn., makes in his short letter such a sweeping accusation against Germany's acquisition of Kiau-Chau, in Asia, that a fairminded public is justified in requesting the accuser to give the facts in the case, which facts, as furnished by him, shall be investigated by some expert of modern history and the result published in THE TRIBUNE.

B. LISTEMANN.

A GOVERNMENT OWNED MARINE

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your editorial columns you seem to be making a vigorous protest against the government operating merchant vessels for carrying our commodities to foreign countries. Just what, in your mind, is the greatest objection to this? What difficulties do you see in the way that are not apparent in the government building, owning, and operating the Panama canal and the Panama railroad?

Is it your impression that this would limit operations of private individuals and capital? So far, has not private capital been amply able to take care of itself, and would it, in your estimation, be too grievous a fault if private capital in this particular instance was restricted to the benefit of all the people?

Is your antagonism not more against ultimate consequences and what this step may lead to than the thing itself?

B. S. GIBB.

COMMENDS "THE TRIBUNE'S" FAIRNESS.

Slater, Ia., Sept. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It seems as if the war was bringing out the best in your editorial staff. "Americans First" was splendid, and your editorial on Japan's ultimatum to Germany appeared in translation in our German church paper. German by birth, but American by choice, our supreme interest lies in America's prosperity and greatness. Nevertheless, our sympathy goes out to our fatherland, where our fathers and brothers are fighting for their national existence.

Above all, I wish to thank you for your impartial statement of facts. At this time I have been disgusted and so was this Swiss-German settlement, by the malicious and vicious behavior of a large part of the American press in their attitude towards Germany and the emperor. Such mischievous gloating over Germany's dangerous position and their early losses was certainly a worse breach of neutrality than anything that German-Americans were about to do. It seems that Schiller's remark, "Wie er sich rauspert und wie er spuckt, das habt ihr ihn glücklich abgeguckt," fits these papers and John Bull. So much higher, however, do I esteem THE TRIBUNE, and my friendship for it has been intensified during the last few weeks.

KARL J. ERNST,
Pastor Salem German Reformed church.

BE PREPARED.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your editorials upon the unpreparedness of the United States to resist attack have without exception been magnificent. As a patriotic American I extend my sincere thanks for the needed work you are doing in calling attention to the strange indifference of congress to this, the nation's greatest need.

Your editorial on "Sea Power" should be brought to the personal attention of President Wilson. It should also be reprinted in every newspaper in the United States. What a crime it is to leave the United States unprotected, when every year so many millions are absolutely wasted by a congress which is neglecting America's best interests.

Cannot the press of the United States, on the initiative of THE TRIBUNE, force this urgent need upon the attention of congress and compel it to act? J. J. K.

WAR WILL KEEP $50,000,000 HOME IN MONEY ORDERS

Foreigners Are Expected to Put Funds in Postal Savings Banks.

DEPOSITS GROW RAPIDLY

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.] During August, the first month of war, something like $4,000,000 less was sent abroad in the form of foreign postal money orders than in August, 1913. If the same rate of increase continues during the year—and in the opinion of experts the rate of decrease is likely to grow larger as the war goes on—there will be at least $50,000,000 kept at home in the United States this year which has hitherto been sent abroad.

That is an item worth considering. It means that the balance against the United States will be that much less, that the indebtedness of the United States to foreign countries will be reduced at least $50,000,000, and probably by a much larger sum.

Sent $103,000,000 in Year.

For the fiscal year of 1913, foreign born laborers in the United States—they make up the vast majority of the persons who transfer money by international money order — sent abroad the vast sum of $103,000,000.

To settle the balance against it the postoffice department was obliged to buy foreign exchange to the amount of about $80,000,000.

One of the reasons why more than half $100,000,000 is likely this year to stay in the United States is the growing popularity of the postal savings banks. Since the war began the deposits in these banks have increased at the rate of nearly 100 per cent as compared with the same periods last year.

Postal Plan Is Told.

In connection with the postoffice department comes another suggestion which it is thought might have some effect in helping to establish better trade relations with the Latin-American republics. At present the regular postage rate on letters between the United States and all the south and central American countries is 5 cents.

Somewhat recently the letter rate to Canada, England, Germany, Panama, and Mexico has been reduced to 2 cents. The plan is to make the same reduction to the southern continent. To carry it out would require the negotiation of a series of treaties by the postmaster general.

In an effort to assist in the work of increasing business with South America the New York Central railway and the American Express company are sending A. B. Howard and James Thane, two of their financial experts, to visit and report on conditions in the commercial centers of Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chili, Peru, and Panama. It is possible the express company will open branches and start a direct transportation service between the continents.

Few Ships Register.

The law admitting foreign built ships to American registry and the presidential order suspending the provisions of the law which require American citizen as watch officers and survey, inspection and measurement of foreign built ships by officers of the United States, have now been in force for ten days. During that period only nineteen ships have applied for and obtained American registry.

It is expected, however, within a few weeks there will be a rush of applicants. The new law requires simply that a corporation owning ships which it is desired to register shall be incorporated in the United States.

WILL TELL OF PERU.

The needs of Peru, now and for the next decade, will be laid at the doors of the manufacturers and wholesalers of the middle west tonight by Frederico Alfonso Pezet, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Peru to the United States.

The Peruvian minister will address the members of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the gold room of the Congress hotel on "The Trade of the Two Americas" at the annual foreign trade dinner of the association. Minister Pezet will come from Washington today armed with fresh facts about the condition of his nation, its wants, and the way to supply them, for the benefit of the Association of Commerce members.

WIN S. A. TRADE BY RECIPROCITY

Plan, to Be Published Soon, Looks Ahead to Days After the War.

AT WORK ON DETAILS.

New York Sept. 14.—[Special.]—A big plan for the development of reciprocity of trade between this country and the South American republics and the maintenance of that trade after the European war has come to an end will be announced in a few days.

It is the result of a series of conferences between the consular representatives of the South American countries and officials in Washington extending over a period of about three weeks and is of vital importance, it is said, to American merchants.

The main purpose of the plan, the final details of which have not yet been perfected, is to bring about reciprocity by diverting the present trade of South America with European nations to merchants of America. This trade, worth about a billion dollars before the present war, is now practically at a standstill, but it is felt that the United States by the plan proposed can win over the South American business from Europe.

Consuls Back of Plan.

The Latin American Consular association of New York, whose members embrace most of the consular representatives of South America in this city, have been developing the plan for three weeks, will hold a meeting and luncheon on Saturday. Robert Lee Dunn of the Pan-American States association will attend and the reciprocity plan will probably be discussed at the meeting.

The consular representatives held a meeting this afternoon, the third open meeting since the proposition first presented itself, but it was decided to defer all action until Secretary Redfield and Secretary Bryan hear the report of a committee of twenty-one recently formed in Washington to devise a method of bringing the long desired South American trade to this country.

This committee was formed at a conference of South American diplomats in Washington on last Thursday. Its report will include a plan to cope with the difficulties which have arisen in the Latin American countries as a result of the European war.

Plan New Bank System.

The general idea is to create a banking system with South American countries which will keep money in the United States for the payment of cash where cash is necessary in trade relations and also a system of credits which will enable merchants and buyers to know the exact standing of those with whom they intend to do business.

One of the most important features of the proposed plan is a permanent exhibit of the products of about twenty Latin-American republics and the distribution of reliable literature in English bearing upon them. These exhibits will include also suggestions for the disposal of products of the South American countries either to get ready cash for the latter or for a trade exchange of articles manufactured here.

Some Products in View.

Among the products it is hoped to develop a trade in are Costa Rican coffee, said to be the finest brand grown; Brazilian rubber, phosphates from Chile, minerals from Colombia, grain, cereals, and cattle from Argentina.

The plan now being evolved will also suggest methods for the American merchants to meet the different conditions and circumstances of the South American buyers, who are beginning, it is said, to be educated to the American manufactures, in preference to the European articles which hitherto have been made especially to cater to their wants.

DETERMINED TO EXEMPT FREIGHT FROM WAR TAX

Democrats Caucus Tonight to Vote Paragraph Down.

PORK FIGHT STILL GROWS

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Democrats in the house of representatives will caucus tomorrow night on the war revenue measure approved by the ways and means committee last week.

It was conceded tonight that if President Wilson does not ask a change in the bill before the caucus the insurgent Democrats will vote down the paragraph providing a 3 per cent tax on all freight charges.

The president will return early tomorrow morning from his week end trip to Cornish, N. H. He is expected to suggest a substitute for the freight tax early in the day to prevent an open insurrection.

Insurgents Grow Bold.

The wave of insurgency had rolled so high tonight that various Democrats were suggesting drastic resolutions for consideration by their colleagues. One of these will instruct the Democrats of the house to prevent the passage of any conference report on the river and harbor pork barrel bill. Another will direct the repeal of all existing authorizations, together with the unexpended appropriations of $52,000,000 in the treasury. The latter will be ordered to revert to the general fund, with the exception of $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 which will be appropriated for such use as the chief of engineers sees fit to make of it.

Representative McAndrews of Chicago, a member of the house appropriations committee, was canvassing the situation tonight in behalf of these anti-pork barrel proposals.

Seek to Prevent Caucus.

The Democratic leaders in both the house and senate are doing all in their power to prevent the caucus. They will be heartily disappointed if President Wilson does not suggest the passage of a stamp tax measure in lieu of the freight tax.

In the senate today Senator Simmons introduced his amended river and harbor bill. The senator was careful not to interfere with many of his thirty or more North Carolina projects. He did trim those of a few of his followers, however, and the result was immediate mutiny.

The river and harbor bill is the only business before the senate this week.

Pork Editorials Read.

The war revenue fight has developed along with the fight on the river and harbor bill. Senator Kenyon during the course of his remarks today read editorials from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the Philadelphia North American, and other leading papers suggesting the elimination of pork in the river and harbor bill as the first step towards economy in government expenditures.

A peculiar development today was the request of certain whisky distillers in Kentucky that they be taxed an additional 20 cents a gallon. Coincident with this request, congressmen and senators received protests from the W. C. T. U. and the Anti-Saloon league against any increase in the taxes on liquors. The anti-liquor forces do not want to make the government any more dependent upon rum than at present.

Would Kill River Bill.

Senator La Follette and some of the progressive Republicans are evolving a plan as a substitute for the war revenue bill which, they say, will make that legislation unnecessary. They propose to suspend the river and harbor bill and pass a joint resolution appropriating simply enough to provide for maintenance of existing projects. In this way they would save from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000, they estimate, in appropriations, and probably as much again in commitments for future expenditures. The remainder of the $100,000,000 which represents the probable deficit which the war revenue bill is de-

DUSTIN FARNUM

OWEN WISTER'S "Virginian," à la celluloid, with a Dustin Farnum dressing, is the pièce de résistance at the Studebaker this week.

And to the person who is looking for a full film meal, particularly with his appetite whetted by the succulencies of "The Lost Paradise," it is a disappointing layout. It is time filling, of course, but as for tastiness it suggests rather the second day hash than the celebrant turkey.

"The Virginian," hampered by its content, does not lend itself particularly to dramatic exploitation, and this presentation of it is developed merely through a chain of pictoral episodes, most of them of equal value in the level sequence of the film's chronicling.

The picture starts off with Dustin Farnum bowing a genial bow from the back of his pony out in the midst of a picturesque glimpse of western hills. Then he gets a job, no one knowing particularly why he wants one, and apparently jumping into immediate favor on the ranch, though no one knows exactly why; he seems to take the lead as head humorist, with space devoted to his original idea of securing a solitary bunk by the disturbing expedient of sleeping restlessly with his spurs on. There is something about meeting Steve and keeping him from stealing cattle and encountering the villain, Trampas.

In the meantime, Molly Wood, who has not seemed to have been "called" to teach music back in her Vermont home town, comes west as school mistress to the village, being rescued on her drive thither from the intoxicated stage conductor by the Virginian, who declares soon after, without any apparent stimulation of indifference, that he is going to make her love him.

The high light of humor is struck in the baby scene at the barbecue, where the inspired Virginia and his pal, Steve, exchange the children's outer wrappings and let all the mothers, after making sure that they have secured the right shawl, regardless of its contents, start off home. The changelings send all their outraged elders back across the prairies—awfully funny, that!—and a wild scrimmage of recognition ensues, to the intense amusement of the Virginian. Afterwards, when he confesses, the mothers display a receptive sense of humor, but Miss Molly Wood assures him that she hates him for it. Her hatred, however, isn't of very wearing fiber, for it isn't long before an insert announces "Their wedding day."

There are some intervals of activitie centering around cattle stealing, the capture of Steve, pursuit and escape from Trampas, and a final finish, under a hectically pink sunset, in which the Virginian fatally punctures the villain's diabolical career. The day's work being nicely ended, the wedding is celebrated, and the picture closes with a glimpse of the beginning of an idyllic honeymoon out in the woods, illuminated by campfire and starshine.

I can't thrill over this picture in any spot, not even in the Dustin Farnum spots. The star makes clear that he is a fine figure of a man, but his personality, histrionically, doesn't get across. Winifred Kingston, as Molly Wood, is a pretty person who would be very competent as a school teacher, I imagine. As an actress you can see that she is doing her part.

About most of all I enjoyed the everlasting hills. There are a lot of them, stretching back and back into far visual reaches, and they are good to look at, though they might have been better photographed. Much of the scenery is tinted, achieving a violence of hue that nature never duplicated in this part of the world, spread with an even indiscrimination over every detail. Personally, unless beautifully done, I prefer photography au natural. One looks forward hopefully to next week and Mary Pickford.

Marion Harland's Helping Hand

By Marion Harland

Has Supply of Catnip.

"Some time ago I noticed in the Corner a call for green catnip from a woman whose pet kitten was ailing. I have plenty growing in my yard and will gladly give her some roots, as well as fresh leaves, if she will call for them. I always try to have it growing, even in winter, and feed it to our pet cats. It seems to be just what they need frequently.

"MRS. S. M. H."

The member who wanted catnip has already been supplied by another lover of feline pets. Thank you all the same!

Signature Not Registered.

"Some time ago Mrs. H. H. N. requested through the Corner a poem entitled 'St. Peter at the Gate.' I will send it to her if you will let me have her address. I clipped it from a newspaper at the time of the author's death.

"C. W. H."

Are you positive as to the accuracy of your copy of the signature you give as Mrs. H. H. N.? We have no such initials upon our books. Should the member who asked for the poem recognize her self by means of the kind offer above quoted, will she let us put her into communication with her stranger-friend?

Recipe for Furniture Polish.

"Could you recommend to me a good furniture polish for mahogany? I got a piano a short time ago and the varnish on it is beginning to crack. H. S."

I can supply you with a recipe for furniture polish which I know to be good, but if the piano be new and valuable I advise you to have it treated by a professional—that is, unless you have some experience in varnishing. Mix together two parts of crude linseed oil and one of turpentine, adding a tablespoon of salt to the gallon. Apply with a soft flannel rub in faithfully, throw a cloth over it to exclude dust, and, after three or four hours, polish with clean chamois skin.

Puc Paste.

"Please inform me as to the meaning of the name Emma. Also, would one of the readers kindly send me a recipe for a really good pie crust? H. L."

Emma is the same as Emmeline, signifying energetic, industrious. Here is a recipe for puff paste: Into a half pound of sifted flour chop six ounces of firm cold butter and when it is a coarse yellow powder wet with a small cupful of iced water. Stir to a paste with a wooden spoon, not touching with the hands, and turn upon a floured board. Roll out quickly and lightly, touching with the hands as little as possible. Fold into a roll, beat flat with the rolling pin, and roll out thin. Baste lightly with dabs of butter and fold up tightly. Beat flat and roll out thin again. Baste again, fold, beat, and roll for the third time. Set upon the ice for several hours. Then roll to the desired thickness and make your pies. Pastry should be baked in a hot, steady oven. If you wish plainer pastry omit the basting, but roll, beat flat, and roll again the prescribed number of times.

Help in Ad Writing.

"Could you tell me through the Helping Hand Corner where I could get a book on advertising, that is, something that will help me to write advertisements?

"A. B. S."

Writing advertisements is now a profession. The first thing to be acquired if you would practice it successfully is the ability to write clear, correct, nervous English. I know of an author who, when the market for her stories and essays was slow, made $40 per week for a year by writing advertisements. Further than this, I know nothing of the profession. If there be such a manual as your are seeking, I have never heard of it. If members can help our Iowa correspondent, will they let us hear from them? How can one learn how to write attractive advertisements?

Remedy for Roaches.

"I read in the Corner that you advise the use of black hellebore in the destruction of bugs upon plants. Would this destroy roaches also? I am tormented by them and have tried numerous patent liquids and powders to no purpose. Could you kindly tell me of a remedy for the pests? L. K. S."

Try a mixture of three parts of common borax, one of red pepper, and one of salt. Mix well and keep in a tightly corked jar. With a syringe, such as is used for insect powder, blow this into corners and cracks, down the pipes of sink and bathroom, and in any other place where they "most do congregate." Do this at night and sweep up and burn the dead and dying in the morning. This "roach salt" is not patented. It is as good as if it were.

Economical Housekeeping

Cabbage and Peas: Swiss Chard.

THE family which will get on with meat less often, especially at this season when vegetables are the finest, most abundant, and least expensive of the year, can have a vegetable so luxuriously dressed with plain butter or real cream that they will soon find it easier to go without the meat than without some deliciously cooked green thing. Even as it is, there are many persons who, although they require meat twice a day, feel it a real hardship to get on with a meal of just meat and potatoes.

Meat eaters do not realize in many cases how much they depend upon vegetables to lighten and make a meal really attractive, and if vegetables were always cooked in the most perfect ways their dependence upon them would be greater yet.

There is another thing that fresh vegetables will lend their service to, and that is to freshen canned vegetables if the two are mixed together. This is a srvice that is yet to be developed, but this season of plenty is a good time to experiment with such mixtures. Vegetables and fruits have not been so inexpensive for several seasons as they are now.

It has been a favorite notion that such green things as cabbage, spinach, and related greens, such as Swiss chard, should be cooked in a great amount of water, which always dissolves a good part of their precious mineral content and therefore leaves them less palatable. Spinach carelessly cooked in a little water will be almost too bitter to eat, but steamed done in just the water left on its leaves from washing it, not in a steamer but in a covered kettle over a bit of fire, it is fine and sweet.

A woman wise in eating ways, who always cooks vegetables in as little water as possible, finds persons fond of the following combination, which is a well balanced one in itself, because peas are rich in protein.

CABBAGE AND PEAS—Take half of a small cabbage, about three-fourths of a pound, and cut it up fine. Put on to cook in barely water enough to cover in a covered pan or kettle. It will cook tender in a very short time. When tender add a can of drained peas and cook the two together until the latter are well heated through. Dress the whole generously with butter.

The leaves and stalks of Swiss chard may be cooked as greens, or the leaves may be stripped off the stalk and the latter cooked separately and served in a little hot cream and butter, in which way it is delicious as well as an effective energy maker.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets

By Lillian Russell

Bones Are No Longer Beautiful.

[Copyright: 1914: By Lillian Russell.]

THE last word comes from London that thin figures are going out of fashion rapidly, and that by the time the winter season is ushered in, round, plump figures will be the vogue. The reason is plain to be seen. French and English women of fashion have been fasting and starving for the last three or four years and today they find themselves emaciated and weak, too weak to endure the arduous demands of society. Their doctors are advising real food to eat in place of the biscuit and sherry that has been the customary luncheon and dinner of a modern fashionable woman.

American women are always up to date in everything, even in the starvation fashion of eating. They would not be overshadowed in appearance by the fashionable women of any nation. Therefore, they have neglected their bodily nourishment in order to appear lithe and frail; at the same time, doing as much work as a day laborer.

There is method in the work of fashion leaders. They are wise enough to know that were they to go on accentuating thinness, it would be but a year or two until every woman of fashion was an invalid. Health is necessary before everything. The little figure always carries with it pale or yellow skin, which no artificial make up or lighting can illuminate. The new mode of dressing is designed for figures, not for slats. The plainness of the bodices require filling up to be graceful. The fullness of the skirts needs holding out by hips. Low necked gowns were invented to show off full, bueatiful necks, not bones.

It will be a boon to women who sacrifice everything to be "a la mode" to have the fashionable figure plump. All these thin, starved girls and women may eat a real meal once more. Chops and baked potatoes, which have been only visions of fat to them, will be relished as in their girlhood days. Even cake and ice cream sodas are no longer forbidden fruits.

A finer, healthier class of women will result from that imperative word from abroad that women must be plump to wear the new gowns. Many a mother will welcome gladly the fashion that permits her daughters to enjoy a hearty meal again. She will welcome the edict of the rounded figure for beauty.

Remember! While following fashion's decree, never to let it lead you too far away from your own personality.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

MRS. S.: Olive oil is excellent for developing. Massage the bust with the oil just as you would with the cocoa butter.

READER: The green soap treatment cannot be used on thin skins, but it is an excellent remedy for blackheads. Bathe the face with warm water so as to soften it, then apply the green soap. Rub it well into the pores for three minutes. Rinse the soap from the face with warm water, using a camel's hair brush so as to remove all the soap and as many of the blackheads as will come; then use cold water until the face is thorougniy cool. Dry the face with a soft towel. Fill the skin with a good cold cream and let it remain for half an hour, then take off any that is superfluous with a soft cloth. Continue this treatment every night until the blackheads have disappeared.

MRS. E. O.: The pimples you mention are whiteheads. The only way they can be removed is by opening each one with a fine needle and taking out the contents. First bathe the face with warm water to soften the skin. After taking out the contents of the whiteheads, bathe with peroxide.

BLONDE: No, I do not think you are too heavy for your height. There is positively nothing that will make you shorter.

BRUNETTE: I am sorry but the epsom salts was printed so recently I am unable to print it again for you. I shall be glad to mail you the formula, however, also remedy for blackheads if you will send me the required stamped, addressed envelope.

Doris Blake Says

"It Is All Right, Girls, to Cultivate a Love of Sport—but Not to the Extent of Wanting to Marry One."

A Golden Rule.

HERE'S a simple, plain, little tale of A Golden Rule. I tell it to you exactly as it was told to me, with my recommendations for all you married folk who read to adopt the rule prescribed:

"One morning in the first year of our married life my husband went to his office without the good-by kiss which had become a part of our daily program. I did not accompany him to the door as was my habit of doing, to see him off and wave good-by before he turned the corner of the next block, which would hide him from my view.

"I knew he was now lingering, hoping that I would come to him, and I, hurt and indignant, found much to do in the kitchen, but in my heart I was wishing he would come and seek me, but he called good-by and in an indifferent tone I answered.

"I heard the door close and my heart sank about 10 degrees, a hard lump rose in my throat that ached terribly, tears came in my eyes, but I would not allow them to fall, as I considered it a great weakness to weep over anything except death.

"It was a long, long day which followed. How the hours dragged! I carried the little alarm clock from room to room as I went about my work. Occasionally I would call up central and ask the time, feeling sure my clock was slow. But the day came to an end, as all bad days do, and I was looking forward eagerly to his coming and listening intently.

"At last that quick, firm step I knew so well was coming up the walk. I caught my breath, my heart bounded with joy. I ran to the door and stopped, listening. He took hold of the knob, hesitated, then quietly, softly the door swung back; the anxious, worried look vanished from his face as he saw me standing there smiling up at him. Without a word he held out his strong arms and I just jumped into them, too happy for speech.

"He leaned his head on mine and held me so close and tight as thought he never wished to let me go again. His heart pounded furiously and his voice trembled when at last he spoke: 'My darling, this has been the most miserable and longest day of my life. Forgive me, dear love, for those unkind words, and I promise never to be guilty of such cowardly conduct again to the sweetest wife a man ever had.' I reached up and, putting my arms around his neck, kissed him and told him I had forgotten all about it in the joy of having him himself again.

"We laughed then, and he said that we must guard against getting on such dangerous ground in the future, so we made and framed a rule to govern a possible repetition of this sort. And we hung it where we could see it first thing in the morning.

"For fifteen years we have lived by it and most happily. We have differed in opinions, but the possibility of a serious quarrel we kissed away with our golden rule, which read: 'Give the good-by kiss in the morning and the welcome kiss at eve.'"

A Birthday Gift.

"Dear Miss Blake: What is a proper birthday gift, if any, for a young gentleman friend to whom I am not engaged? We like each other fairly well.

"CONSTANCE."

It is improper to make a birthday gift to a young man unless you are engaged to be married to him. If I were you I should write him a sincere little note of good wishes or invite him to dinner at your home, and prepare the dinner yourself. That would be a perfectly proper way of showing him your interest.

Little Trimming Used on Hats.

Black velvet hat of novel shape, trimmed with metal rose and grosgrain ribbon.

LONDON.—[Special.]—As a proof that the large flat sailor and the small turban are not to be the only styles offered in hats this season, one of the exclusive designers sends out the hat which I have sketched, a hat with all sorts of curves and angles which are never seen on sailors or turbans.

Since its shape is distinctive, little trimming is used on it. To be sure even when a hat has no distinction of line, little adornment is used, for it is almost never that one sees a hat with much trimming on it, especially a hat of this type, which is essentially a work of art in the very blocking.

A four looped bow of grosgrain ribbon held the rose of iridescent sequins in place.

Flowers, to be really "chic," are cleverly disguised with the aid of beads, cloth of gold, silver cloth, mother of pearl, anything that will convince the passer-by that flowers that look like flowers have departed this millinery life.

I have a sincere feeling that the popularity of metal flowers will wane slightly when the pretty young girls begin to try on hats for afternoon and evening wear. The metal flowers are obviously adornments for "grown-ups," and I am sure that when the mothers of schoolmaids come to buy hats for their daughters they will insist upon having flowers that look like real flowers adorning those hats.

Be that as it may, flowers are not at this moment particularly popular, except those which are patently not flowers at all. Fur promises to have some popularity as a trimming, especially the new monkey fur. Feathers are increasingly popular, especially the ostrich feather in all varieties. In these lean and hungry years of feather prohibition—the American clients of the good designers are legally prohibited from wearing osprey and paradise—the humble ostrich is being treated in every possible way to make it unrecognizable and novel—and hence desirable.

Suffrage Union Plans Are Opposed.

THE reception to the special party of suffragists who will reach Chicago this morning from Washington, D. C., may not be warm. State and national suffrage officers took occasion yesterday to criticise the methods which the suffragists are attempting to put into operation in Illinois and the eight other suffrage states of the west.

◆

The women are coming under the auspices of the Congressional Union for Women Suffrage, which has opposed at Washington the legislative committee of the National American Woman's Suffrage association. The congressional union is to conduct a campaign which will be directed against all Democratic candidates for congress who have opposed a federal amendment to the constitution extending suffrage to women.

According to Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the union, the women of the east have appealed to the voting women of the west to withhold their support from the national Democratic party "until that party ceases blocking the national suffrage amendment."

"There is no question but that the people who are making this attack upon individuals and the Democratic party are doing what they believe is for the best interests of the cause," said Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association.

"Looking at the question from a superficial standpoint, the attack might at times seem justified. The present European war is the result of long years of wordy attacks and criticisms. What we all should look forward to is results. We shall never have suffrage in this country by attacking our opponents.

"We shall eventually win by converting at least the most of them. Not destructive but constructive work is what counts, and some day this will be recognized by every one."

◆

Mrs. Trout will have a conference with Miss Lucy Burns of Brooklyn, leader of the union delegation, however. She will not lend the assistance of the state organization to the blacklisting methods of the congressional union.

◆

The delegation will arrive over the Pennsylvania railroad and will go to the Hotel La Salle. In it are Miss Doris Stevens of Omaha; Mrs. Jessie Hardy Stubbs, formerly of Chicago; Miss Rose Winslow of New York; Miss Mabel Vernon of Wilmington, Del.; Miss Margaret Wittemore of Detroit; Miss Ruth Astor Noyes and Miss Emily Perry of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Edna S. Latimer and Miss Iola Trax of Baltimore. The delegation will split here and various members go to different suffrage states.

The Illinois Equal Suffrage association opened a strenuous campaign yesterday to get women to register before the November election. A "call to registration" was sent to every member of the organization in Illinois, and the dates of the registration days, Oct. 3 and 13, were included in the call.

"Few women realize that they have to register again," said Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout. "I have found it hard to make a number of women who registered last spring believe that they must register again before they can vote. We intend to conduct a strenuous campaign from now until Oct. 13 to get a large number of women out. We hope to beat the figure of last spring."

Every One's Humming "Tipperary" Song.

THE bit of the chorus of "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" which THE TRIBUNE printed on Sunday has set every one to humming and singing. The old song comes to notice as being sung by the British soldiers now fighting in France.

MISS ELIZABETH BRICE

Elizabeth Brice, singing at the Palace Music hall this week, found the words of the old song after considerable search, and last night she sang it, with her partner, Charles King, at that theater.

The song is published by B Fieldman & Co., 2 and 3 Arthur street, London. Its three stanzas and chorus are here reproduced for the information of readers of THE TRIBUNE:

"Up to mighty London came an Irishman one day,
As the streets were paved with gold, sure every one was gay,
Singing songs of Piccadilly, Strand, and Leicester square,
Till Paddy got excited—then he shouted to them there:

(Refrain.)

"It's a long way to Tipperary,
It's a long way to go;
It's a long way to Tipperary,
To the sweetest girl I know!
Good-by, Piccadilly,
Farewell, Leicester square,
It's a long, long way to Tipperary,
But my heart's right there!

"Paddy wrote a letter to his Irish Molly O',
Saying, 'Should you not receive it, write and let me know!
If I make mistakes in spelling, Molly, dear,' said he,
'Remember, it's the pen that's bad; don't lay the blame on me.'

"Molly wrote a neat reply to Irish Paddy O',
Saying, 'Mike Maloney wants to marry me, and so
Leave the Strand and Piccadilly, or you'll be to blame,
For love has fairly drove me silly—hoping you're the same!'"

News of the Religious World

All Creeds to Be at Monster Peace Meet

MINISTERS and laymen of all creeds have been asked to join in what Bishop Fallows designated "a monster prayer meeting," to be held on the afternoon of Sunday, Oct. 4. President Wilson may be asked to name a representative to address the meeting, at which Bishop Fallows will preside.

The principal part of the program will be the prayers to be offered by the clergymen of the different creeds. A Roman Catholic priest, a Protestant clergyman, a rabbi, and a priest of the Greek orthodox church will be asked to offer supplications for peace and it is probable that some minister will make an extended address. A choir may be formed of members of church choirs in the city.

◆

"We had intended holding a meeting of this sort and had held our preliminary session before the president set Oct. 4 as the day for prayers of peace," declared Bishop Fallows in opening the meeting yesterday at the Hotel La Salle, where the plan was outlined to representative clergymen of the city.

"The president's action in naming the day solved one of our problems for us. We are heartily in favor of the plan as our action attests."

◆

It is thought likely that Mme. Schumann-Heink will sing at the service, and perhaps Speaker Champ Clark will be the president's representative. Mr. Bryan has indicated that it will be impossible for him to attend. Gov. Dunne probably will represent the state.

The mayor will be asked to clear the streets of hawkers who would exploit the day. An executive committee will be appointed by Bishop Fallows this week to take charge of all arrangements, including the appointment of a committee on resolutions.

That the prayer meeting will recognize no creeds was illustrated yesterday when Archbishop Vilatte of the Catholic church protested against the use of the cross as a symbol on the peace flag which was under consideration.

"Of course, as far as I am concerned, the cross is not obectionable," declared the archbishop. "I wear it always," he added, holding up the crucifix he carries from a heavy gold chain about his neck. "Nevertheless, let us not forget that there may be many Jews who will join in the meeting and to them the symbol may not be welcome.

The national bureau for the advancement of patriotism, which has headquarters in the Postal Telegraph building, in an effort to aid in bringing peace in Europe, has sent communications to the commanders in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans, requesting that those organizations take appropriate action in setting forth their influence in the interest of international peace.

The national bureau is composed of men and a few women of every state and is now organizing an advisory council of 1,000 women of all states. Many of the women desired for membership in the council are in Europe and the work of organization is impeded in that way.

THE REV. JOSEPH B. HINGELEY

Will Raise Millions for Retired Pastors.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

PLEADING with tear stained eyes and a voice full of pity for the penniless old minister on the retired list is out of fashion, according to the Rev. Joseph B. Hingeley, corresponding secretary of the board of conference claimants of the Methodist Episcopal church, who addressed the Methodist ministers' meeting yesterday.

Dr. Hingeley outlined the campaign which the Methodist Episcopal church will enter upon next year for the raising of $5,000,000 in addition to funds already in hand. The total, which may reach $10,000,000, is to be invested so that every one of the 3,000 retired ministers, 3,000 widows of deceased ministers, and the 300 orphan children of deceased ministers shall receive what Dr. Hingeley called "a dependable pension."

At the present time only ten of the 6,300 conference claimants receive more than $500 a year, only 100 receive more than $400, and only 300 receive more than $300 a year.

Of the remaining 6,000, 1,000 receive less than $50 a year, 2,000 receive less than $100, and 4,000 receive less than $200.

"Not long ago," Dr. Hingeley said, "I saw a man of education and of sensitive feelings who had given all the strength of his years to the ministry stand and beg before a committee that his allowance of $236 made to him the year previous should not be cut down.

"Such a condition is not honorable nor right. The bishops and other ministers in the church are paid in full, and retired ministers, although paid more modest sums, ought to be paid with equal regularity and in full up to the amount of their allowance."

Grand Opera Opens in Gotham.

New York, Sept. 14.—The grand opera season opened tonight with Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet," sung in English by the Century Opera company. The war, which sent most of the foreign singers to military service and caused the abandonment this year of the Boston and Chicago opera companies, did not affect the season that opened tonight, because the leading principals, the chorus, ballet, and practically all the orchestra were Americans born or naturalized. Miss Lois Ewell was Juliet and Orville Harrold was Romeo. The receipts of tonight's performance and tomorrow's will be devoted to the Red Cross war fund.

Patten to Make Statement.

John A. Patten of Chattanooga, Tenn., a prominent lay official in the Methodist Episcopal church, who was asked last week by the Illinois Methodist conference, in session at Shelbyville, to refute in detail charges made against him by the American Medical Journal in connection with the manufacture and sale of wine of cardui or resign all official connection with the Methodist church, was unexpectedly in the limelight again yesterday at the Chicago Methodist preachers' meeting.

A letter from Mr. Patten was read by the secretary of the meeting in which he promised to accede to the wishes of the ministers and make a public statement which would clear his name from all cause for censure.

The letter was dated July 16, and was written in response to a communication sent him by the public policy committee of the ministers' meeting, of which the Rev. H. G. Warren is chairman, dated June 29.

The public policy committee requested Mr. Patten to make a statement clearly defining the nature of wine of cardui and the literature by which it was advertised. The leter was read yesterday because it was the first meeting held since the adjournment of the regular sessions for the summer.

Since writing the letter Mr. Patten instituted suit against the American Medical Journal for $300,000.

Dodge Friends by Eloping.

For a long time Charles G. Tongring, a South Chicago contractor, has been planning to get married. He had some misgivings lest his friends might play discomforting pranks on him and from time to time the wedding was put off. Yesterday Mr. Tongring went to Crown Point, Ind., with Miss Lillian Keuper and they were married. Last night they stopped at Cedar Lake and today they start on an automobile trip to Detroit. When they return they will occupy a newly built bungalow at Seventy-second street and South Shore avenue.

GOLD MEDAL FOR LOW SCORE GOES TO MISS BISHOP

Brooklawn Player Gets Card of 85 in Women's National Golf Meet.

CHICAGO GIRLS QUALIFY

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Miss Georgianna M. Bishop of Brooklyn, with a score of 85, led a record field of ninety-one starters in the annual golf championship tournament for the women's title of the United States today over the links of the Nassau Country club.

Miss Bishop was national champion in 1904, and the year following tied with Miss Margaret Curtis of Boston for the medal at Morris County. It was tossed off and Miss Bishop won. This, therefore, is her second success as a national medal winner.

Miss Bishop had only two strokes to spare and had it not been for being trapped on her approach to the home green Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson of Boston, formerly Miss Kate C. Harley, the 1908 champion, might easily have tied for the principal honor in the testing round. Being bunkered cost her the two strokes difference.

Miss Hyde Gets in Trap.

The same might be said of Miss Lillian B. Hyde, the Metropolitan champion, for her drive, long enough, but pulled, got her into a trap from which she played into another. She took 6 for the hole. Miss Hyde holds the record for the course at 82.

Miss M. A. Irving of Richmond County furnished reason for many congratulations when she handed in an 88. Miss Irving plays little in competition. Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, the Philadelphia champion, went out in 42. There seemed nothing impossible for her to do. The story was reversed coming in, however, for she required no less than 48 for a total of 90, the same as Miss Marion Hollins of Westbrook, last year's runner-up and former Metropolitan champion.

The field is the greatest since are fixture was instituted in 1895. At Brookline in 1902, the entry was 96 and the actual starters numbered 83. At Nassau today the entry list totaled 97 and the actual starters 91.

Three Chicagoans Qualify.

Among the thirty-two who qualified with scores of 96 and under there are five western representatives. Miss Caroline Painter, Midlothian Country club, Blue Island, Ill.; Miss Louise Swabacker and Miss Elaine V. Rosenthal, both of the Ravisloe Country club, Homewood, Ill.; and Mrs. E. H. Steedman and Miss Grace Semple of St. Louis, who, by the luck of the draw, will have to play against each other tomorrow.

No British or Canadian women have entered this year, and as the competitors represent nearly every club of prominence in the United States the event is purely national in character for the first time in several years.

The course was in excellent condition today, and bright, crisp weather prevailed. The course is 6,018 yards long.

Women members at the Onwentsia club will start play in their annual golf tournament and "powwow" this morning. The qualifying round will be at nine holes, four flights of four each qualifying for the first match round in the afternoon. Semi-final and final matches will be played tomorrow, an approaching and putting contest also being carded for the afternoon. A consolation event for those who fail to qualify and for those defeated in the first round also is scheduled.

Chairman Yerkes yesterday issued the program of the "Twa Days" at Glen View, set for Sept. 24 and 25. The main prize will be the Laigh and Lang trophy for the best gross score at seventy-two holes. An invitation this year is the Fearsome Foursome trophy event at seventy-two holes. It is a best ball handicap, the two partners having the best net score for seventy-two holes winning the prizes.

Twelve flights of eight each will qualify for the Auchtermuchty, Ben McDhuie, and other cups. Another new prize this year is the Corey fisted trophy for an eighteen hole handicap for southpaws. Play will be by foursomes and each quartet playing together for the "twa days."

BRITISH HIKER IN CHICAGO.

Edmund J. Wolf Jr. of London arrived in Chicago yesterday on his zigzag trip around the globe. Wolf started his journey on Jan. 3, 1903, and expects to finish the hike in November, when he will report at the offices of the London Standard and Tit Bits to collect a sum of money set aside for his services as a writer of humorous and educational articles.

Wolf visited every country in Europe, and then he went to all the Asiatic nations, going from that continent to the Strait Settlements, Philippine islands, and Madagascar. Next he visited Cape Colony, from where he made his way northward through the dark continent. His journeys then carried him to Australia, from where he sailed for San Francisco. He followed the western coast through South America.

Later Wolf returned by the opposite route through Canada and then revisited South America, after which trip he came back to San Francisco. His American tour took him through the following cities on his way to Chicago: Sacramento, Reno, Salt Lake City, Cheyenne, Omaha, Des Moines, Clinton, and Elgin.

The Sleipner Athletic club, which won the championship at the Sportsmen's meet last spring in the Coliseum, interested Commodore William Hale Thompson in the project of sending a team to the coast.

CRANE RAPS FOR ADMISSION.

When the "Little Five" opens its basketball season Crane College of Engineering will be represented in the lineup, if present plans do not go wrong. The young west side institution may even have a heavyweight football team if arrangements can be made so that Athletic Director Meyers can devote all his time to the older players.

A basketball team will be organized whether it is admitted into the league or not. Principal W. J. Bartholf when asked what he thought of the idea yesterday stated: "I am heartily in accord with the move and will do everything to help it along. We have shown the people who thought that we could not make a success of a public college that it can be done from a point of scholarship, and now we will begin the fight to win a place with the other colleges along athletic lines."

Among the Crane men who have entered the college are Besta, one of the best all around athletes at the school last year; Cotter, football and basketball player; Eizner, track, football, basketball, and crew; Nadherney, football and basketball; and Bert Moore, captain of last year's football team.

Schaefer Beats Catton.

Young Jake Schaefer defeated Marcus Catton, 300 to 170, in the 14-1 match at Leffingwell's Wilson avenue rooms last night.

Sporting News Notes.

The Knights of Columbus Bowling league will open its seventh annual bowling tournament tonight at Bensinger Randolph alleys.

Joe Sherman, the lightweight boxer, has been matched for two bouts. On Sept. 17 at Ottawa, Ill., Sherman meets Jimmy Anderson, and on Sept. 21 at Grand Rapids he will battle Al Stewart.

Chicago All Star football team would like to sign a few linemen about 180 pounds average with college or high school experience. Write to Manager R. W. Ohnersorg, care of Jack Shannon company, 54 East Monroe street.

The Manufacturers' league flag has been awarded to Anderson-Lind Manufacturing company team. A theater party and banquet will be held Saturday night, at which time President Tufo will award a silver trophy to the winners.

The special wrestling match has been arranged for Friday night at the Sportsmen's Club of America between Sam Voorhes of Chicago and William Earl Gardner of Joliet. President James A. Pugh also will talk on his experience in England when war was declared.

BOWLERS FIRE FIRST GUNS.

Opening guns fired last night in the Concordia league at Bensinger's Randolph street alleys marked the start of the local bowling season. By a remarkable coincidence the Cubs were pitted against the Pirates and won two of the three games. The Dodgers blanked the Cardinals and the Giants made a clean sweep of the Senators. The Tigers, led by H. Arneson with an average of 211 1-3, twice defeated the Quakers, who were led by Art Meier, with an average of 205 1-3. The Athletics took three straight from the White Sox.

ENGLEWOOD MEN AT N. D.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Pliska and Bachman, both old Englewood stars, reported for practice this afternoon, bringing the total number in the squad up to thirty. The men were kept hard at work for three hours. A half hour was spent in hard line plunging and then later Harper sent his men to practice tackling and blocking. He paid special attention to Ward, a husky sophomore, who made his first appearance in the moleskins on the local field several days ago.

WILLIAMS WINS OVER LOUISIANA

Bantam Champion Almost Knocks Out Foe in Short Quaker Contest.

LOSER A GAME FIGHTER

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—"Kid" Williams, world's champion bantamweight boxer, gave a classy exhibition of fast boxing tonight when he earned the decision over Louisiana of this city in a fast six round bout before a packed house at the Olympia A. A.

The first round was only a minute old when Williams smashed the local boy a terrific wallop on the jaw, sending Louisiana to his knees. Louisiana was up in an instant and exchanged wallops with the champion. It was Williams' round.

In the second and third rounds it was give and take, with Williams leading safely. In the third session Williams missed a knockout by a narrow margin when the force of his blow carried him off his feet.

The fourth round saw Louisiana force the fighting. In the fifth and final rounds the champion warmed up to his work and simply smothered the local boy, forcing Louisiana to cover up and clinch to avert punishment. Louisiana showed the effects of Williams' blows at the finish and was in distress.

DANIEL HAYES STOPS SHUBA.

Daniel Hayes proved too strong and clever for Stanley Shuba, the Washington Heights middleweight, stopping him in the fifth round of a ten round bout fought in private last night over the Indiana state line. Hayes, who won the American amateur middleweight championship at Cleveland, took the lead in the first round and in the ensuing rounds he floored Shuba three times. In the fifth round Manager Miller threw up the towel, his man being too badly punished to continue. Shuba showed a lot of gameness. Six hundred fans saw the battle. It was Shuba's second defeat in eight fights. Ching Fong, champion Chinese lightweight, made a hit by knocking out Louis Schmitt in the second round of their eight round bout. Fong won with a hard right swing to the jaw.

ODDS OF 2 TO 1 ON MANDOT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Ad Wolgast will not go into the fight with Joe Mandot Friday night as a Milwaukee favorite, for odds are being offered here on the southerner following the offering of 2 to 1 on Mandot in his home city, New Orleans. Wolgast has been unfortunate in his late fights here, breaking a rib or a hand every time he fought, until his habitual backers here are chary about putting their money on him, despite the fact in his workouts he is showing in championship form. He put in six hard rounds today and was on the road in the morning.

Fowler Trims Conley at Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Monk Fowler, local featherweight, gave a terrible beating to Frankie Conley of Kenosha, Wis., for eight rounds tonight. Fowler batered Conley at will all over the ring from start to finish.

AWARDS GAME TO LOUDINS.

Two protests developed as a result of Sunday's round in the Sweitzer cup contests. The board ruled the Netzel Trotters out of the cup race for their rough tactics in the game with the Loudins, forfeiting the game to the Loudins. The Topaz club protested the use of a minor league pitcher by the Kramer Colts, but the Kramers filed a counter charge that the brewers also used an ineligible man. Both sides were found guilty and the directors decided to make them play last Sunday's game over. Games next Sunday are: Loudins and Murleys, at Kedzie and Elston avenues; Roseland Eclipse and Mathiesens at Logan Square; Topaz and Kramer Colts, at Twenty-fifth street and South Park avenue; Johnsen Tigers and Ciceros, at Forty-eighth court and Twelfth street.

Umpire to Marry Rescuer.

Treasurer August Henrichs of the Amateur Managers' league will figure in the culmination of a romance begun on the ball field tomorrow, when he will be united in marriage with Miss Martha Jaaks. Henrichs met his bride several months ago, when as chief umpire of his association he was drawn into a riot on a ball field and his bride to be aided in his escape from the fans.

Feds After Pitcher Gaskill.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 14.—Gaskill, the local Western league star, has been offered a big bonus and a three years' contract to sign with the Federals. He is considering the offer.

ACCIDENT MARS FOOTBALL GAME

Lloyd of Hyde Park Fractures Collar Bone in First Practice.

OUT FOR FOUR WEEKS.

BY PREP.

Injury No. 1 was marked down upon the football calendar yesterday when Richard Lloyd suffered a fractured collar bone in the initial practice by two Hyde Park High school elevens at Jackson park. With his team on the defensive, Lloyd crashed into the interference, toppling over two opponents. As he did so a snap resounded and Lloyd dropped to the ground.

At first it was thought the injury would be serious, but later examination disclosed a complete break, and it will be necessary for Lloyd to be on the hospital squad for at least a month. He is hopeful of competing in the first league game on Oct. 17.

Fifty students have reported for practice at Jackson park, and each day the number has been increased. The team is expected to be as heavy and as fast as the one which won the championship last fall after two bitter struggles with Wendell Phillips. Coach Miller, however, will have a task on his hands replacing several stars of last season. Some of the green material looks good, but will have to undergo real development.

The opening game of the season is set for Friday afternoon with the alumni as opponents at Jackson park. The undergraduates will have some strenuous work cut out for them, as they will tackle a team composed of some of the best players that ever were graduated from Hyde Park. Included in the list are Scanlon, Hallstrom, Morrison, Harris, and Annan.

READ NEW FOOTBALL RULES.

At a meeting of the Chicago Amateur Football league in the Windsor Clifton hotel last night the new playing rules for the coming season were explained and eligibility lists given to the managers who wished to enter teams. Among the rules is one that provides that a manager before any game may have the teams weigh in man for man. To do this the two teams are lined up and the opposing men shake hands and then step onto the scales, which must be within four blocks of the grounds. The goal posts must be up and at least the side lines marked. The club will hold another meeting next Monday, when Martin Delaney will give a talk on training. Following is a list of the new clubs that entered the league: Jesters, Local A. A., Grisley Bears, Broadway A. C., Maywood A. C., and Oxford A. C.

"Big Nine" Meeting Saturday.

Managers and coaches of the Western Intercollegiate Basketball association will meet at the Auditorium hotel Saturday night to arrange plans for the coming conference season. Secretary L. J. Cooke of Minnesota has issued the call for the meeting, at which the schedule will be drafted, the changes in the rules discussed, and officials selected.

CUBS CLOSE PLAY ON HOME GROUNDS WITH 7-4 VICTORY

Vaughn's Steady Hurling, Backed by Timely Batting, Beats Pirates.

LONG HITS THE FEATURE

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Timely base hits and sturdy hurling by big Jim Vaughn gave the Cubs a victory over the Pirates yesterday in the final game of the season at the west side park. The score was 7 to 4, and the result sent O'Day's boys on the last tour of the east with the pennant bee still faintly buzzing in their ears.

George McQuillan, who set the Cubs down handsomely in a game in Pittsburgh last week, went to the mound to oppose the big Cub southpaw, but he didn't have the same brand of stuff he dealt out before, and a third round stampede that netted three runs for the west siders caused the demise of the visiting hurler. His place was taken by one of the younger set, Albert Mamaux who worked with little better results.

On the other hand, Vaughn was superb in the tight places and had only one bad inning, the second, when the enemy reaped two deserving runs. The other two came late in the game and wouldn't have occurred if Heine Zim hadn't made a bad heave to first base which gave the opening.

Farewell Game Draws 2,000.

It was the last appearance of the year for the Cubs in Chicago except for the post-season games against the White Sox or possibly the Athletics, but only a small crowd turned out, probably not more than 2,000 persons being present.

The batting of the Cubs was the best they have executed in many days and gave Manager O'Day hope of success on the tour. Nearly every guy on the team got in a good knock and four of them, Heine Zim, Vic Saier, Wilbur Good, and Jim Archer, got two apiece.

Besides all those raps, the Pirates clouted three triples during the fray, and still more excitement was furnished by two or three squabbles with the umpires. Manager Clarke of the enemy was put off the field by Umpire Byron, and Honus Wagner and one or two of the Cubs were in danger of ejection.

Pirates Waste a Triple.

The Pirates began the combat as if they would shatter the hopes and aspirations of the west siders, because the first fellow who went to bat drove one to the fence for three bases. The ginger was sort of taken out of them, however, when "Hippo" Vaughn set the next three fellows down, fanning two of them, and left the first batter dead at third.

However, the Pirates got away in front by opening the second round attack with another triple, swatted by Konetchy. Wagner followed with a Texas leaguer over second, and Koney scored while Honus scooted to second when Leach messed the ball. Sheeren died on a roller, putting Wagner on third, from where he jogged home on Coleman's scratch hit.

The Cubs got back one of those tallies in their half when Heine Zim led off with a two bagger, moved to third on Schulte's out, and tore home when Fisher died on a bounce to Koney. In the third round the west siders broke to the front to stay. Archer began the assault with a scratch single and Vaughn put him on second with a sacrifice. Leach hit safely to left and Heine beat Carey's peg to the plate. Leach then stole second and after Good had flied out, Saier clouted to the wall in right center for two bags, Leach galloping in. Heine Zim followed with a safety to left and Saier sprinted home, and the rampage ended when Schulte fanned.

Fisher Hits Three Bagger.

Young Mamaux took the slabbing job at the start of the fourth and Bobby Fisher greeted him with a drive to left center, nearly to the clubhouse, for three sacks. Sweeney's best was a pop fly, but Archer produced a single to right, sending Bob home. That one ended when Vaughn slapped into a double play.

A bad throw by Heine Zim put the Cubs in a precarious way in the seventh. With one out, Mamaux bounded an easy one to Heine, who heaved wide of first base and the runner was safe. Carey followed with a single, and, after Vaughn succeeded in fanning McAuley, he gave one to Kelly that the latter liked. At least he poled it to the corner of right field for three bags, scoring Mamaux and Carey and putting his team within one of the Cubs. Viox died on a grounder, retiring the side.

The Cubs put the game on ice in the eighth with two runs. Good singled and Saier bunted. Both were safe when the pitcher heaved late to second. Zim bunted, forcing Good at third, but Schulte singled, sending Saier home, and Zim also got in when Mamaux intercepted the peg to the plate and heaved wildly back to second. Fisher walked and he and Schulte turned a double steal, but no more runs resulted, for Sweeney popped up and Archer tapped into the pitcher's hands. Score:

NOTES OF THE CUBS.

The Cubs left last night for Brooklyn, where they open a series of three games tomorrow.

O'Day's men are five and one-half games behind the Braves, three games back of the Giants, and only a half a combat behind the Cardinals.

President Gilmore of the Federal league, accompanied by President Weeghman of the north side team, watched the game from the grandstand.

O'Day took two carloads of athletes on the trip last night and ventured the assertion that if his pitchers will stand up and if the boys will hit as they did yesterday the Cubs may surprise them all yet.

Manager Clarke was ordered off the field in the fifth. He was sitting on the bench at the time and some one there yelled something at Umpire Byron. The ump turned and ordered Clarke to the clubhouse.

BRAVES ADD TO MARGIN

Boston, Mass., Sept. 14.—By defeating Brooklyn, 4 to 3, Boston increased its lead over New York by one half a game today. Bunched hits off Pfeffer in the fifth, coupled with a pass, a sacrifice, and a sacrifice fly, gave the home team its four runs. Rudolph's support was poor, seven errors being charged against the local players.

A double and a single gave Brooklyn a run in the third and in the seventh three singles and two errors accounted for two more. Daubert was put out by Umpire Klem for protesting a called strike. Score:

PHILS DIVIDE WITH GIANTS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14.—New York broke even in a double header today, winning the first game, 3 to 2, while Philadelphia won the second, 10 to 6. In the opening game Tesreau pitched in splendid style except in the sixth inning, when he gave two passes and was hit for two singles, two runs resulting. New York got many runners on the bases, but could score only by the aid of errors. In the second contest Mathewson was driven off the slab in three innings, during which seven hits and two errors by Fletcher and one each by Mathewson and McLean piled up seven runs. New York kept after Mayer, but the home team's lead was too great to overcome. Scores:

TIGERS TROUNCE NAPS, 6-4.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 14.—Detroit bunched hits off Bishop, a recruit from the University of Kansas, and won, 6 to 4, Cobb leading with three singles and a double in four times at bat. A triple play in which Veach, Crawford, and Cobb were retired was a feature. Score:

The Break of the Game

CUBS.

TOMMY LEACH made good with a stolen base in the third inning, or the Cubs would have counted only one run in that frame instead of three. After Tommy's single had driven in a run, tying the count, he waited on first until Good flied to Carey for the second out. Then, with Saier at bat, Tommy sneaked a good lead and stole second, beating Coleman's peg. If he hadn't made good it would have been the third out. Saier followed with a double and Heine Zim a single, and three runs were home instead of one, putting the Cubs in front, where they were free to do daring things.

WHITE SOX.

St. Louis Mo., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—In the seventh round rally by the White Sox, after they had already scored two runs and needed two more to tie, Ray Demmitt made good with a long single to right center. Two were on at the time and both were sent home on the hit, tieing the score. Without that blow the game would have ended in the eight and a half innings with the Browns victors.

TINX.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Mike Prendergast pitched two innings for Chicago, and while at bat in the second he was hit on the pitching arm by one of Howard Camnitz's fast ones. Prenny tried to pitch the third session. Three hits in a row were made, one a double. He was yanked, and before McGuire could retire the side four runs had counted. Chicago had a lead of two runs up to that inning and never regained the lost ground. The accident to Prenny probably lost the game.

CUBS LAND NEW TWIRLER.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Pitcher Walter Schorr of the South Bend Southern Michigan league club today signed a contract with the Chicago Cubs for 1915. The contract was signed previous to the placing of a draft for him by the Chicago club. Schorr came here last spring from Lancaster, O., a raw, green recruit. He developed fast, however, and won twenty-four out of thirty-two games.

SECRET DRAFT TO BALK FEDS?

Lottery Already Held Is Belief; Majors Seek to Sign Recruits.

OPEN MEETING IS OFF.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—There will be no open meeting of the National Baseball commission this year to conduct the drafting of players from the minors to the major leagues. This was the announcement made by Chairman Herrmann of the commission today, and it is taken by persons well versed in baseball doings to mean that the powers of organized baseball have dealt the Federal league a hard blow.

Chairman Herrmann would not discuss the matter. Ordinarily the drafting session of the commission would have been held tomorrow in the office of Mr. Herrmann, but no meeting has been called and none will be called.

Think Draft Already Held.

It is understood that the session has already been held in secret, and those clubs which drew the players from the minors now have representatives out signing up the players, thereby balking the Federals in any attempt they may make to secure this young talent. It is understood that the contracts to be offered will stand the tests of the courts.

In former seasons a public meeting of the national commission was held each fall, at which players were drafted. The plan of the Federals this year was to wait until the drafts made by the National and American league clubs had been announced, then Federal agents were to go to the players drafted, offer them good salaries, and pay the player himself the draft price.

Names to Be Withheld.

As a result of the secret draft names of drafted players will not be announced until all have been signed for 1915, so the Federals will not be able to grab them.

DARKNESS STOPS SOX AND BROWNS

Battle Twelve Rounds to 6 to 6, When Umpire Calls Off the Struggle.

CALS' RALLY NETS FIVE.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—In a terrific and exciting combat the White Sox and Browns battled here today until darkness put an end to the tussle after twelve innings, leaving the score a tie at 6 to 6.

Until the seventh round the Sox weren't in the fight at all, while the Browns had tallied four times and seemed certain of adding further destruction to the hopes and aspirations of the Chicagoans. In that lucky seventh the Sox grew rampant and whaled the ball to all parts of Sportsman's park, coming out of the mêlée with five big counts to their credit, which put them one to the good.

In the eighth the Browns tied the battle again, and each side produced a counter in the tenth, then, with darkness settling down on the field, the two teams were able to turn out only two more innings, with no results. By that time the street lamps were beginning to blink, and Umpire Evans called the fight off until tomorrow, when it will be fought over again as part of a double header.

Weilman Driven from Slab.

Carl Weilman, the slim southpaw who has been a jinx to Callahan's men most of the season, was on the slab, opposed by Eddie Cicotte. Carl had the Chicagoans at his mercy for the first six rounds, but the seventh saw his downfall, and before he could get the side out the Sox had mutilated and mangled him into humble submission. He was replaced in the midst of the rampage by Roy Mitchell, who succeeded in stopping the stampede. In the tenth Southpaw Earl Hamilton took the mound and stayed to the finish. Cicotte stuck through the entire twelve rounds.

The Browns pushed one run over on Cicotte in the fourth, added one in the fifth and two in the sixth, and then, with the game apparently sewed up, Mr. Weilman blew. He started the seventh by issuing a pass to Fournier, and that seemed the cue for every fellow to go up and clout.

Roth Poles Third Bingle.

Bobby Roth, who already had made two blows, hit a healthy single that sent Fournier spinning to third, and Howard Baker followed with a ripping blow through Austin, sending the Frenchman home and Roth to third. Daly died on a fly ball, but a moment later Roth scooted home on a wild pitch. Cicotte then hit safely to left, and Demmitt followed with a drive to right center that sent both Baker and Cicotte home, tying the count.

Demmitt dashed to second on the peg to the plate and from there he went home when Berger poled one to right. That finished the hurling of Weilman, Mitchell being rushed to the rescue. He walked Collins, bringing up Fournier for the second time in the round, and the Frenchman ended the stampede with a ground ball.

Gus Williams got a scratch hit to start the last half of the eighth and was put on second by Leary's sacrifice, from where he scored on Lavan's single to center. That tied the count again and the battle continued without result until the tenth, when, with Hamilton on the rubber, the Sox produced another run. Berger walked, advanced on Collins' sacrifice, and came home on Fournier's single.

Browns Tie in Tenth.

That looked like the winning run until Walker came up in the last of the tenth with one out and slammed to the fence for two bases. Cicotte succeeded in fanning Williams but Leary hit safely and Walker sprinted in tying the count once more.

It was growing dark then and all Cicotte and Hamilton had to do was to shoot the ball over the plate with plenty of speed on it in the eleventh and twelfth, and the batters were unable to see it.

NOTES OF THE SOX.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—The fielding of Manda in the early innings was a feature of the game. His play on Williams' grounder in the second inning would have done credit to any veteran.

Manager Callahan was not present Sunday or today, but the Sox were ably led by Assistant Manager "Kid" Gleason.

A double header will be played tomorrow at Sportsman's park. The first contest will start at 1:30 if the predicted showers fail to arrive.

Demmitt's great running catch of Agnew's line drive to left center in the eleventh, when it was almost dark, saved the game for the Sox.

Bobby Roth covered himself with glory. The Sox recruit made two singles and a double, drew a pass, threw a player out at the plate, and saved the game.

FARRELL MAY NAME DUNN AS SUCCESSOR TO CHANCE.

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Frank Chance is prepared to stick to the Highlanders until his contract expires. He is ready to step out if the club will pay him his salary from now until the close of the season. If Frank Farrell balks at this Chance says he will live up to his contract, which still has a year to run. Farrell, however, is ready to let Chance go."

As soon as Farrell learned of Chance's move to quit the Highlanders he got busy looking for another leader. Johnny Dunn, owner of the Baltimore club of the International league, has been offered the leadership and something definite may be learned within a few days.

During the argument at the Polo grounds Saturday afternoon it developed that magnates other than Farrell have had much more to do with running the club than the public had been led to believe. That is one of the things at which Chance kicked and which led to his verbal attack on former Chief of Police "Bill" Devery.

"No ball player like that can call me a bum," said the chief today. "I am the man who pays him his salary. While I am paying out my money don't you think I have a right to have a say about the way things are being run?"

Devery's statement is regarded by sporting men as an admission that he is the principal owner of the Yankees.

PITTFEDS BUMP TINKERS, 8 TO 2

Prendergast Proves Easy for Stogies After Being Hit on Arm.

POUND M'GUIRE ALSO.

BY KEENE GARDINER.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Gameness on the part of Michael John Prendergast no doubt beat the Tinx this afternoon, 8 to 2, in the opening session of a five game series with the Pittsburgh Rebels.

Mike was hit on the flinging arm by one of Howard Camnitz's fast ones in the second inning. He told Manager Tinker his arm was not hurt and he wanted to continue, having held the Stogies runless for two stanzas. However, the wing failed to respond, and the first three men to face him slammed the ball to all corners of the lot.

Two singles and a double netted one run before Thomas McGuire was called to the rescue. No one was out, and Tinker made a bad throw of an easy grounder, filling the bags. Steve Yerkes singled, sending two more home, and a passed ball by Wilson allowed another to count after Berry had been walked purposely, filling the sacks again.

McGuire Pounded in Seventh.

McGuire got along fairly well during the next three innings, but in the seventh he was touched for six hits, and an error by Zeider added another bunch of four tallies, salting the game.

Chicago started off with a two run lead. Camnitz was wild and was hit freely, so it looked like easy picking for the Tinx. Zeider got his lame back in the way of one and was completely knocked out. He recovered and stuck to his task. Wilson advanced him a station and Dutch Zwilling drove a double to right, scoring Rollie and putting Wilson on third. Wickland came through with a long sacrifice fly to Davy Jones, whose throwing wing has long since weakened through years of hard service.

Starting the second session for Chicago, Beck singled, Farrell walked, and Prendergast then received his blow on the arm, which filled the bases. There was much joy in the Chifed camp, as plenty of runs were in sight. Flack fanned, Zeider popped to Lewis, and Wilson fouled to Lennox so quickly one hardly realized the inning was over.

Camnitz Allows Six Hits.

Camnitz settled after that session and allowed only three more hits, the sum total being six. He fanned four of Chicago's best hitters, the victims being Wilson, Zwilling, Flack, and McGuire, the latter being fooled twice.

This defeat set Chicago back practically on even terms with Indianapolis, the Hoosiers easily defeating the Brooklyn Tip Tops.

NOTES OF THE TINX.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—The Chifeds dropped back into their old rut today. Inability to hit with the bases filled and none out is becoming quite a habit.

Erwin Lange may be called upon tomorrow to try his luck again.

Eddie Lennox and Hugh Bradley limped badly, but as the Stogies are crippled they were forced to stick to their posts.

Manager Tinker was unable to do anything with Camnitz and gave way to Pinch Hitter Walsh in the eighth. Stanley played short.

McGuire had little time to warm up, but only one hit was made off him in the inning in which he relieved Prendergast. That drive sent home two runs and put the Rebels in the lead, where they remained.

MASONS WORK ON CHARITIES PLAN

WOMEN ENTERTAINED.

Barton Smith of Toledo, O., will act as chairman of the committee on charitable foundations which was appointed yesterday to report to the supreme council of the northern district of Scottish Rite Masons at its meeting, which opens today. George W. Currier of Nashua, N. H., is vice president of the committee; Frank Lodge is secretary, and Leroy A. Goddard of Chicago is treasurer.

The foundation will administer the estates of all Masons who care to leave their property in its hands. No trustee's fee is to be charged and every member of the "blue lodge" may avail himself of the service.

Committees Named.

A law committee and an administration committee were appointed to report to the general committee on charitable foundations. The chief problems now facing the council are the incorporation and management of the foundation, it is understood.

The meeting, which opens today, is the one hundred and second annual session of the thirty-third degree Masons north of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi. The supreme council is composed of forty-five "active" holders of the highest degree in the Scottish rite, but at the convention are also 600 "honorary" Masons of the same degree who are privileged to attend the sessions and initiations.

Entertain Women Guests.

The wives of 400 of the delegates accompanied their husbands to the convention and are being entertained.

The initiation of sixty new members of the thirty-third degree will be held tonight at the Oriental consistory, at 935 North Dearborn street. Today a luncheon is to be tendered the women of the convention at the South Shore Country club, whither they will go by automobile from Hotel La Salle at 10:45. In the evening there will be a theater party.

H. W. Bartol Writes from France Protesting Against Being Put in Table.

H. W. Bartol has written to THE TRIBUNE from Chateau de Ste. Helen, Nice, to protest against the listing of property owned by him in West Twentieth street in an enumeration of vice properties given out by Samuel P. Thrasher of the Committee of Fifteen on July 21. Mr. Bartol says the property is under lease for a term of twenty years and that he has been assured by his rental agents repeatedly that the clause forbidding the property from being used for illegal purposes is strictly complied with.

HARMONY MARKS PARTY MEETINGS IN COOK COUNTY

Delegates Selected for State Conventions and Moose Adopt Platform.

G. O. P. NAMES WOMEN

All political parties held county conventions yesterday in Chicago. All selected delegates to the state conventions. The Progressives adopted a platform. Harmony was the keynote in all the meetings and it was especially marked in the Democratic gathering, where in past years there has been turbulence. Wherever there were ward disputes over representation because of the delay in canvassing the primary returns, police figures were accepted or a division of delegates was made without friction.

Women voters were given conspicuous recognition in the Republican county convention, held in the Red room at the Hotel La Salle.

Twenty-one of the new voters were named as delegates to the state convention in Peoria on Friday. The platform to be adopted in the state gathering is expected to pay a further compliment to the women's forces by explicitly favoring an extension of equal suffrage to apply to all offices in the state.

The twenty-one women delegates are:

Sixth ward—Mrs. Henry R. Rathbone, Mrs. Agnes E. McCartney, Mrs. Abner Bernard, and Mrs. John W. Blacklidge.

Twenty-first ward—Mamie E. Bertrand, Julia A. Gordon, and Anastasia F. Burns.

Twenty-third ward—Louise J. Davis, Louise H. Erickson, Elizabeth Jernitz, and Mrs. Lucy Roth.

Twenty-fourth ward—Mrs. Irene Villcock, Mrs. William Egan, Mrs. Mattie Pierce, and Mrs. Katherine Seebacker.

Twenty-fifth ward—Mrs. O. F. Paisley, Mrs. William Severin, and Mrs. Mary A. Zehr.

Twenty-sixth ward—Mary B. Richter and Adelaide Whitney.

Thirtieth ward—Julia Seldon.

Police Returns Accepted.

The only business transacted by the convention was the naming of delegates to the state convention, since the county canvassing board was unable to certify the list of ward committeemen elected in Wednesday's primaries. By common consent, however, the committeemen shown to have been elected on the face of the police returns in all wards except four were accepted as the duly elected representatives of the wards.

As soon as the canvassing board completes its work the convention will be reconvened at the call of the chair, when the formal organization of the new managing committee will be taken up and disposed of.

Matchett Elected Chairman.

David F. Matchett was elected chairman of the convention and will be elected chairman of the managing committee, succeeding John F. Devine, who retires from the committee. William H. Weber of Blue Island was elected secretary and will be elected secretary of the managing committee.

Former Gov. Deneen presented Mr. Matchett's name and Roy O. West nominated Mr. Weber. Both men received the entire vote of the convention.

But one flareup disturbed the harmonious proceedings. That was precipitated by Oscar Hebel, who claims the election of committeeman from the Twenty-first ward. He was the Brundage-Snow candidate. Stephen A. Bertrand, the Deneen candidate, also claimed the election, and after some wrangling they agreed to an equal division of the state delegates from the ward, each naming ten.

Contests also developed in the First, Twentieth, and Thirty-second wards, where an equal division of the state delegates was agreed upon.

The following committee on resolutions was named to report back to the adjourned session of the county convention: Charles S. Deneen, chairman; David W. Clark, Edward J. Brundage, Victor P. Arnold, William Weber, Lewis A. Rinaker, and Walter E. Schmidt.

HARMONY REIGNS AT DEMOCRATIC MEET.

Cook county Democrats smashed a fourteen year record yesterday. They sent an uncontested delegation to the state convention. There were no door breaking preliminaries, no battalions of uniformed policemen, no squads of deputy sheriffs, and no hostilities on the surface at the county convention held at North Side Turner hall.

The Springfield convention Friday, therefore, will be minus the usual trimmings which have gone along with Democratic state conclaves, dating back to the "train robber" days.

As a symptom of what is occurring in Democratic circles it may be stated that Mayor Carter Harrison was elected a delegate yesterday from his home ward to the state convention, and for the first time in fourteen years will be in possession of an unquestioned delegate's badge.

All Disputes in Discard.

John McGillen, the Sullivan county chairman, and Congressman Sabath, the Hearst-Harrison leader, shook hands in the main aisle just before the convention opened. There was a complete working agreement whereby all disputes in a few wards were kicked into the discard.

Even County Treasurer William L. O'Connell was pushed into the spotlight and, as the recognized leader of the Dunne forces, put them all into line for the entire ticket from Roger Sullivan down.

Mr. Sullivan was not among those present. He reserves his appearance for the state convention, when he will speak.

Anton J. Cermak, who was with the H.-H. county slate and with Sullivan for senator, was made the temporary chairman of the day's proceedings. He is to serve, under a temporary truce between the two factions, until next Monday, when the duly elected ward committeemen will meet again, together with all their friends.

The convention was without spectacular incident. The delegates from all factions sat together and talked about the strength of the county ticket and how good it was that the direct primaries had resulted so happily, certainly indicating a sure victory in November.

Most of the candidates nominated on Wednesday made speeches, expressing gratitude and predicting success as long as there is harmony.

Principal Planks in Moose Platform.

THE Progressive platform adopted unanimously at the county convention yesterday came out strong for a constitutional convention, a housecleaning in Cook county, and full suffrage for women. The principal planks follow:

"We reaffirm our allegiance to the principles and pledges of the Progressive national platform of 1912.

"We commend to the voters of Cook county the Progressive party ticket chosen from top to bottom for genuine public service, representative of the people's interest and responsive to the people's will—the new type of public servant against the 'same old gang,' Republican or Democratic.

"We cite the recent primary wherein the names of nearly two thousand candidates rotated on kaleidoscopic ballots before the bewildered electorate as a final proof of the need for a short ballot.

"We pledge our best efforts in aid of a constitutional convention as the only sure and speedy means to obtain the short ballot and other necessary modern improvements in the machinery of our state government.

"Cook county needs a housecleaning. The fight against spoilsmen waged by President A. A. McCormick and other Progressive commissioners—A. M. Anderson, E. M. Board, John J. Gard, Harley Mitchell, and Avery Coonley—entitles them to the support of good citizens regardless of party. To make certain end to the factional bickerings and partisan jealousies of the last two years the complete Progressive ticket should be elected.

"We call attention to the fact that the Progressive party, the first of the great parties to proclaim full suffrage for women, is the only party in Cook county that has nominated women for public office.

"The county treasurer's office should be a place of public trust—not a private gold mine. The treasurer's compensation should be his constitutional salary—not a millionaire's income from illegal fees. The Progressive candidate has pledged himself to return all interest and fees, retaining only his lawful salary of $10,000.

"We pledge ourselves to work to establish by law the principle of non-partisanship in local elections, subject to a referendum of the people."

PROGRESSIVES FOR CITY NONPARTISANISM.

Raymond Robins and Medill McCormick adroitly stopped the Progressive party county convention yesterday from going on record as opposed to non-partisanship in local elections.

They proposed an amendment that the convention should favor "legal" nonpartisanship or a law to apply to all local elections and all parties, and that it should not become a law until approved by the voters in a referendum election.

Robert F. Kolb and William H. Malone led the fight for a straight partisanship pronouncement, but were placated when Mr. McCormick and Mr. Robins suggested that a referendum clause be attached to the plank. Mr. McCormick threatened to carry the fight to the state convention floor if the plank was stricken out.

McCormick Heads Committee.

The platform, one of the shortest on record, finally was adopted by a unanimous vote.

The committee that prepared the platform was composed of Medill McCormick, chairman; Ald. Jacob Hey, Thomas D. Knight, Charles H. Sergel, C. M. Moderwell, and Donald Richberg.

Raymond Robins was elected chairman of the convention and Ald. M. J. Dempsey secretary.

The roll call developed ward committeeship contests in the First, Fourth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Eighteenth, Twenty-ninth, Thirty-first, and Thirty-third wards. In these wards the state delegations were divided to represent both factions.

CAMPAIGN LEADERS NAMED BY SOCIALIST CONVENTION.

Joseph M. Mason Chosen Delegate to State Meeting at Brief Gathering of Party in Chicago.

The Socialist convention—a perfunctory compliance with the election laws carried out by the county committee merely to bring the party within the scope of the election machinery—was the briefest held yesterday.

At the headquarters in the Mid-City Bank building twenty-five ward committeemen met and elected a managing committee of seven and one delegate to the state convention, Joseph M. Mason. The managing committee chosen was composed of Thomas L. Slater, A. L. Liesemer, L. F. Booton, Isadore Gordon, Albert Pasecky, Charles O. Grant, and James McNulty.

The duty of this committee will be to fill vacancies on the ticket if any occur. Mr. Slater was the chairman of the convention and Mr. Grant the secretary.

WHAT SHE'LL DO WITH $150,000

Social Secretary, Maid, and Gowns, Says Policeman's Wife, Left Fortune.

HE WILL KEEP HIS JOB.

What Mrs. Dollie Christensen plans to do with $150,000 unexpectedly bequeathed her by an uncle:

Employ an eye specialist.
Hire a maid.
Employ a social secretary.
Purchase new dresses.

What her husband, Alfred C. Christensen, intends to do as a result of his wife's good fortune:

Keep his job in the police department.

Christensen, who is a clerk in Chief Gleason's office, was handed a telegram yesterday by a messenger. It read as follows:

"Col. W. F. Figg, 77 years old, of Red Oak, Ia., died today, and has left Mrs. Dollie Christensen, your wife, a fortune of $150,000. He left $100,000 more, which is to be divided among other relatives. Please take care of this at once."

Reads It Second Time.

"Boys, look here!" shouted Christensen after he had read the message a second time to make sure he had read aright. "Isn't that bully for the wife and kids?"

"What are you going to do with all that money?" he was asked.

"Do?" he replied. "Why, I'm going to stay right here on the job. I've been a policeman for ten years and the work is interesting. Besides, what more does a man want than a steady job, a wife who can cook, and two fine boys?"

What Mrs. Christensen Said.

Mrs. Christensen was even more jubilant than her husband.

"O, I knew my uncle would remember me," she said, "but I never dreamed he'd leave me so much. My, how nice it all is. Now we can have the things we've longed for. One of the first things I'll do will be to see an eye specialist. My eyes have been bothering me for several months.

"Then I'll get a maid. I love to keep house, but I need help, with the boys growing up and other things to attend to. And a social secretary. I've needed some one to look after my correspondence and I think we can afford a secretary now. And clothes. No woman could be left money without thinking of what pretty new gowns she could buy. I shall replenish my wardrobe the first thing."

GRANDMOTHER'S FUTURE--WHAT?

Son and Son-in-Law in Prison, Daughter, with Little Ones, Blind and Dependent.

HOMELESS AND HUNGRY

Woman, Evicted by Landlord, Starts in Search of Work Scrubbing and Faints in Street.

Mrs. A. C. Lafounte, who has no home, dragged herself along Erie street yesterday. Once she staggered, near collapse, but with a great effort she controlled herself, clenched her hands, and struggled half a block farther. In front of the fire station at Erie and Wells streets the last bit of her strength was gone and she sank limply to the sidewalk.

Firemen rushed to her assistance, revived her, and took her to the Chicago avenue police station as soon as she was able to be moved.

Son in Prison; Daughter Blind.

This is her story:

Lind Lafounte, her 18 year old son, is in the Pontiac reformatory. Montus Butler, her son-in-law, is in the Joliet prison, where he must remain for from one to fourteen years more. Butler's wife, who is Mrs. Lafounte's daughter, and two children are totally dependent on the older woman for support.

Why can't Mrs. Butler help? Mrs. Butler has been totally blind since her thirteenth year. She is now 21.

Mrs. Lafounte, who is just 39 years old, left home yesterday to look for a position as scrubwoman. She and the three people dependent on her had been without food for almost two days. Because she was unable to pay the rent for the mean quarters she had obtained at 49 West Erie street the landlord had evicted them before many in the city were out of their beds.

That was why Mrs. Lafounte was fighting her way along Erie street.

Take Son in Robbery.

On May 29 last the drug store owned by C. C. Wilkins, at 127 North avenue, was robbed in the early afternoon. Three men did the job. Two of them entered the store, seized $2,000 in diamonds from Wilkins and a small amount of cash from the till. They had nearly made good their escape when Wilkins picked up a loaded shotgun and brought down the youth who had been "working on the outside." It was Lafounte.

At the Alexian Brothers' hospital young Lafounte confessed his part in the holdup. Weakened by his wound and frightened by the police, he implicated his brother-in-law, Butler, and the third man, J. C. McKinney.

Sent to Reformatory.

When Judge Scully in the boys' court sentenced Lafounte he did so with "the hope that the boy would conduct himself in such a way that he can soon be released."

Butler got an indefinite sentence of from one to fourteen years.

Last night police took the grandmother, her blind daughter, and the two children, Charles, 3 years old, and Buster, just 1½, to the Home for the Friendless, at Fifty-first street and Vincennes avenue. But they cannot stay there indefinitely. What is to become of them?

SULLIVAN LEAD 30,000 BY LATEST STATE FIGURES.

Stringer's Downstate Plurality Will Be Near 20,000 at Final Count, It Is Indicated.

Lawrence B. Stringer's downstate plurality over Roger C. Sullivan will be in the vicinity of the 20,000 mark when the official returns are compiled, and Roger C. Sullivan's net plurality in the entire state will be about 30,000.

This was the latest estimate of the result of last Wednesday's Democratic senatorial primary, based upon official returns from forty-six counties, complete but unofficial figures from thirty-nine others, and no totals whatever from seventeen others.

The same set of counties, including Cook, showed that Lawrence Y. Sherman had received a downstate plurality of not less than 55,000 and that his net plurality in the state will be greater than 75,000.

Returns and Pluralities.

As far as available last night the returns from eighty-four counties, not including Cook, gave:

Stringer	65,275
Sullivan	48,583
Stringer's plurality	16,692

Including Cook county the totals for the eighty-five counties, of which forty-six were official, gave:

Sullivan	131,009
Stringer	97,854
Sullivan's plurality	33,155

HAYS VICTOR IN ARKANSAS.

Incomplete Returns Indicate That Democratic Governor Is Reelected by 30,000 Votes.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 14.—Incomplete returns from a majority of the counties in Arkansas tonight indicate that Gov. George W. Hays, Democratic candidate for reëlection, received a majority of approximately 30,000 votes over his Republican opponent, A. L. Kinney, in today's election. Other Democratic candidates for state offices were not opposed.

REPORT KIDNAPING OF GIRL.

Woman Asserts She Was Dragged Into Auto—Police Say There Is Nothing To It.

The screams of a girl aroused residents in the vicinity of South La Salle and West Sixtieth streets at noon Sunday. They saw a girl of apparently about 20 years old dressed in blue dragged into a touring car, which sped away to Fifty-ninth street and thence west to Wentworth avenue, where it disappeared. Mrs. Alice Bach of 6005 South La Salle street says she saw the girl dragged into the car.

DETECTIVES TRAP FAKE POLICEMAN; WOMEN VICTIMS

Waylay Man in House Where It Is Said He Sought Money.

MAY END MUCH COMPLAINT

Daniel Lavelle of Glen Ellyn, charged with extorting money from women while posing as a member of the morals squad was beaten into unconsciousness and arrested by detectives of the Chicago avenue station after he had been trapped in the home of Mrs. John B. Hull at 639 North Dearborn street. Detectives Patrick Murphy and Thomas Sweeney said Lavelle was taken in the act of attacking Mrs. Hull.

At the Chicago avenue station Lavelle is said to have admitted his guilt. He was booked on three charges.

See End to Complaints.

In this arrest the police see an end to a long series of complaints in the last four months from women who told of being forced to pay money to a man representing himself as a detective. Frequent complaints were made to Second Deputy M. L. C. Funkhouser.

Detectives from Chief Gleason's office sent into the district were at first inclined to believe officers of the district were exacting graft.

Took $2, It Is Said.

According to the police, Lavelle went to the Hull home three days ago, attacked Mrs. Hull, and took $2, saying he would collect this amount daily on pain of arrest. Hull and his wife pleaded respectability. Lavelle returned yesterday afternoon, according to the Hulls. Mrs. Hull, who was alone, told him her husband would be home with the money at 7 o'clock.

Hull, returning at 5 o'clock, went to the Chicago avenue police station with his story. Detectives Murphy and Sweeney concealed themselves in the house until Lavelle appeared. His arrest and punishment at their hands followed.

PERJURER SENTENCED, THEN MARRIED BY SAME JUDGE.

Eddie Wagner Pleads Guilty to Bond Graft Charges, Weds and Leaves for Prison.

Eddie Wagner, a bartender, pleaded guilty to three charges of perjury before Judge Dever yesterday and was given from one to five years in the penitentiary. In consideration of his plea three indictments charging him with "falsely impersonating another" were wiped off the books.

Wagner was the first man caught in State's Attorney Hoyne's crusade against "bond grafters." He was secretly indicted some time ago. He swore he was the owner of property at 855 Avers avenue and 911 North Winchester avenue, and was accepted as surety for Harry Cohen, William Grossman, and Arthur Levy, charged with larceny. Investigation disclosed that Charles L. Wegner, the man Wagner impersonated, was the real owner of the property pledged.

After being sentenced the prisoner requested Judge Dever to marry him to Josephine Crapewski, 21 years old. His request was granted. The prisoner embraced his wife, and promised to return and support her at the end of his term.

CHARGES BABY WAS USED AS BLACKMAIL PLOT TOOL.

Policeman Asserts Girl Who Got Infant from Hospital "Bled" Him of $600.

Early last May a young woman went to the office of Dr. Carlos Montezuma at 7 West Madison street and represented herself as the wife of Forrest L. Watson, a policeman, according to the physician. The doctor says she told him she had lost her child and wanted a baby to replace it. He says he told her to see Dr. W. F. Briney of the Anna Ross hospital at 1900 South Kedzie avenue.

Yesterday in Municipal Judge Caverly's court Dr. Montezuma pointed out Miss Gertrude Bleimes as the woman in question. Miss Bleimes had been arraigned on complaint of the policeman.

Watson asserted, in the warrant for her arrest, that she had obtained $600 from him by threats to expose him as the father of a child which she claims is her daughter.

Judge Caverly ordered the Curran investigating committee of the legislature to try to learn, if possible, whether the child was obtained in an institution, as charged, and the hearing was postponed until Sept. 24.

DISCUSS "HARMONY" PLANS FOR ILLINOIS DEMOCRATS.

Sullivan Foes Get Together in Washington and Outward Show of Friendliness Is Expected.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Gov. Dunne and Senator Lewis today discussed Democratic harmony in Illinois with Secretary Bryan and members of the congressional delegation from the state.

The most significant development towards harmony within the party, according to the governor, senator and congressmen, is the invitation extended to Henry T Rainey, representative of the Twentieth district, to preside over the state convention at Springfield on Friday. He accepted last night. Mr. Rainey is one of the bitterest anti-Sullivan men in the state.

At the conference today, the Democrats practically decided to make an outward show of harmony.

COIN SHOWERS UNDO A PRINCE

Master Emmet Rules Playmates with Reign of Nickels Until Detective Looms Up.

THEN HE'S DETHRONED.

Emmet Vail is a little prince. Any boy in Emmet's neighborhood will tell you that. He has absolutely no regard for money. Not only does he spread it around the candy and ice cream stores of the town with the reckless profusion of a painter with cheap paint, but he actually throws it away.

Emmet lives at 5931 Wentworth avenue. Almost any day or any evening you might observe crowds of youngsters waiting outside that residence for the appearance of the generous youth. They follow him wherever he goes. They do as he bids. Even the boys who are older than he, for Emmet is only 9 years old, are his vassals.

Rewards His Vassals.

And every little while, when he tires of their homage, or wishes to reward their flattery, or possibly when he thinks the psychological moment has come to demonstrate what a good fellow he is, Emmet shoots a hand into a trouser pocket, fills it with small coins, and throws them into the street. Besides amusing him the spectacle makes him happy, for he knows some one else will be glad—generally the biggest boy in the crowd.

It seems, however, that Emmet's admirers never asked him the source of his supply. They were content, like older folks, to know he had it. But Detective Sergeant Williams of the Englewood station, who had witnessed one of the money throwing exhibitions, became suspicious.

Two Cash Boxes Robbed.

He knew the cash register in the dry goods store of Fred Hauchens, 5854 Wentworth avenue, had been rifled of $70 Sunday morning and that $22 had been taken from the till in J. H. Hitchcock's drug store at 5901 Wentworth avenue.

So he asked the boy what he had done with the rest of the money. And Emmet confessed, the police say, and marched his captor to a vacant lot where he had hidden what was left of his plunder—$43.82.

The detective turned Emmet over to the Juvenile court authorities.

TRIES TO AVOID COLLISION; AUTO SKIDS; CHILDREN HURT.

Head of Family in Taxi Plunges Machine Into Window, Fragments Cutting the Riders.

A Frank Parmelee transfer baggage wagon was being driven west in Twelfth street at Michigan avenue last night. Emil Blesch of 1817 Indiana avenue, with his wife and three children, was driving a taxi south in Michigan avenue.

The Parmelee vehicle shot across Michigan avenue, almost colliding with the taxi. Blesch swerved the taxi to the west. The boulevard was slippery from rain, and the car skidded up over the sidewalk and crashed into a plate glass window on the southwest corner. The window was smashed. Flying fragments struck two of the children, 4 and 6 years old, cutting them on the head and face. They were attended by Dr. Maltman, Twelfth street and Wabash avenue.

Mrs. Esther Green of 3906 Grenshaw street and her daughter, Agnes, were severely injured when crushed against a wagon by an automobile in Dearborn near Monroe street. They were attended in the Fair's emergency hospital and taken home in an ambulance.

Thomas Bellick of 3203 South Ashland avenue, a delivery boy, collided with an automobile while riding a bicycle and suffered concussion of the brain.

From River to Jail.

Joseph Cunningham of 216 Grand avenue, Clinton, Ia., was taken to the bridewell hospital yesterday after he had been rescued from drowning in the river near Branch street.

COUNTY UNION ORGANIZED TO EYE CANDIDATES

Expected to Be L. V. L. of County Board, Sanitary District, Etc.

GEORGE T. KELLY CHIEF

The County union, organized along lines similar to the Municipal Voters' league and the Legislative Voters' league, but with particular regard to the county offices and to candidates for the sanitary district board and the judges of the Municipal court of Chicago, was launched officially yesterday.

George T. Kelly is president of the new organization and Hoyt King, who served as secretary of the Municipal Voters' league during the earlier days of that body, is vice president. Offices have been opened in the Marquette building and official investigation is now under way, through the union, of the official and other records of the candidates who have been nominated for county, sanitary district, and Municipal court offices on the various party tickets.

Statement Shows Purpose.

The following statement issued by the County union outlines the purposes of the new organization:

"The County union for the election of better local officials has been formed to aid in getting more capable men for local offices, thus establishing higher ideals of public service and securing a greater degree of efficiency.

"More than a hundred nominations were recently made at the primaries for president and members of the board of county commissioners, trustees of the sanitary district, and judges of the Municipal court.

"Confronted by the big ballot, any one seeking to vote free from party prejudice for the best man for these offices finds it almost impossible to know the qualifications of all the candidates and to vote intelligently.

"It is well recognized that the administration of public affairs in Cook county has not measured up to reputable standards of efficiency. The service which we have been getting from local officials has been seriously impaired by national and state politics.

Against Party Issues.

"There should be no Democratic, Republican, or Progressive issues in our local public affairs.

"The County union will undertake a thorough and impartial investigation of the character, record, and fitness of the nominees for the offices named and will publish the same, with such recommendations as seem to be justified. This investigation and report will be made without political bias, with the sole object of presenting the facts to the voters for their consideration.

"The officers of the County union are: George T. Kelly, president; Hoyt King, vice president; Edmund D. Hulbert, treasurer; Calvin Fentress, secretary; George E. Cole, chairman of advisory council; Allen B. Pond, chairman of executive committee; Harry A. Wheeler, chairman of finance committee.

"There are about 100 members of the advisory council of the County union, among whom are David R. Forgan, Walter L. Fisher, Edward B. Butler, Edwin F. Bayley, John B. Lord, Catherine Waugh McCulloch, Jane Addams, Prof. A. C. McLaughlin, Preston Kumler, Edwin H. Cassels, Mary Anderson, Mrs. B. L. Engelke, Raymond M. Ashcraft, Howard Elting, Richard T. Crane III., Donald R. Richberg, Frank E. Compton, Charles O. Loucks, Joseph R. W. Cooper, Mrs. H. W. Treadwell, William H. Holly, Albert L. Hopkins, and Ignatius Barnard."

Sees Welcome Ahead.

"We feel the citizens of Cook county, irrespective of party affiliations, will welcome this new organization, as they have welcomed and accepted the Legislative Voters' league and Municipal Voters' league," President George T. Kelly said last night.

"It will be our purpose to make a thorough, honest, nonpartisan and nonfactional investigation of the merits of all candidates who have offered themselves as candidates for county offices for sanitary district trustees and for Municipal court judges.

"There has been little opportunity for the rank and file of the citizenship of the county to get direct information regarding the merits or demerits of county candidates, and it is to fill this apparent necessity that the County union has been organized. The coöperation of men and women representing many varied interests has been assured by those who have agreed to join in this organization. The union is now in active operation and will present its first report preliminary to the November election."

MYSTERIOUS "BUCK LAKE" STILL AMONG THE MISSING.

More Witnesses Tell of Seeing Man Near Ballots Election Night, but Failed to Detect Any Fraud.

The mysterious and elusive "Buck Lake," charged with having "short penciled" ballots in the Thirteenth precinct of the Thirty-fourth ward at the primary election, failed to show up last night when the election commissioners resumed investigation of the charges. Commissioner Czarnecki promised to have him on hand tonight when the hearing is resumed.

Several witnesses were examined, but none could give positive testimony that ballots were changed or as to the identity of "Buck Lake." Jerome P. Zelenka, Twenty-second ward superintendent, said he saw "Buck Lake" near the table on which the ballots were lying, but denied any knowledge of his tampering with them. Zelenka said that if he had seen any one marking ballots illegally he would have been the first to report it.

CHICAGO BANKS GET CLEAN BILL

U. S. Controller Finds No Discrimination as to Collateral.

ONLY ONE IN ST. LOUIS.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Controller of the Currency John Skelton Williams today reported the result of an investigation into the charge of discrimination against certain classes of collateral by the banks of St. Louis and Chicago, similar to those relating to the New York banks which were covered in a statement he issued yesterday.

He gave the banks of the two cities a clean bill of health, showing that not the slightest foundation existed for the charge as far as the Chicago banks are concerned, and that only one St. Louis bank had eliminated any particular collateral loans. The controller said:

"The national banks of Chicago all report that they have not required the withdrawal of collateral of any class from the loans since the closing of the New York stock exchange, and that upon none of their loans are they requiring a margin of more than 25 per cent.

Have Called No Loans.

"They also report that they have called none of their loans since the stock exchange closed.

"The amount of loans called for account for correspondents was $3,600,000, of which they report that $3,500,000 was paid. Of the loans which they had placed for correspondents they report having taken over $710,000.

"New call loans made since July 31 on bonds and stocks and now outstanding amount to $2,193,000.

"New time loans made on bonds and stocks since the closing of the New York stock exchange, $1,021,000.

"Time loans on bonds and stocks renewed since Aug. 1, 1914, $5,122,000.

"All national banks of Chicago report that they have neither sold nor ordered sold any bonds or stocks held as collateral for loans because of omission of borrowers to pay for same.

Maximum Interest 7 Per Cent.

"The maximum rate of interest charged by the banks of Chicago during the month of August was reported at 7 per cent.

"Of the national banks of St. Louis only one bank reports the elimination of any particular collateral from its loans.

"They report that they are not requiring more than 25 per cent margin on any of their loans secured by stocks and bonds, and that they have called no loans for payment since the closing of the New York stock exchange.

"The amount of call loans called for account of correspondents was placed at $269,000, of which $211,000 was paid.

"Call loans placed for correspondents taken over by the St. Louis banks, $10,000.

New Call Loans, $410,000.

"New call loans made since Aug. 1 were reported as $410,000.

"New time loans on bonds and stocks collateral made since Aug. 1, $35,000.

"Time loans on bonds and stocks renewed since Aug. 1, $2,800,000.

"Only one bank in St. Louis reports selling out collateral because of omission of borrowers to pay call loans.

"The maximum rate of interest charged by the St. Louis banks in the month of August was 8 per cent, this rate having been charged by three banks. The maximum of one bank was 7 per cent, and of the remaining three national banks, 6 per cent."

RAILWAYS, EXPRESS, MARINE.

The Illinois public utilities commission came into existence on Jan. 1, 1914. The legislature had appropriated $100,000 for its use during the first year. Yesterday James E. Quinn, chairman of the commission, issued a statement summarizing the results of the first seven months. The commission is ready to turn back more than half of its appropriation to the state treasury, even after deducting $34,060, the amount paid in salaries to officers of the board.

The total receipts of the commission from fees and grain inspection were $147,528. Expenditures, including salaries, were $96,314. The report shows that 801 formal cases were placed upon the docket for hearings and 319 cases have been handled informally.

Sixty-five experts in public utilities problems are now employed regularly by the commission. It is estimated that twenty requests for information calling for expert knowledge of gas, telephone, telegraph, electricity, railway, and safety appliances are received by the commission daily.

The work of the commission includes all phases of state regulation of public service companies. During the first seven months this has included an order arranging a standard of service for electric and gas lights throughout the state, an investigation ordering equal charges to all in telephone service, an order compelling the railroads to make the same switching agreements with electric roads that they have with other steam roads, hearing of complaints from the public, and listening to appeals from the public service companies.

More than 400 telephone cases have been passed upon by the board during the last six months, eliminating discriminations among the telephone companies operating under mutual agreements.

The interstate commerce commission will open hearings in Chicago on the transcontinental rate question on Oct. 6. The hearings are being held at the petition of the western railroads and the Chicago Association of Commerce. The commission will be asked to modify its decision, given in 1911, denying special long haul rates.

The outcome of the hearings is of the greatest importance to the manufacturing, shipping, and railway interests of the middle west. According to the decision of the commission, which was upheld by the United States Supreme court, rates to the Pacific coast from points west of the Missouri river could not be lower than rates to intermediate points. Shipments from points east of the Missouri to the coast were allowed a 7 per cent reduction by the commission.

◆

Since the opening of the Panama canal the railroads have been unable to meet the freight competition offered by the steamship companies. The freight rate from San Francisco to Chicago by rail haul is 85 cents a hundred pounds. The water rate by way of the Panama canal to New York and to Chicago by rail is 51 cents. With the saving of 34 cents on each hundred pounds, it is obvious that the railways will handle little of the transcontinental business between cities of the middle west and the Pacific coast. In time the eastern manufactories will succeed to the coast business now handled by the middle west section of the country because of their nearness to the shipping markets.

In a comparison of the west bound shipments the economy of the water rates is even more pronounced. The water rate by way of New York and the Panama canal from Chicago is 32 cents; by rail across the country there is a charge of $1.10 a hundred pounds.

BUTTER AND EGGS WEAKER

Receipts Exceed Demand and Dealers Make Concessions.

POULTRY TRADE ACTIVE.

Heavy Arrivals Fail to Cause Reductions; Potatoes Firm.

Butter and egg receipts at Chicago yesterday exceeded the requirements of the trade and the market had a weak undertone, with receivers willing to make concessions in prices to effect prompt sales. The demand was purely local and of an indifferent character. Receipts were 10,587 tubs of butter and 8,015 cases of eggs.

Live hens and roosters met with a brisk demand from speculators, dressers, and shippers and sold at an advance of ½c a pound, in spite of heavy arrivals. Spring chickens were unchanged in price, but in active request. Total receipts of live poultry were 10 cars and 310 coops.

White potatoes also sold freely at firm prices, with rains in the northwest leading buyers to expect short supplies and higher prices later this week. Receipts were 80 cars, and sales of Minnesotas were made up to 82c a bushel on track.

Sweet potatoes were dull and easy, with weather conditions unfavorable and demand limited. Fruits and green vegetables showed little change.

EASTERN ROADS AGAIN TO SEEK RATE INCREASE.

Will Ask Commerce Body to Reopen Case in Which Their Demands Were Denied.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Contending that they face unprecedented conditions, aggravated by the European war, the eastern railroads have informally notified the interstate commerce commission of their intention to ask for the reopening of the advance rate case, in which a petition for a general increase of 5 per cent in freight rates was denied.

Commissioner Clark told of the informal notice that had been given by the railroads after a meeting late today with President Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Later Mr. Willard, who is chairman of the committee of eastern railroad men, declined to discuss the roads' plans. He was in conference today with a large committee of railroad executives.

The railroad executives probably will continue in conference here for several days.

REALTY MARKET SHOWS ACTIVITY

Unusual Number of Important Transactions Reported.

LOOP DEAL INTERESTS.

An unusual number of important transactions were reported yesterday in the real estate market, comprising both downtown as well as outside property.

A particularly interesting one and of a somewhat involved character comprised the exchange of the property at the northwest corner of South Water street and Fifth avenue for two outlying properties, its resale to the University of Chicago, and a subsequent ninety-nine year lease of the property. It is to be improved with a twelve story fireproof building.

The lot is 80x55 feet and is improved with a four story and basement building. The property was sold by the estate of Theron Pardee, through its trustees, Luther Pardee, Frank Pardee, and Harry T. Pardee, to Thomas J. White and C. W. White, a nominal consideration being given. The property is occupied by commission houses and various tenants and is said to have a gross annual rental, under old leases, of about $14,000. There was an incumbrance, which was paid off by the grantee.

Building in Exchange.

Mr. White conveyed in exchange to the trustees of the Pardee estate for a reported consideration of $140,000 the property at the southeast corner of North Halsted and West North avenue, lot 40x114 feet, improved with a four story and basement steel and brick building containing five stores, ten offices, and ten flats, the building having, it is said, a gross rent of about $15,000.

Mr. White also conveyed the Genoa apartment building at 4054-64 Oakenwald avenue, formerly Michigan terrace. There are three separate buildings, four stories and basement high, containing twenty-four apartments of six and seven rooms each. It occupies a lot 115x132 feet, and the sale was subject to an incumbrance of $48,000, held by the Berkshire Life Insurance company. The consideration in the present transaction is said to have been $70,000.

Mr. White then sold the fee of the property at South Water street and Fifth avenue to the University of Chicago for $150,000, but reserved the buildings thereon, which are estimated to be worth $25,000, and leased back the ground from the university for ninety-nine years at an annual rental of $8,250 for the first twenty years, $9,375 for the following thirty years, and $11,250 for the remaining forty-nine years. The average annual rental is $10,075, which capitalized on a 4 per cent basis gives a leasing value of $251,893, which is at the rate of $58.39 a square foot.

Plans Twelve Story Building.

The lessee has deposited $35,000 in securities to guarantee the erection of a building to be completed prior to 1921 and to cost not less than $100,000. It is stated to be the purpose of Mr. White to improve the lot with a ten or twelve story fireproof building, with duplex stores, plate glass, on the first two stories on the Fifth avenue and South Water street frontage, the upper floors to be occupied by offices and salesrooms.

It is interesting to note that the property was acquired by Theron Pardee in 1848 for $4,250. The present building was erected immediately after the fire of '71.

MUSHROOM DIET FATAL TO YOUTH

Third Dead of Indiana Fungi Peddled in South Chicago.

NO TRACE OF ARSENIC.

The third victim of the South Chicago mushroom poisoning case, John Zmudzinski of 8729 Houston avenue, died last night at the Lake Shore hospital.

The coroner's investigation, taken up on Sunday when Mrs. Jadwiga Zemrowski and Mrs. Mary Szozepankiewicz died after eating the poison bearing fungi, has yet to determine the precise cause of death.

No Trace of Arsenic.

It had been rumored that farmers about McCool, Ind., where the mushrooms were gathered, had sprinkled arsenic over them to punish trespassers.

William D. McNally, coroner's chemist, announced yesterday that he had been unable to find trace of arsenic in the specimens of the mushroom examined.

"The preliminary examination, showing no evidence of arsenic, virtually disposes of any theory a farmer might have sprinkled paris green on the mushrooms," Chemist McNally said. "But this variety of mushroom—the red ones—contains a large quantity of natural poison and that probably is responsible for the deaths and illnesses.

"I will not have completed my various tests for different kinds of poisons and cannot know definitely what to announce for at least ten days."

The inquest, set for the afternoon, was postponed to Sept. 29 to give more time for the chemical examination and investigation by the South Chicago police.

Tons Thrown Away.

Several tons of preserved mushrooms were thrown away by the members of the South Chicago Polish colony at night after Dr. E. T. Webster of 9139 Commercial avenue gave out a statement saying folk lore tests of the fungi by boiling white oninons or bits of silver with them were futile and worthless.

SILVER SPOON NOT A TEST.

B. C. Roloff of the United Charities writes to THE TRIBUNE to call attention to the fallacy regarding the white onion and the silver spoon as a test of mushrooms—that either will discolor when placed with boiling mushrooms if the mushrooms are poisonous.

"So far as known," says Mr. Roloff, "there is no infallible test as to the edibility of mushrooms except chemical analysis or a working knowledge of the appearance and peculiarities of the varieties.

"It is wrong to say that toadstools are poisonous and mushrooms not—that mistake is made in newspapers every spring and fall. The fact is, the words are interchangeably used by botanists. "Toadstool" is a colloquialism for "mushroom." There are poisonous and edible toadstools. There are edible and poisonous mushrooms."

YOUTH BLAMES HIMSELF FOR KILLING POLICEMAN.

Edward Wilkie Exonerates Companions Held After Autoists Attacked Park Patrolman Gohde.

Testimony of an automobile ride, the meeting of four young women, and a quarrel which resulted in the death of West Park Policeman John A. Gahde Sunday night was given at an inquest yesterday. Five young men, all under arrest, made statements to Capt. Woods.

Walter Zielinski of 5427 Milwaukee avenue and William Puls of 5427 Milwaukee avenue told of having drinks. Edward Wilkie of 5133 Gunnison avenue exonerated the other four and said he was the one who struck the policeman.

He asserted Policeman Gahde started to push the boys off the sidewalk. Whereupon Wilkie declared he struck the policeman, the latter fell and fractured his skull. Wilkie asserted the policeman was intoxicated.

BUSINESS. COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

CEREAL PRICES HAVE BIG DROP

Liquidation of Long Lines Causes Sharp Declines in Wheat and Oats.

WAR NEWS BIG FACTOR.

Stop loss selling of wheat was on an enormous scale yesterday, while the outside buying demand was conspicuous by its absence. As a result prices for wheat melted away as rapidly yesterday as they advanced during the height of the war markets a week or so ago. For several days the market has been losing ground, but yesterday the declines were the most violent of any time so far, September losing 6¾c December 7¼c, and May 8¼c.

Several big local longs, including Cutten, were credited with selling wheat through brokers, and there was considerable selling by bear leaders, who had been encouraged by the evidence of lack of support. The reported defeat of Germany, which, it was thought, would tend to shorten the war, enormous primary receipts, and an indifferent cash demand were used as influences to depress prices. Reports from Liverpool also indicated an abundance of wheat and flour supplies in the United Kingdom, and Liverpool cables were 2d lower.

Longs See Profits Disappear.

There was but little short interest in the market except short sales against cash wheat purchases. For some time past about the only selling has been against country purchases, while buying has been general. Consequently, with a change in the news favorable to the bears, there was little new buying support, while stop loss selling increased all the way down. Armour, Jackson Bros., J. Rosenbaum, McLaughlin, and commission houses generally sold wheat. Early there was buying by Chapin, Norris, and Bartlett-Frazier. Later Knight-McDougal bought and there was some buying on resting orders.

Liverpool was affected by the prospects of liberal shipments from this country and from Canada, and by the liberal supplies already in hand. World's shipments were 9,969,000 bu, mostly from this country. Last year shipments for the corresponding week were 13,328,000 bu.

Primary Receipts Enormous.

Primary receipts were 4,267,000 bu, or nearly double a year ago, when they were 2,384,000 bu. Northwest points had a big run, 2,617 cars, against 1,962 cars a year ago. Winnipeg arrivals were 2,614 cars, against 1,445 cars a year ago. Local receipts were 194 cars, and 119 cars were inspected yesterday. Clearances for the day were 1,449,000 bu wheat and flour. The visible supply increased 1,756,000 bu, compared to a gain of 1,430,000 bu a year ago. The Canadian visible increased 1,553,000 bu. The weather map showed general rains throughout the northwest, which were especially heavy in western Canada. In some sections of the northwest thrashing operations have been retarded by the general rains. Indications are for quite liberal receipts from the southwest. Cash sales here reported were 35,000 to mills and there were reports of 600,000 bu taken for export.

Corn Lines Liquidated.

Corn suffered from liquidation the same as other grains and there was conspicuous lack of demand. Weather conditions were not particularly favorable, but the general news had but little effect on prices. Final prices were 2⅝@2½c lower. Cash prices were 1@1½c lower and the demand was indifferent, sales being 105,000 bu. Offerings from the country were light and receipts were 132 cars, with 313 cars inspected yesterday.

Western receipts were 647,000 bu, compared to 1,078,000 bu a year ago. Local stocks increased 1,043,000 bu, making the total stock here 2,364,000 bu. The visible supply showed a gain of 646,000 bu, against a gain of 2,091,000 bu for the same week a year ago. Liverpool prices were 3d lower. World's shipments for the week were 3,158,999 bu.

Oats Suffer Severe Decline.

Oat prices had a vicious break in the late trade, but the tendency was downward right from the start. As in other grains, stop loss selling was on a big scale, and there was little demand from the outside. Final prices showed net declines of 3⅞@4⅜c. Barrell, Wagner, Lamson, Hulburd-Warren-Chandler, Kidston and McLaughlin, Cutten and Rankin were credited with selling out oats. Local traders were credited with buying early, but later were sellers. The cash market was heavy, closing 1@2½c lower. Shipping sales were 330,000 bu, with 50,000 bu for export. The seaboard reported a moderate inquiry. Receipts here were 203 cars, with 603 cars inspected yesterday, the big receipts having had some effect. Primary receipts were 1,683,000 bu, against 1,282,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply increased 2,810,000 bu, compared to a gain of 1,096,000 bu a year ago.

Hog Products Are Steady.

Provision prices closed steady for lard and easier for pork and ribs. Tietgens was credited with buying, and after an early break there was fair buying support, while the liquidation appeared to have run its course. Harris-Winthrop sold January lard early, and Logan-Bryan sold January ribs. Receipts here were 29,000 hogs, with 16,000 the estimate for today. Hog prices closed 10@15c lower. Receipts in the west were 62,800, compared to 66,000 a year ago. Receipts of products were small at 13 cars, and shipments were 131 cars. Liverpool prices were 6d lower on backs and 1s 6d lower for lard.

Rye Prices Cent Lower.

Rye prices declined 1c and No. 2 sold at 91@92c, while No. 3 made 88@90c. Receipts, 23 cars.

Barley was 1@2c lower, with malting 65@74c and feed, 64@66c. Receipts, 108 cars.

Timothy seed was steady at $4.75@6.00 for cash. Clover seed was slow at $15.00@18.00 for country lots.

Duluth flax closed ½@3c higher, with cash on track, $1.54; September, $1.53; October, $1.56; November, $1.56, and December, $1.59½. Receipts, 8 cars. Minneapolis was 1½@2c higher at $1.51@1.55½ for cash on track. Receipts, 31 cars. Winnipeg closed 1½@2½c higher, with October, $1.33; November, $1.35, and December, $1.38½. Receipts, 13 cars.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Rather a steadier tone was reported in the cost and freight market for Brazilian coffee here today. Considerable coffee is said to have been purchased from Brazil during the last few days, and Santos 4s were reported sold in the cost and freight market today at an advance of ¼c to 8⅛c. The local spot market showed no improvement, however, as prices have been held far above a parity with Brazil, and with buyers now holding off in the hope of a readjustment prices were more or less nominal at 6⅞c for Rio 7s and 11⅝c for Santos 4s. There are now afloat for the United States 446,000 bags of coffee against 425,000 last year, and warehouse deliveries have shown a considerable falling off during the last week. NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Grain traders appeared to take it for granted the German defeat in France would shorten the war materially, and on this theory there was free selling of wheat and other grains. Longs, who a few days ago were talking $1.50 for wheat, were the leading sellers, and the ease with which prices were forced down encouraged more short selling than has been witnessed for some time. Conservative traders were not of the opinion the war would end in a hurry, but there was enough pressure on the market to keep new buying out of the pit. Another bull help for a long time disappeared when the receipts began to increase rapidly in the northwest and continued to run heavy at winter wheat points. Primary receipts yesterday were about double those of a year ago, and Canadian farmers are marketing their wheat with a rush. This disposes for a time of the argument that farmers would hold their grain. Some of the larger cash interests have been working for a break in prices for some time, and they have been helped out by the big arrivals northwest and a less active demand for export, due to the piling up of supplies in Great Britain.

* * *

In spite of the big decline in prices for wheat, a fair amount was reported purchased to arrive from the southwest. On the other hand, farm deliveries northwest were said to be light, but liberal quantities of wheat are now in transit, and while it is expected the bad weather northwest will interfere with the thrashing operations, a continued big run is looked for during the next few weeks, both in our northwest markets and at Winnipeg. Canadian farmers have sold a lot of wheat at big prices, and this wheat will be moved to the seaboard as rapidly as possible up to the closing of navigation. Local sales were reported at about 600,000 bu, most of which was for export. The seaboard reported a little business with the continent, but advices generally indicated a moderate demand.

* * *

The slump in futures affected the sample markets for corn and oats, especially the oats. Corn was about 1c lower and oats 1@2c lower, the biggest break in futures coming after the close of the cash trade. Offerings of corn from the country were moderate, and oat sales to arrive also were light. The shipping demand for corn was only fair, with sales of 105,000 bu, and oat sales were 330,000 bu. Export houses were credited with buying oat futures early. The seaboard messages confirmed a big cash business in oats for export Saturday.

An Argentine cable said: "Weather in Argentina continues favorable. A preliminary official report places the area under wheat at 15,969,000 acres. Last year the revised official acreage amounted to 16,285,000 acres. Reports regarding the yield of wheat are very pessimistic, as much damage was done by the recent prolonged wet weather, and then again there was a scarcity of good seed, owing to the quality of the last crop."

World's shipments of wheat last week aggregated 9,969,000 bu, showing a decrease of 152,000 bu. Corn exports were 3,158,000 bu, increasing 1,551,000 bu. Detail shipments, with comparisons, follow:

Funded Debt.

At the close of the last fiscal year the funded debt of the company was $455,849,966. It has been increased during this fiscal year by $154,489,500 general and refunding mortgage bonds, issued in exchange for a like amount of Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound railway company 4 per cent bonds, and by the issue of the following bonds for the acquisition of additional lines of railway and for additions and improvements to property, $16,424,000 general and refunding mortgage bonds, $8,138,988 Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound railway company 4 per cent bonds, $1,149,200 convertible 4½ per cent gold bonds, and $5,319,000 twenty-five year 4 per cent gold bonds.

It has been decreased during this fiscal year by $154,489,500 Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railway company 4 per cent bonds, exchanged for a like amount of general and refunding mortgage bonds.

The amount of bonds at the close of the year is $486,881,154, of which $153,572,500 are in the treasury of the company and $33,308,654 are outstanding.

A more detailed statement will be given later.

Woolworth Sales Decline.

Sales of the F. W. Woolworth company are showing a considerable falling off. For the first seven months of the year, the average gain over the preceding year was $351,197. For July, the seventh month, the gain over July, 1913, was $197,232.

For the first eight months of the current calendar year the average gain per month was $317,899, but the figures for the month of August show a gain of but $80,617 over August, 1913. While the war period beginning July 31 appears to have had a material influence in accelerating the decrease, still the fall in sales has been gradual since the beginning of the year.

Sales reported for August were $5,433,861, which compares with $5,353,244, for August, 1913. For eight months of the calendar year the sales were $41,161,633, against $38,618,338 last year.

New York City Notes.

It is announced there will be a public offering in New York of the new one, two, and three year city notes which were recently purchased from the city by a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

The syndicate has called upon New York City to deliver today checks of the city upon the various depositaries for their rateable amounts in connection with the new city loan totalling $8,257,400. This payment will provide for the city's maturing obligations to Sept. 28 inclusive.

The request is made that payment be at the option of the syndicate participants, in London exchange at the rate of 490, the rate determined by the bankers as being the equivalent of the present cost of shipping gold.

Oil Share Quotations.

In the New York market quotations are reported as follows for Standard Oil subsidiaries: Standard Oil of California, 240@250; Standard Oil of New York, 170@175; Standard Oil of Indiana, 380@390; Standard Oil of New Jersey, 324@330; Vacuum Oil, 150@160; South Pennsylvania Oil, 215@225.

It develops that the talk of the American Can company profiting largely by the war was nothing more than idle gossip. The company has received no orders, has been asked to make no bids, and has made no preparation for an increase in its business.

American Locomotive.

In the annual report of the American Locomotive company submitted to the shareholders the president presents the following facts of interest:

"The total of new locomotive orders received during the entire year was $14,454,831, equivalent to only about 25 per cent of the company's capacity. At the beginning of the year there were unfilled locomotive orders on the books of $17,156,388, as compared with $4,162,856 at the close of the year. As is usual in periods of extreme depression, prices of locomotives were seriously affected. Such orders as were secured during the year were taken at a small margin of profit, in some cases at practically cost, in an effort to keep the plants running.

"During the first half of the year the plants operated at an average of about 67 per cent of their capacity. In the last six months they operated at only 29 per cent of their capacity. Early in the year the Rogers plant at Paterson, N. J., was shut down, as were also later in the year the Pittsburgh and Manchester plants. Attention is called to the strong cash position of the company. There was on June 30, 1914, $8,411,467 of cash assets, including as such bank deposits subject to check, deposits on time, and municipal securities.

Cash Resources Increased.

"The large increase in cash resources represents for the most part working capital which is ordinarily engaged in productive transactions of the business. In addition there has been released cash of about $1,250,000 from liquidation of assets of the automobile business. As it became apparent that the accumulation of cash was far in excess of the immediate needs of the business, purchase was made of municipal securities, and substantial sums were placed on time deposits, all of short term maturity.

"The company sought also to take advantage of cash on hand by redemption of $2,000,000 notes which fall due Oct. 1, 1914. It was not found possible, however, to obtain all of this issue at reasonable prices, but $742,000 was purchased. There was also purchased $584,000 notes of following issues: Series L, $169,000; series J, $194,000; series K, $221,000. There was expended for additions and betterments $597,162. There was also expended for replacements $342,109, the total amount of which has been charged to reserve for depreciation."

Pacific Gas Rates Reduced.

The California railroad commission, in the case brought against the Pacific Gas and Electric company by consumers in the San José district for a reduction in light rates, has ordered the maximum rate for lighting in the district reduced from 8 cents a kilowatt hour for the first thirty hours to 7 cents a kilowatt hour for the first twenty hours, with other rates reduced in proportion.

No changes were made by the commission in power rates, although it is intimated that it would be necessary at some future time to remove existing discriminations between classes of power service and also to remove from the small power user the excessive burden which the commission says he now is carrying. The decision also provides that the company, at its own expense, upon written demand, shall make extensions of its service wherever required within the city limits of San José, Los Gatos, and Sunnyville, but in case the company believes it will be unreasonable to make extensions to any of the unincorporated portions of the territory it may apply to the commission for relief.

Rand Gold Output.

The output of gold at the Rand mines in August totaled 711,000 fine ounces, compared with 635,000 in July and 728,000 ounces in August of last year.

The figures of the early months of the year showed a decrease in volume of output, but production is again increasing, though not up to the high figure of one year ago. Following is the output by months, in fine ounces, since 1912:

	1914.	1913.	1912.

Co-operative Securities Syndicate.

Charles H. Ravell of Chicago has prepared a synopsis for a "coöperative plan to support the market prices of American bonds and mortgages." He suggests as the active participants the National Insurance Underwriters' association, the American Bankers' association, and the investment bond houses. He thinks the direct beneficiaries would be all the life insurance companies, all the banks and investment bankers, and in general depositors, investors, policy holders, and stockholders.

As an aid to a campaign of purchasing he suggests the coöperation of news agencies.

The New York Financial Chronicle has suggested the raising of a fund of $500,000,000 by banking institutions to take over the floating offerings of securities by foreign holders. The plan has received considerable attention, but has as yet not crystallized in any concrete action.

Dividend Declared.

The Texas company declared the usual quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent, payable Sept. 30 to stock of record Sept. 24.

Money and Exchange.

Money in Chicago firm at 7 per cent on commercial paper, 7 per cent on collateral, and 7 per cent over the counter.

Clearings at Chicago, $52,027,084. New York exchange sold at 40c discount.

Financial News Notes.

The Nevada Consolidated Copper company has taken over the Slepte Valley Smelting and Mining company. The purchase is declared to have no particular significance apart from the desire of the management to eliminate all subsidiaries wherever possible in order to bring the various properties under one head.

The Augusta-Aiken Railway and Electric corporation has passed dividends on its preferred stock, which have heretofore been paid at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

The New York subtreasury lost $336,000 to the banks on Saturday, making a net loss since last Friday of $1,021,000.

It is expected that the Republic Iron and Steel company will pass the dividend on its preferred stock at the next dividend meeting of the board.

J. P. Morgan & Co. engaged $5,000,000 gold for shipment to Canada. Other shipments will be made this week, all for the purpose of meeting the maturing obligations of New York City in Europe during September.

A message from London quoted a member of the London stock exchange as predicting that the reopening of the exchange was possible within a month.

Prime, fat beeves at Chicago yesterday held on a steady basis and topped at $11.00, but general receipts of 23,000 cattle included an excessive number of low grading steers, and these cleared at a reduction of 10@15c from last week's closing prices. The trade was of good volume, with buyers furnishing a ready outlet for prime beeves and taking the less desirable grades at the concessions made. Range cattle made steady prices, while native cows and heifers sold unchanged to 10c lower. Bulls advanced 10@15c, while inferior quality caused a drop of 25c in prices of veal calves.

Hog market suffered a bad collapse, prices closing 25@30c lower than on Saturday after early sales had been made at a reduction of only 10c. Packers stayed out of the market until late in the day and filled their orders at $8.35@8.75, while shippers paid up to $9.50 for prime offerings at the outset. Receipts were 28,000 head.

Sheep and lambs sold 15@25c higher, with the bulk of fresh receipts of 21,000 head showing the big end of the gain. The supply was short of expectations and found a prompt outlet at the appreciated values, with lambs topping at $8.75 for natives and $8.70 for westerns, while sheep reached $6.15 and yearlings sold up to $6.75.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—While there was no further liquidation of the old straddle interest through the special committee in the New York cotton market today, the talk around the floor was more cheerful than for some time. This seemed the result of continued reports of a steadier spot situation in the south, and rumors that a syndicate had been formed to take over the December interest here and undertake the liquidation of the straddle interest in a block. No official statement was issued in this connection, but it was reported that local houses having open contracts in December had been approached with a proposition that this syndicate take over the contracts on the basis of 9c here and 5.25d in Liverpool. Such an operation, it was believed, would clear the way for an early resumption of business.

Chicago Cemetery Association.

T. W.—The Chicago Cemetery association has reduced its mortgage debt during this year from $25,000 to $13,000 and expects to pay at least 3 per cent dividend for 1914. Its last annual report, Feb. 1, 1914, shows $140,140 outstanding capital stock and surplus of $91,935. The report of the superintendent stated that "The number of funerals showed a good increase over the preceding year." Last year the company paid 4 per cent on its $100,000 of original stock and interest at the rate of 4 per cent a year on amounts received during the year for new stock sold. The financial statement indicates that the company is sound, but that dividends are likely to be moderate for some time.

Don't Buy in the Dark.

M. T.: The United Realization company was formed with a capital of $2,000,000 to take over the assets of embarrassed concerns and either operate or liquidate them. The company also does a note and bond brokerage business. At the office of the company no detailed financial statement was obtainable, and it was said the company had been selling no stock recently. The Consolidated Motion Picture corporation does not give information about its finances. You should have detailed information before buying the stock of any corporation.

Elevated Railway Debentures.

H. M. M., La Grange, Ill.: The Chicago Elevated Railway company debentures are an obligation of the holding company. The debentures, together with an issue of $14,000,000 notes, are secured by pledge of capital stock of the underlying railways. The debentures are a junior lien in respect to this collateral. The earnings of the company have been unsatisfactory recently, and the dividend on the preferred stock due Sept. 1 was not paid.

SUCCESS OF ALLIES' ARMS STOPS SELLING OF STOCKS

Large Orders for Sale of Listed Securities in New York Are Canceled.

New York, Sept. 14.—Inauguration of gold exports to Canada in partial payment of New York City's indebtedness to London and Paris, and withdrawal from the private market of some large orders to sell listed securities were the interesting financial developments of the day.

Five million dollars was taken for shipment to Ottawa, there to be placed to the credit of the Bank of England. As much more probably will go across the border in a few days.

Cancellation of the orders to sell stocks was associated with the latest news from abroad, which indicated a more hopeful feeling regarding the cause of the allies in the war with Germany.

It was said that a substantial part of the new German loan of $250,000,000 now in process of flotation by Berlin bankers would be subscribed for by wealthy German-Americans but a canvass of the international banking interests failed to elicit any confirmation of these rumors.

Cables and demand on London eased a fraction of a cent to the pound, and brokers in exchange reported a moderate inquiry for remittances on Paris, but bills on that center continued scarce. It was said, however, that considerable business was being done between London and Paris in American grain bills. Local brokers also sold some thirty day bills for our foodstuffs on Amsterdam.

Last week's bank statement contributed to the easier tone of the money market, some thirty day loans being made at 7 per cent on high class collateral, as against the recent average rate of 8 per cent. It was confidently predicted that as soon as the local banks recoup their reserves, thirty and sixty day loans will decline to 6 per cent.

Movements of cereals from the middle west show some increase, and tonnage over the principal lines is well up to last year's average, due chiefly to larger grain receipts from the northwest. General business in the west continued quiet, but hopeful, the banking interests of that section evincing a further disposition to build up their cash holdings in anticipation of coming demands.
